BRITISH HOUSE BACKS CABINET AND M'DONALD

Given Majority of 59 in Commons.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Great Britain's emergency national government, headed by Prime Minister MacDonald, emerged with flying colors in its first test before parliament tonight. With substantial vote it secured the confidence of the house of commons for its program of economies and new taxation to avert bankruptcy.

At the conclusion of a bitter eight hour debate Mr. MacDonald offered a motion that the house resolve itself into a committee of ways and means on Thursday for the speedy passage of economy measures designed to wipe out the budget deficit of six hundred million dollars. The prime minister insisted upon a division as a challenge to the opposition and said the resolution would be taken as a test of confidence or nonconfidence in his cabinet. The result of the voting gave the government a majority of 59, the actual figures being 309 for and 250 against the government.

Loud Uproar Lacking.

The result was greeted with great cheering from the ministerial party benches, but the usual uproar generally following an important division was lacking. Government circles consider the result satisfactory and predict that before the end of the week they will ask for urgent relief legislation which is forthcoming.

Several members of the Labor party voted with the government, including Ramsay MacDonald, Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden, Secretary for Dominions J. H. Thomas; Sir William Jowitt, the attorney general, and Malcolm MacDonald, the prime minister's son. Three Labor members abstained from voting and several others were absent.

The former members of Sir Oswald Mosley's "New party," including Sir Oswald, his wife, Lady Cynthia, "Old Bill" Ferguson, and "Young Bill" Allen, went into the opposition lobby with former Chancellor Henderson's Laborites. The Conservatives and Liberals remained solidly behind the government.

Jobless Demonstrators.

While the debate was in progress a mob of more than 3,000 unemployed, led by communist agitators, surged outside of the house of commons for four hours. The demonstrators were finally dispersed after repeated assaults by 1,000 police, mounted and on foot, wielding rubber truncheons. Seventeen ringleaders, who had gathered around a red flag in the center of the crowd, were arrested. One man was exhorted to invade the house of commons, but was speedily subdued by the perspiring police. Many were compelled to call for first aid treatments. Shouts of "Down with MacDonald!" punctuated the air as the demonstrators were pushed back by highly trained horses of the mounted police.

King George marked the opening of the parliamentary session by going through the formality of sending a message to parliament under the constitutional theory that all taxes are imposed at the king's command.

The King's Message.

The present condition of the national finances, in the opinion of his majesty's government, calls for the imposition of additional taxation and for measures effecting of economies in public expenditure," the message said. His majesty recommends the matter to the consideration of his faithful commons and trusts they will make provision accordingly."

The government, it is learned, hopes to get the taxation measures by the house in order that they may become operative Friday morning.

In great contrast to the excitement and the most poignant drama ever staged in the house of commons was the relatively and almost lackadaisical scene in the house of lords. There was a great attendance and many richly gowned peeresses sat in the gallery.

Here, too, the political forces were lined up the same as in the lower house, the Conservatives and Liberals supporting the government and only a few Labor peers sitting on the opposition side.

The debate in the house of lords was a timid affair compared to that in the commons. There were no biting sarcasms. The government's retrenchment policy was outlined by Lord Reading, the new foreign minister. When the commons the debate was largely

PAIR IDENTIFIED BY A VICTIM AS HIS ABDUCTORS

Arrests Are Made at Decatur.

Two gangsters were held in custody for Chicago police early this morning at Decatur, Ill., in connection with the kidnapings of John J. Lynch, proprietor of a bureau which supplies racing news to bookmakers, and James Hackett, Blue Island gambler. The suspects will be returned to Chicago later today. They are:

JOSEPH YATES, 28 years old, former member of the notorious Shelton gang which operated for a number of years in southern Illinois.

MONTE MOORE, ex-convict, who was released from Joliet prison on April 24 after serving ten years for robbery.

A third man is being sought. He is Frank Montgomery, known to the Decatur police as a bootlegger and gambler. Montgomery is suspected by the police of operating the hideout for the kidnaping gang in the vicinity of Decatur.

Big Sums Taken.

Lieut. William Cusack of the Chicago detective bureau, who was at Decatur with Hackett early this morning, said Hackett had identified Moore as one of the gang which had kidnaped him last May and held him prisoner until his wife had paid a ransom of $75,000. Hackett also had identified pictures of Yates as one of his kidnapers, Cusack said, but had not yet viewed the prisoner, who was captured after he had gone to bed.

The lieutenant said he believed Yates and Moore also were members of the gang which kidnaped Lynch last month and finally released him after receiving a payment reported to be $50,000. Information received by Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, indicated that the same men abducted both Lynch and Hackett.

Police on Gang's Trail.

Lieut. Cusack, accompanied by Hackett, went to Decatur yesterday. He questioned Moore, who was held in the Decatur jail with two other men, Morris Lutrell and John Esslinger. The three had been arrested on Sunday night for creating a disturbance at the cottage colony of the South Side Country club, five miles from Decatur.

The lieutenant learned that Lutrell and Esslinger could not have possibly been involved in the kidnapings, and centered his attention on Moore. After a prolonged questioning Moore gave information which put the Decatur police on the trail of Yates. The latter was arrested in a Decatur restaurant about 3 o'clock this morning and placed in jail. Both he and Moore denied knowledge of the kidnapings.

Yates, Moore, and a man by the name of William Wallace were arrested in St. Louis in July with $23,000 worth of securities stolen from the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank in their possession. Moore said Yates had given him the stolen securities and Yates said that they had been purchased in Dallas, Tex. The three were brought to Chicago and the case was later dismissed.

A Gambler Near Decatur.

Yates has been operating a gambling establishment in a roadhouse in the vicinity of Decatur, police there said. He has been looked upon by the Decatur police as a bad character, although he has never been convicted of any crime there.

The two suspects will be given a thorough examination by the police after they are returned to Chicago today in the hope that they will confess the Lynch and Hackett kidnapings and possibly name the other members of the gang which is reported to have extracted $125,000 from the Chicagoans. Lynch and three witnesses of his abductors are to be asked to view them.

Lynch was kidnaped near Lake Geneva, Wis., as he was motoring from Chicago to his home there. He was seized on Aug. 20 and released six days later near Kankakee on the reported payment by his friends and relatives of a ransom of $50,000.

Al Capone was mentioned in the case as a go-between between the friends of Lynch and the kidnapers. Roche issued an order for the arrest of Capone the night before Lynch was released, but Capone has not been taken into custody.

Hackett was kidnaped from the Navajo Fields Country club, five miles west of Blue Island, last May under mysterious circumstances, and after being held a short time was released when his wife was reported to have paid $75,000. Hackett at one time owned a gambling hall at 119th street and Vincennes road. Last March the place was bombed and a watchman was killed to death.

WILLEBRANDT WINE JUICE FIRM CALLED SUPER BOOTLEGGER

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Archibald Johnson, attorney for the California Medicinal Wine company of Los Angeles, today in Superior court classed as a law breaker Fruit Industries, Ltd. for which Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, former dry prosecutor, is chief counsel.

Defending a charge of label imitation brought against his client by Mrs. Willebrandt, Johnson said the Los Angeles firm had been in existence since long before "this super-bootlegging offspring of the government was ever conceived. The only difference between Fruit Industries and Al Capone is that they fight with government injunctions and he fights with machine guns."

Judge Louis H. Ward dismissed an injunction after hearing arguments and directed the case be tried on its merits.

MYSTERY BODY, HANDS BOUND, SEEN IN CREEK

A body floating in the south fork of the south branch of the Chicago river, at 31st street east of Ashland avenue, gave the police a mystery early this morning. The presence of the body was reported to a "cruising" squad and policemen with grappling hooks went to the scene. They said they believed the body to be that of a large man whose hands had been tied together with wire or cord. They were unable at first to reach it with their hooks and were working to draw it ashore.

Flames and an Explosion Wreck Indoor Golf Course

Fire early this morning wrecked the South Town Miniature Country club, an indoor golf course at 1338 West 63d street. An explosion, apparently caused by combustible fumes, blew out the windows of the structure which formerly was a garage, soon after fire started. The blaze was caused by crossed wires, according to Chief Howard Andrews of the 12th battalion. He estimated the damage at $5,000.

Back to the Nightshirt Her Cure for Cotton Slump

Austin, Tex., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, member of the Texas legislature, has a solution for the cotton problem. Mrs. Rountree suggested the legislature require men to return to the old cotton nightshirt and women to wear cotton petticoats not shorter than 14 inches from the ground.

Boy Hikes Home to Spoil a "Kidnaping"

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Edgar F. Hazelton Jr., aged 16, is one New Yorker who knows there is quite an extensive stretch of country west of the Hudson river. He has traveled an estimated 3,000 miles of it in the last 19 days.

He did it on a $10 bill, hitch-hiking and riding the blind when necessary to go places.

While he was touring Florida, visiting New Orleans and calling on Chicago, the boy was ignorant of the fact that his father was dealing with supposed kidnapers, seeking to pay a ransom for the son's return.

The kidnapers, it now turns out, were merely opportunists who sought to turn a few honest thousands of dollars. Knowing the boy had disappeared, they became theoretical abductors.

Father Is Wealthy.

Young Hazelton qualifies as a New Yorker even if his father's home is in North Port, Queens, Long Island. The father is wealthy and a former Queens judge.

On Aug. 20 the youth took his speed boat up the Connecticut shore. Becoming ill, he tied up the boat and returned to New York by bus.

"While waiting for a train for North Port he met a boy he knew only as 'Red,'" said Mr. Hazelton. "They went to a movie together and 'Red' told Edgar he was about to start on a hitch hiking trip to the south. Edgar's imagination was stirred, so he left with the other boy, who was about his own age.

"On the way south the boys cut lawns and did odd jobs that increased their capital. At Jacksonville, Fla., the two boys lost track of each other.

Reads of "Kidnaping."

"At Mobile, Edgar picked up a copy of a local newspaper and saw a story of how extortionists, pretending they had been responsible for his disappearance, were demanding money from me.

"He decided to return home at once, but he went to New Orleans by mistake, thinking that was the quickest way.

"There he jumped a banana train, which took him to Chicago. He had $1 left at the end of that lap. As he was walking through a railroad station he saw an extra fare New York train and rode to Pittsburgh between the baggage car and the first passenger car. At Pittsburgh he stowed away on another train that took him to Harrisburg, where he was recognized by Lieutenant of Detectives Rote and held until I arrived. He had just 35 cents left."

Mr. Hazelton said he had paid Rote a reward, but refused to reveal its size.

Soon after Edgar disappeared Mr. Hazleton offered $2,500 reward for information as to his whereabouts.

He promptly received a telephone call at his home saying that the boy was safe and well and would be returned on the delivery of $2,500 in cash to the person making the call. Mr. Hazelton was ordered to leave $1,000 in a cigar box at a street intersection.

He went to the spot and found a box with a pigeon in it. A note attached directed him to fasten two $500 bills to the bird's legs and release it. This payment was to be in evidence of good faith, and further instructions were to follow on the disposition of the balance of the posted reward. Mr. Hazleton wrote that he must first have a sample of his son's handwriting. He attached this note to the pigeon and released the bird.

Airplanes were used in tracing the pigeon to a house in Jamaica. The owner of the house said he had rented the dove cote to an unknown man, who paid $10 a month for the coop.

ALL TIME RECORD IS SET BY DEPOSITS IN U. S. POSTAL SAVINGS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Postal savings system deposits have reached an all time high record, with $408,317,703 on record as of Sept. 1, it was learned at the postoffice department today. The August reports are not complete and it is believed that the total will be increased by approximately 4 million dollars when all postal depositories report to the postoffice department.

The total deposits on record are the highest by more than 2 million dollars than ever reported before. The post-war peak was reached in March, 1919, it was said today, when the total amount grew to 176 million dollars.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced tonight that the total amount of subscriptions for the $00 million dollar September bond issue was $940,559,000.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Between 15,000 and 20,000 former employes of the Ford Motor company went back to work today. Letters were sent out last week asking them to return. Ford officials said they planned to have 50,000 men at work by the middle of September.

An increase in jobs filled, with 740 applicants being given work, during the week ended Sept. 5 was reported yesterday by John Keane, general superintendent of the Illinois free employment bureau in Chicago.

Silence Hides Ocean Flyers; in Air 40 Hrs.

BULLETIN.

Seattle, Sept. 9 (Wednesday.)—(AP)—Airport and aviation officials of Seattle and neighboring cities were on the alert early today in the hope of witnessing the finish of the first nonstop airplane flight across the Pacific ocean. Hope alone impelled the early watchers. There had been no word of the flyers, Don Moyle and Cecil A. Allen.

At 7:30 o'clock this morning [Chicago time] Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, American airmen who are flying the Pacific ocean, had been out from Samushiro beach, Japan, 40 hours of their plane's 44 hour cruising limit, en route to Seattle, Wash. No word had been received of their progress since an hour and eighteen minutes after the start, when they were swallowed up by a haze over the wide stretch of the open Pacific after they had passed over Cape Erimo on Hokkaido island.

They then had more than 4,350 miles to go over the long and desolate route, and while they are not yet overdue, their long period out of communication was the cause of much speculation in aviation circles.

Recall Turkish Flyers.

However, it was recalled that no word was received of Russell Boardman and John Polando after they left Floyd Bennett field, Brooklyn, until they landed in Istanbul, Turkey, after a flight of 4,980 miles.

Moyle and Allen are competing for a $25,000 prize offered by a Tokio newspaper for the first nonstop flight from Tokio to the United States, and they were grimly serious at the take-off. Their course lay well north from the established shipping lanes and they carry no radio, so it was not regarded as a cause for alarm that no word was received of the plane.

They were to have passed over the Aleutian islands, however, and aviation men were disappointed that no report was forthcoming from there. It was pointed out that the spotty condition of the storm areas in that section of the ocean might have driven the two flyers off their course.

Plane Failed Twice Before.

Their plane, the Clasina Madge, has twice before failed on the same flight. Since the last failure, when Thomas Ash Jr. was unable to rise with it under the tremendous fuel load, Moyle and Allen have had its aerodynamic details revamped to add both lift and speed.

Prior to the Ash failure, however, the plane got off to a good start in August, 1930, with Harold Bromley, who carried as his navigator Harold Gatty, the partner of Wiley Post on the recent record dash around the world. Bromley and Gatty got ten hours out to sea when a broken exhaust pipe forced them to turn back.

TOTAL OF LOOT OF SECURITIES TOLD BY BOARD

Believe Continental Will Not Lose.

The total defalcations of Walter E. Wolf, manager of the coupon collection department of the Continental-Illinois Bank and Trust company, amount to $3,666,929.06.

The sum of the embezzlement, down to the last 6 cents, was announced late yesterday by Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the board of directors of the bank, at a conference with newspaper men following the regular monthly meeting of the board.

On the basis of Mr. Reynolds' figures, Wolf, a department manager earning $75 a week, by systematic thefts over a period of twelve years, committed the second largest embezzlement in American banking history.

His exploits were exceeded only by those of a group of twelve men in the Union Industrial bank of Flint, Mich., who, by working in collusion, looted their bank of $3,894,268.43 for market speculations a year or so ago over a period of a few months. All twelve were sent to prison.

Charged to Special Reserve.

At their meeting prior to the press conference directors of the Continental, being advised of the sum of Wolf's defalcation and informed that the bank was protected up to $2,000,000 by an indemnity policy with Lloyd's, voted to write off the remaining shortage immediately.

This shortage, amounting to $1,666,929.06, will be charged against the bank's special reserve fund, the directors decided. The bank has resources above one billion dollars, the reserve fund alone amounting to $10,000,000.

In his statement Mr. Reynolds made it clear that the shortage did not represent the actual loss, declaring that the bank had already recovered one block of the stolen securities, expected to recover another $500,000 immediately, and was prepared to resort to lawsuits if necessary to secure restoration of the remainder, all of which is believed to be held by brokerage houses where Wolf traded.

Announcement Is Delayed.

Announcement of the size of the defalcation came an hour and a half behind schedule. Fred Wilson, publicity counsel for the bank, had informed the reporters that the board would go into session at 2 o'clock, and advised them to wait on Mr. Reynolds a little before 3:15.

Newspaper men began gathering at the bank about 1 o'clock. They had a long wait, broken about 4 o'clock when George M. Reynolds, chairman of the executive committee of the bank and brother of Arthur Reynolds, entered.

"What's this, a reception?" asked Mr. Reynolds, surveying the twelve reporters and four photographers ranged along the walnut paneled walls of the anteroom.

Official Keeps Silence.

The news men stepped up to catch a word with the executive chairman but, without pausing, he hastened on to his brother's inner office. A little later, Robert F. Carr, member of the school board and a director of the bank, stopped in the corridor for a word.

Finally around 4:35 o'clock T. E. Robinson, secretary to Arthur Reynolds, emerged from the inner office with the word that the board chairman was ready to receive the press. He requested that photographers remain outside.

The reporters were ushered into a room on the second floor at the southwest corner of the bank, a room with mellow panels of oak. The windows overlooked the Board of Trade across the street, where Wolf had poured part of the stolen millions into grain speculations.

Chairman Greets Reporters.

Mr. Reynolds had a word of greeting and a handclasp for each of the callers. He waved them to a row of antique chairs ranged before him and to the tapestried settees along the walls.

The board chairman stood up behind his broad desk, adjusted his glasses and held a typewritten sheet at arm's length before him. To one side stood James R. Leavell, president of the bank, and Abner Stilwell, one of the twenty vice presidents and the officer in charge of investigating the embezzlement.

The scene evoked memories of a schoolroom. The reporters poised their pencils, but Mr. Reynolds spared them the labor of note taking.

"Never mind the notes, boys," he said. "I've a copy of the statement for each of you."

Banker Reads Statement.

With that he began reading in a voice that reached the farthest corners of the room and was audible to the photographers beyond the closed oak door.

"Walter E. Wolf," he began, "one of the trusted employés of our bank, has embezzled securities over a long period of years and in substantial amounts. He was manager of the coupon department, which handles for collection coupons and securities due within one year."

Mr. Reynolds put especial emphasis into the second paragraph.

"Our system of audit and control," he declared, "is one of the most complete, standard and approved systems in vogue in the banking business. Necessarily every system depends for its execution upon individuals.

"A Trusted Employé."

"Wolf was one of the trusted employés of the bank and this is an instance of the breakdown of the human element in such a system.

"We are satisfied that Wolf has made a full disclosure of his transactions. He is reconciled to his fate and must pay the penalty for his acts. He is, however, rendering us full assistance. Because of the large volume of transactions in his department, running into millions of dollars over the long period of time involved, it has naturally taken some time to assemble the exact information.

"The defalcation amounts to three million six hundred and sixty-six thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine dollars and six cents," he went on.

"This figure has been determined by our auditing department and verified by certified public accountants. We are fully covered by insurance up to $2,000,000 on this loss.

"This leaves $1,666,929.06 of overage, which we have today charged out of special reserves. This amount, however, is by no means a complete loss.

Part of Securities Recovered.

"We have already recovered one block of our securities and can see definitely uncontested further realizations which will give us more than $900,000 of immediate recovery. In addition to this we believe we will have further recoveries which will cover our entire loss to the amount of our insurance.

"Since our discovery of Wolf's transactions we have had a careful examination throughout the entire bank and find that no other department or individual in the bank is concerned in any of these transactions and that none of his transactions will in any way effect the account of any customer.

"Our investigation leads us to believe that Wolf had other accomplices not in any way connected with the bank. If there are such it is our intention to prosecute them to the full extent of the law.

"In addition to this we intend and shall make every effort possible to recover by civil action from all persons who may be liable for the repayment to us of any sums taken wrongfully from the bank."

"That's all, boys. Here are the copies of the statement," Mr. Reynolds concluded. The recital of the bank's position on the second largest embezzlement in American banking had taken less than five minutes.

Questioned by Reporters.

The reporters crowded around his desk and began to ply the board chairman with questions. Mr. Stilwell stepped to his elbow.

Q.—When would the bank turn Wolf over to the state's attorney for prosecution?

MR. REYNOLDS—I don't know exactly. Within the next day or so, some day this week at any rate. It's up to the lawyers.

MR. STILWELL—We aren't making any announcement on that subject. When he is turned over the state's attorney will say so.

Q.—There's a report that Wolf placed some of the securities in his brokers' hands by shoving them right across the bank counter.

MR. STILWELL—That's a fictitious question. It was never said. It's not true.

Q.—Would the bank divulge the names of Wolf's suspected accomplices?

MR. REYNOLDS—We can't very well do that at this time. If the suspicions are established the names will come out through the authorities.

Q.—Would the bank, at this time, name all the brokerage houses through which Wolf speculated?

Mr. Reynolds said the names would be withheld for the present, at least. Mr. Stilwell announced that, in his opinion, the interrogation had gone far enough. He called Mr. Reynolds' attention to a private matter to be attended to, and both left the room.

"I want to give you all the information we have," said Mr. Reynolds before departing. "For the present, as you can see, there are certain phases which cannot be discussed. Each time we would be willing to talk the lawyers veto a discussion."

Inquiry by Board of Trade.

Directors of the Board of Trade at a meeting yesterday ordered an investigation of the trading operations of David D. Weiss, a member, who has admitted handling more than $1,000,000 in deals for Wolf. Mr. Weiss has denied having handled any grain trades for Wolf, declaring that all his trades for Wolf's account were in stocks.

James C. Murray, president of the Board of Trade, will appoint a committee to conduct the investigation, it was announced. If found guilty of violating the board's rules Mr. Weiss is liable to a fine, suspension, or expulsion from membership.

Learn of Stock Deals.

From a source outside the bank it was learned last night that approximately $410,000 of Wolf's market losses were in marginal trading on three stocks. The losses and the amount of stocks involved were tabulated as follows: Q. R. S., $150,000; Chicago corporation, $60,000, and Majestic Household, $200,000.

In addition to four brokerage houses previously discovered to have carried Wolf's accounts in his own or other names, another house was discovered last night to have had a substantial account of Wolf's on the books. The houses previously mentioned are Jackson Brothers, Boesel & Co., Stein, Alstrin & Co., Farell Brothers, and Babcock, Rushton & Co.

The latest house named is the Uhlmann Grain company. Fred Uhlmann, president of the company, could not be reached, but Richard Uhlmann, partner in the concern, admitted the account was on the books.

PRISONER STROLLS OUT TO FREEDOM, LEAVING DIME FOR TURNKEY

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Paul Lorenz, 38, of Mishawaka, Ind., was sent here from Mishawaka today to be held for a hearing on a charge of vehicle stealing.

When two Mishawaka policemen, O. J. Wright and Clem Burgh, brought Lorenz and Everett Robinson, another prisoner, to the county jail, a number of visitors were present in the turnkey's office. After the Mishawaka police had presented the necessary papers to Stanley Kolinsky, the turnkey, they left.

Lorenz mingled with the visitors and a moment later stepped up to the turnkey with an envelope on which he had written the name James Onley, saying, "This man is in here. He asked me to get him some tobacco, but I havne't time just now. Here's the money. You can get it for him later." Lorenz walked out with the visitors.

After the "visitors" had gone the turnkey found he was ten cents ahead but one prisoner short.

WAUKEGAN BANK CLOSING LAID TO CRIMINAL ACTS

Smith Accuses Officials; Hits Chicago Bankers.

State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county, addressing a group of depositors of the closed Waukegan State bank in Waukegan last night, charged that the bank failed because of criminal acts committed by its officials. He also blamed "influential Chicago bankers."

A. V. SMITH.

"The bank's closing," said Mr. Smith, "was due to criminal acts and reckless and wanton conduct on the part of officials of the Waukegan State bank.

"This failure would not have occurred if it were not for the fact that the Chicago bankers stepped in and tried to take control of the Waukegan State bank. Virtually all the securities of the bank were in the hands of Chicago bankers when the bank closed.

"They even got down to almost the last dollar, sending a messenger to Waukegan on the last day of our bank's business, and he left after 2 o'clock with $24,000 which was taken to Chicago, arriving there long after the regular banking hours. Earlier that day $43,000 had been taken to Chicago.

$35,000 on Hand at Closing.

"The deposits of the Waukegan State bank were $1,224,000 when it was closed, and all that was on hand in the bank to cover these deposits was $35,000.

"I pledge myself to use every effort to see that justice is done and the criminal law is enforced. I personally was a heavy loser in the crash of the Waukegan State bank, but I care not so much for that as I do for the poor of this city who lost their savings."

Mr. Smith praised the administration of Fred Brown Whitney, receiver for the bank. The depositors' group adopted resolutions expressing confidence in Whitney and in appreciation of the work of the state's attorney and grand jury, and began the circulation of a petition urging State Auditor Oscar Nelson to retain Receiver Whitney in that office.

Chicagoans Before Grand Jury.

Earlier in the day former officials of the National Bank of the Republic, including George Woodruff, former chairman, testified before the grand jury which is investigating the bank failure.

The Chicagoans denied the charge made by State's Attorney Smith that the Chicago bank had caused representations to be made to business interests in Waukegan that the Waukegan bank was a subsidiary of the Bank of the Republic.

During the day the grand jury returned two indictments, charging Norman O. Geyer, former president of the Waukegan bank, with receiving deposits after he knew the bank was insolvent.

Report True Bills for Others.

The grand jury also is reported to have voted true bills against John Murray Connors and Milton C. Smith, former vice presidents of the Waukegan bank, and Carl W. Stenger, former chairman of the board. The bonds in the case of Geyer were fixed at $10,000 on each of the two indictments. Geyer's attorney, former Judge Claire C. Edwards, said he would surrender his client in court this morning.

Mr. Woodruff signed an immunity waiver before appearing in the grand jury rooms for questioning. He was asked by Prosecutor Smith and the jury foreman, Frank T. Fowler, about two loans aggregating $450,000, made by the Bank of Republic to the Waukegan bank on June 4 and 5, 1931.

Mr. Smith has charged these loans were negotiated by President Geyer without the knowledge of the board of directors of the Waukegan bank.

Woodruff Tells of Illness.

According to reports of Mr. Woodruff's testimony, he said he had suffered a nervous breakdown last December, had been absent from his duties for months afterward, and had no knowledge of the loans. He is reported to have given the same answer when questioned concerning the transfer of $67,000 in cash and securities from the Waukegan bank to the Chicago bank on June 17, the date the Waukegan bank closed.

Mr. Woodruff declared the Waukegan bank was simply a correspondent of the Bank of the Republic, and not an affiliate. He was questioned as to the events which led the Chicago bank to send one of its assistant vice presidents, W. R. Schuster, to Waukegan. Schuster spent six months in Waukegan interviewing business leaders.

Calls Schuster an Observer.

Mr. Woodruff, it was reported, said that Schuster had been sent as an observer, to determine what should be done in restoring the standing of the bank. Mr. Woodruff testified, it was said, that Schuster's salary during the six months was $3,600 and that it was paid by the Chicago bank.

He denied that Schuster had recommended that Stenger, then president of the Waukegan bank, should be replaced by Geyer, or that Schuster had suggested displacing Stenger.

The testimony to the grand jury has been that State Auditor Nelson had recommended a change, and that Geyer had been suggested for the presidency by Hugo E. Otte, director of the National Bank of the Republic, and Hartley C. Laycock, vice president of that bank.

Schuster Also Before Jury.

Schuster also was a witness before the grand jury. He is reported to have denied that he had told Waukegan business men, as Prosecutor Smith has charged, that the Bank of the Republic was behind the Waukegan bank. Such an impression might have spread abroad, due to his statements to the business men, but it was not justified by what he had said, Schuster declared.

State's Attorney Smith announced he would call witnesses today who would testify that Schuster had stated plainly that the Waukegan bank was supported by the Chicago bank. Among the witnesses called are W. E. Ackerman of the American Steel and Wire company; Bert Cruse of the American Can company; Harry Jordon of the Griess-Pfleger Tanning company, and John E. Reardon, secretary of the Waukegan board of education.

Two other witnesses to be called today are Harry McCreight and A. J. Mulroney, auditors who examined the books of the Waukegan bank at the instance of the Chicago bankers.

Points to Auditors' Report.

Mr. Smith expects to show, he said, that the auditors' report showed the bank to be in poor condition, and that the Chicago stockholders of the Waukegan bank, obtaining this information, arranged to dispose of their holdings at once. At a conference in the National Bank of the Republic quarters last October the Chicago stockholders agreed to turn over their stock to be disposed of in Waukegan, the proceeds to be used in stabilizing the bank.

Mr. Woodruff, questioned on this point, was reported to have said the suggestion that the Chicago stockholders give up their stock was made by Ward Castle, a director of the National Bank of the Republic, and that he had thought the plan was satisfactory.

IT TAKES HARD WORK, BUT CHARLEY GETS HIMSELF ARRESTED

Charles Zahara, 27 years old, 4331 South Sacramento avenue, entered the garage of the Des Plaines street police station yesterday and there confronted Policeman Lawrence Manthey, a member of the patrol wagon crew.

"I want to go to jail for six months," Zahara said.

"Run along now before you do something you'll be sorry for tomorrow," Manthey told him.

"I want to go to jail," repeated Zahara. "I came to Chicago from Canton five years ago and I've been drunk ever since. I figure the only way I can get off the stuff is to be locked up away from it for six months."

"Go away with you," ordered Manthey. "You haven't done anything. I can't lock you up."

Zahara left and returned in an hour. He handed Manthey a revolver.

"Now," he said, "you can lock me up for carrying a gun. Let's go."

He was sent to the detective bureau. Today he will be given a chance to repeat his request to a judge when he appears on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

FINNISH JUDGES BRAND DRY LAW 'UTTER FAILURE'

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

HELSINGFORS, Sept. 8.—The utter failure of the Finnish prohibition law was emphasized in an address to the government by the Federation of Finnish Judges, who assert that in the performance of their duties are daily able to realize the fatal consequence of prohibition.

The computed liquor consumption has increased 50 per cent since the introduction of prohibition and over 100,000 are annually convicted for drinking offenses. The federation drawa the government's attention to the facts that prohibition is not supported by the nation and that a large part of the people openly repudiate the law thereby undermining legal order and increasing crime. Particularly said, according to the judges, is the drinking habit of the younger generation which is threatening the nation's moral and physical future.

The judges' protest may strengthen the wets' position in parliament, which is anxious to find new revenue sources to offset dwindling receipts. Prohibition is bound to come to the forefront in the impending parliamentary debates. Heretofore the drys have been publicly making a bold front asserting it is sinful to ease the economic crisis by releasing an alcohol flood over the country.

Gary Park Board Member Accused of Auto Banditry

Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Harry Burns, a member of the Gary park board, was arrested here by Porter county officers charged with auto banditry and robbery with a gun. It is also charged he claimed to be a Porter county sheriff. Burns, with Glen Murray, also under arrest, and a man named Fredericks, are alleged to have held up John McGarry, near Gary, and robbed him of an automobile "and other property." Burns was released under $4,000 bonds. Murray is still in jail.

CRIPPLE IN WHEEL CHAIR SHOOTS HIS FOE IN STREET

John Shute, 30 years old, 4637 Winthrop avenue, a Negro cripple, was wheeling himself along the sidewalk in Winthrop avenue near his home last night in his invalid's chair. Along came Joseph Cole, 39 years old, of 925 Wilson avenue, also a Negro. Shute drew a revolver and shot Cole twice in the left leg.

Policeman Elmer Rathson of the detective bureau, who was passing, arrested Shute and took Cole to the Lake View hospital. Both were taken later to the Bridewell, where the wounded man was placed in the hospital. Shute was locked up in a cell.

Shute told the police that he shot Cole because the latter had kicked him when the two were returning in an automobile from a picnic near Joliet on Labor day. Cole, the invalid said, wanted to drive but was not permitted to because he was intoxicated. In his rage, he kicked Shute, according to the latter.

HOLDUP MEN USE CHLOROFORM ON SCREAMING GIRL

Two "chloroform bandits' held up Nathan Pector of 1501 South Harding avenue, a member of the firm of D. Pector & Sons, glaziers, and his fiancée, Miss Anna May Miller of 3102 Lyndale avenue, as the couple sat in a parked automobile last night in front of the young woman's home. The robbers took a diamond ring from Miss Miller valued at $700 and a $50 ring and $25 in cash from Pector. The girl began screaming and the bandits attempted to chloroform her with a saturated cloth. Pector went to her rescue and was slugged and the two robbers drove away in his car.

REMODELING OF POLICE SYSTEM IS PREDICTED

Mayor Denies Rumors of Alcock Ouster.

Persistent rumors of impending changes in police department personnel were followed yesterday by apparently authentic reports that Mayor Cermak is considering something more than a mere shakeup of high commanding officers.

A friend of the mayor said there is in effect for substantial changes in the structure of the department, a reorganization intended to modernize the department's makeup and also to revise its methods in several important particulars.

Mayor Cermak has not returned from his Labor day fishing trip in Wisconsin, but over the long distance telephone he denied rumors that Acting Police Commissioner Alcock is to be deposed as commander of the department and is to be replaced by Morgan A. Collins, for four years chief under Mayor William E. Dever.

Phone Interview Refused.

Efforts to interview Cermak on the question of the rumored scientific remodeling of the department were unsuccessful. The mayor implied that he could see no reason for discussing subjects of that character over the telephone.

Nevertheless, it has been known for some time that Mayor Cermak is not satisfied with the way the police force is functioning. Not long ago, after making visits to several stations in the early morning hours, he suggested that captains no longer are as effective as lieutenants as station commanders.

It is implied that this was due to the fact that the captains have gone up so far as they can on the promotion ladder and therefore confine their efforts chiefly to keeping out of trouble.

Dissatisfied with the Bureau.

The mayor also has expressed a determination to revise the police methods of handling the stolen automobile division of their work and has ordered sweeping changes in those methods. He also is said to have been dissatisfied with the situation at the detective bureau and the way the bureau is organized.

It is said the mayor feels that merely a change in the heads of the department will be inadequate to meet the needs of the situation. Whether he or his advisory committee has worked out a plan to present to the city council when it reconvenes late in October has not been disclosed but the reports are that when that point is reached the aldermen will be asked to concur in a revision of the ordinance creating the department.

Mayor Denies Any Offers.

Mayor Cermak indicated indignation over the recurring reports that Acting Commissioner Alcock is to go. He said he had not offered the chief's office to former Chief Collins or any one else, and that he had not authorized any such offer.

Collins hinted that the question of his appointment had been broached to him by "a friend" who is also a friend of the mayor, and that, while at first he was loath to consider an appointment to his old place, he would do so seriously now if the offer actually were made to him.

Alcock Silent on Rumors.

Acting Commissioner Alcock declined to talk about the renewed rumors of his returning to his regular duties as deputy commissioner or retiring on the pension to which he is entitled. He did say, however, in reply to a question, that regardless of whether he is in charge of the department or not he will not attend the international meeting of chiefs of police in Paris this fall.

It was reported in the department that Chief of Detectives John A. Norton and Deputy Chief Lawrence Rafferty had cleaned out their desks and carried their private papers home. Chief Norton said that the matches mentioned in this connection merely contained some soiled linen.

SUMMER SETS BEACH RECORD IN 2 SUBURBS

Evanston and Wilmette beaches had a record attendance during the summer, it was announced last night when the figures were compiled. The beaches closed on Monday night.

In Evanston 900,000 persons went to the lake during the hot days, nearly double last year's attendance of 475,000. At the Lee street beach within the attendance was 415,000, and at the Clark street beach was second with 325,000.

For the first time in three years no drownings occurred at any of the guarded beaches, according to Captain Stidham, superintendent of beaches.

In Wilmette 150,000 used the beach during the summer. Sunday, June 21 was the record day, with an attendance of 6,200. No drownings occurred at this beach.

Ex-Kaiser's Grandson Joins Movie Actress Here

At left: Prince Louis Ferdinand of Prussia, son of the former crown prince and grandson of the former emperor of Germany, talking to Lili Damita before she boarded the Santa Fe The Chief at the Dearborn street station. Only the head of the actress appears over the shoulder of unidentified man whose back is to the camera. At right: Posed picture of Lili Damita at the station.

"Most Embarrassing"

When a news photographer took a flashlight picture the Hohenzollern, who now works in the Ford factory in Detroit, said with impatience: "You can't do this. This picture must not be used. Here, I'll take this plate. How much do you want for it?"

When the prince's offer to buy the plate was turned down, Miss Damita appeared provoked.

"If you want to use a picture of me I will pose," she said with flashing eyes, "but please do not use that one."

SEIZE 'LOVERS' LANE' BANDITS IN HIGHLAND PARK

Two of Highland Park's "lovers' lane" bandits were arrested early yesterday in Skokie boulevard, near the county line road in Highland Park while in the act of robbing a young couple in a parked automobile. The two, James De Witt, 45 years old, who operates a rabbit farm on the county line road west of Glencoe, and William Keiser, 38 years old, his employé, admitted that they had been preying upon couples in the "lovers' lane" all summer. They were booked at the Highland Park police station.

De Witt and Keiser were trapped by Policemen Dennis Driscoll and John Mizzi, who had waited for the bandits to appear.

Police Shot Down by Wife's Side.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Charles Kavanaugh, 38, chief of police of Bernardsville, N. J., paid with his life today for his determined and spectacular enforcement of the prohibition law in Somerset county. He was lured from his home by an incendiary fire across the street, and in front of his young wife and infant son was shot to death from his flower garden by a gunman who escaped a dozen police and firemen.

State police, after an investigation which, they said, convinced them the fire was set deliberately to lure the police officer from his home, declared the murder was the work of bootleggers against whom Kavanaugh had waged a war so determined that one of his most recent raids resulted in the arrest and conviction of his own brother.

Returning with Wife.

The murderer, concealed in a dahlia garden near the enclosed porch of Kavanaugh's home, fired three shots at the police chief as the latter followed his wife into their home after the fire across the street had been extinguished. Two shots went wild, the third struck the policeman as he turned toward his assailant, and although it was believed he might have seen and identified the gunman, he died a few minutes later without regaining consciousness. Mrs. Kavanaugh and the baby escaped the bullets.

While police and firemen rushed to the side of Kavanaugh, the gunman escaped from the flower garden, running to a box hedge, vaulting it and escaping through a back street. An immediate checkup among all known dealers in liquor was ordered in the hope it might furnish a clew to the killing.

Chief's Brother Jailed.

The house, set afire police said, was owned by Isadore Pastridge, alleged owner of a speakeasy, operated by Kavanaugh's brother, Frank, which the police chief raided last April. Frank Pastridge and Frank Kavanaugh were convicted and each was fined $200 and sentenced to thirty days in jail.

Chief Kavanaugh had been most industrious in raiding speakeasies and bootleg hangouts in Bernardsville and vicinity and his activities had made the sale of illicit beverages within his jurisdiction an extremely precarious business. His determined cleanups, it was said, had been prompted frequently by attempts to bribe him.

POLICE HUNT KIDNAPERS OF YOUNG WOMAN

Westchester police continued their investigation last night into the apparent kidnaping of a young woman by several armed men at the 23d street elevated station in Westchester. The woman, her clothes torn and screaming for help, ran into the station early in the morning. Two men with revolvers pursued her.

The men ordered the station attendant to "mind your own business and keep your back turned." They seized the girl and took her to one of two automobiles standing at the curb and speeded away.

OUR NOBLE DOGS INSPIRE OLSON IN RACING PLEA

Lawyer Waxes Eloquent for Thornton Track.

"The dog," said Attorney Harry Olson, former chief justice of the Municipal court, "is a noble animal. He inspires high emotions in humans who own him.

"Every boy of the Little Lord Fauntleroy type ought to have a Scotch terrier. The dog would instill a fearless, fighting spirit in the boy."

Attorney Olson was speaking in the court of Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg as the representative of the unnamed owners of the Thornton Coursing club. He was defending an order recently issued by Judge William V. Brothers, restraining the state's attorney and the sheriff from interfering with dog racing on the Thornton track. The hearing was on a motion by Assistant State's Attorney Lee La Rochelle to dissolve the injunction on the ground that pari-mutuel betting at dog tracks is illegal.

The Noblest of Animals.

"The dog is one of three animals whose emotions resemble man," said the ex-judge in his discourse defending dog racing. "The elephant, left in charge of children, is one. The monkey which guards the pennies flung to him for his master is another. The dog, man's best friend, is the third.

"No legislature in all the forty-eight states has dared to order his destruction. A dog is allowed two bites before he is accounted vicious. A man is only allowed one blow before the law steps in.

"If horses are allowed to race, then field mice or cockroaches may legally race, not to mention dogs. Besides, the dog is a far more noble animal than the horse."

Judge Feinberg caught the spirit of the address.

"But I've heard some horses referred to as dogs," he interjected.

"Well," continued Attorney Olson, "the only odium attached to dogs in this town is that they have been associated in people's minds with a certain gang chieftain now under indictment in the federal court."

Complains of Favoritism.

In closing his argument Attorney Olson declared that the act by which the state legislature legalized pari-mutuel betting in licensed horse tracks was unconstitutional. The inclusion only of horses in the act, he contended, made it class legislation.

Prosecutor LaRochelle argued that the Appellate court settled the case when it upheld a ruling of Judge Harry Fisher denying a similar petition for an injunction to protect dog tracks last year.

Both attorneys filed long briefs with Judge Feinberg who took the motion to dissolve under advisement. Judge Feinberg is to hear further arguments on Sept. 15.

The injunction originally was sought by attorneys for the dog tracks pending the decision of the state Supreme court where quo warranto proceedings testing the legality of the pari-mutuel act will be decided during the October term.

HELD ON "TAX FIXING" CHARGE.

Hutchins Appointed to Head Relief Drive Among Wealthy

Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, was appointed chairman yesterday of a committee to collect in donations from wealthy citizens for the relief of Chicago's distressed and destitute citizens next winter. He heads the division of special gifts of the joint emergency relief fund, which has set out to raise a total of $3,800,000.

The task of bringing in a large part of this has been assigned to the university president, and he promptly appointed five vice chairmen as follows:

MAX EPSTEIN, chairman of the board, General American Tank Car corporation.
D. F. KELLY, president of The Fair.
GEORGE E. SCOTT, president, American Steel Foundries.
JOHN STUART, president of the Quaker Oats company.

An Appeal to Wealthy.

In announcing his chief assistants in the work, Mr. Hutchins said:

"We are enlisting the aid of Chicago's leading business men in this great emergency. Chicago's well to do citizens must contribute a substantial share of the fund of $3,800,000, which is needed to care for the city's destitute during the coming winter.

"We expect to organize 20 teams of ten men each to handle the actual solicitation of contributions. The captains and the members of their teams will be composed of outstanding business men, many of whom are not ordinarily active in this kind of work, but who realize that the situation this year demands the attention of every one."

Will Select Workers.

Samuel Insull Jr., chairman of the general committee to raise the $3,800,000, said that it will take some time to organize the teams, but that the selecting of the workers will be started at once.

As soon as the organization is complete—which may mean two weeks—the solicitation of the large gifts will start. This will be in advnce of the drive for funds by the division of trades, industries, and professions, which is now planned to begin about the middle of October.

The joint emergency relief organization established permanent headquarters yesterday in the Otis building at 10 South La Salle street, in which it obtained four times as much space as was occupied by the temporary quarters. The space formerly was occupied by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Carries Bundle of Papers; Out Pops a Rattlesnake

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Sept. 8.—(AP)—An employé of the G. T. Fulford company received an armload of newspapers from the postoffice today, bore them toward his offices—and let them scatter over the street as a ten inch rattlesnake stuck his head from the bundle. Postal officials were unable to explain the presence of the snake.

Learn Forger's Family Is Without Food; Drop Case

Canton, Ill., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—After a Lewistown man was arrested for passing a forged check, officers learned that his wife and five children had been without food for several days prior to his act. Thereupon prosecution was dropped and provisions for caring for the family were made.

"Most Embarrassing"
When a news photographer took a flashlight picture the Hohenzollern, who now works in the Ford factory in Detroit, said with impatience: "You can't do this. This picture must not be used. Here, I'll take this plate. How much do you want for it?"
When the prince's offer to buy the plate was turned down, Miss Damita appeared provoked.
"If you want to use a picture of me I will pose," she said with flashing eyes, "but please do not use that one."
"It would be most embarrassing," added the Hohenzollern.

BRITISH CABINET OBTAINS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Wins O. K. in Parliament by 59 Votes.

between Prime Minister MacDonald and Arthur Henderson. Mr. Henderson defied his old friend and former colleague by declaring that the Labor party, of which he is now the leader, would fight the government to the last ditch.

The debate between Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Henderson was like two fencers with capped foils, each afraid that the button might fly off and that he might scratch the other man.

Mr. MacDonald opened by reciting the events which led up to the fall of the Labor government not already told. He called upon the nation to bear the burden of sacrifice equally and announced that $5,000 would be cut from his salary of $25,000 per year. He was listened to with little interruption.

Hecklers Are Waved Down.

When one or two Labor back benchers shouted rude remarks at their former leader, Mr. Henderson waved them down with an imperious hand.

Mr. Henderson followed the prime minister with an account of the same events and which differed little from MacDonald's remarks.

All he added was that on the morning before the crash of the Labor government he had agreed to economies amounting to $280,000,000 and then was told that it wasn't enough and that the leaders of the Tory and Liberal parties had said the economies must be $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 more and that "the bulk of which must come from the dole."

The only startling intervention was by Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer in the last Tory government and a member of nearly every government before that for many years, but now disowned by all parties.

Leans on Lady Astor.

He spoke from a back bench on the government side, leaning his head part of the time on the shoulder of Lady Astor, who sat in front of him. He declared that this was not a national government at all, but one of Tories with a small handful of Liberals and even fewer Laborites, adding that the government could not do much good. He demanded assurances that it would not try to bring about any change in India and that it would bring in a protective tariff. These two demands are directly contrary to the government's pledges and Churchill, knowing it, must have only spoken so to embarrass it.

Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, president of the ministerial council, said little, but pledged the wholehearted support of the Conservative party to achieve the object for which the national government was created. He pointed out that the Conservative party regarded the crisis as national and that it had postponed the consideration of the vital questions of a protective tariff.

Unusual Scene in Commons.

The day's session in the house of commons opened amid an unusual scene. There sat Mr. MacDonald, the man who had been chosen by the king to head a national government to stave off bankruptcy. At his side sat Mr. Snowden, who also answered the king's call and who also came out of the Labor party.

Next to Mr. Snowden sat J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, long a leader of the railway men, who have now repudiated him. On the other side of Mr. MacDonald was Mr. Baldwin, who had brought his Tory followers to a man into the new ranks behind Mr. MacDonald. Beside Mr. Thomas sat Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the Liberal party in the absence of David Lloyd George, whose little company is also marching under MacDonald's banner.

House Packed to Rafters.

Behind them were the benches filled with Tories, Liberals, and a remnant of the Labor party which had chosen to follow their leaders. Opposite were the ranks of Laborites.

Down in the corner where Lloyd George formerly sat on the opposition side was the "new party," Sir Oswald Mosley and company.

The house was packed to the rafters. Although 600 members were present, there are only seats for 300 on the floor, and the members crowded into the galleries, in the corridors, and clustered around the speaker's chair.

As this was a resumption of parliament and not a new session there were few formalities.

First came the resignation of the Rev. Herbert Dunnico as chairman of the ways and means committee. A Conservative was nominated as his successor and, although Labor's "nays" seemed louder than the "ayes," the speaker declared him elected.

The Labor party first challenged a division, but on a nod from Leader Henderson backed down and permitted the election to stand. It was this way all through the session. Every time it looked as if there might be some excitement or action one leader or another dampened the ardor of his followers.

Mosley Is Skeptical.

Skepticism concerning the success of the government's program was expressed by the "new party's" leader, Sir Oswald Mosley, who declared that the proposed measures were inadequate to cope with the situation and that the real crisis was not one of finance but of industry. He said that if industry were prosperous a treasury deficit would not matter a great deal.

"Unbalanced budgets are fashionable these days," he said. "All the best countries have them."

He cited America with its enormous deficits and said that France had always had them. Sir Oswald added that there was no collapse on the exchanges in those countries because their industrial positions were relatively strong and investors had confidence in their ability to recover.

In the debate, Sir Herbert Samuel, the Liberal leader, emphasized that the day's proceedings showed that both sides of the house agreed that a real crisis existed and that it was not an imaginary one.

Unions Oppose Dole Cut.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRISTOL, Sept. 8.—After hedging for hours in face of compulsion to say something about the national government's plans to reduce the dole, the abbreviated attendance at the trades union congress finally looked the demon in the eye here today and passed a resolution of condemnation. There was little enthusiasm. About all the leaders remaining in the labor movement were in London for the opening of the house of commons.

LADY ASTOR VICTOR IN WILD SCRAMBLE FOR SEAT IN COMMONS

LONDON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Lady Astor, first woman to sit in the British parliament, today was the first member of either sex to stake a claim for a seat in the special session of the house of commons.

She was among 40 eager M. P.'s who burst into the chamber when the doors opened at 3 o'clock and made a wild rush for places. She nimbly emerged from the scrimmage and reached her chosen position an easy first.

With a cry of delight she placed her white card on the seat at the end of the third row on the government side of the house, corresponding to the one she had occupied among the opposition during the session which closed in July.

ITALY PROPOSES 6 MONTHS' TRUCE IN ARMAMENTS

Wants World to Hold Up All War Expenditures.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—Belief that Italy has a concrete plan to back up the vague reference to a general six months' armament holiday made in Foreign Minister Dino Grandi's speech before the league of nations assembly this morning was expressed tonight in well informed quarters.

The Italian foreign minister, discussing the forthcoming disarmament conference, said:

"We might as well ask ourselves whether, during the period preceding the disarmament conference, something practical might not be done to bring about a truce in the armament policies of the various countries and whether we might not arrive at a general understanding to suspend the armaments proposed."

What He Has in Mind.

According to a well informed source, the Italian plan would include some of the following features:

FIRST—A naval holiday on the same terms as the one agreed upon between Italy and France last year, under which no work was started on new units.

SECOND—An agreement to hold up budgetary appropriations for armaments for 1932.

THIRD—Suspension of contracts for military and naval airplanes.

FIFTH—Suspension of work on new naval and military air bases. This is aimed at the giant chain of fortresses which France is building along its frontiers and which she hopes to have nearly completed when the disarmament conference is opened.

French Scoff at Grandi.

French circles are not inclined to take Grandi seriously. They seem to think Pierre Flandin, the French delegate to the league, could prick the Italian scheme open. My informant, however, said:

"Grandi would like nothing better than to be asked to define his ideas on an armament holiday in concrete terms. Any one foolish enough to try that on him will certainly find that he has fallen into a trap."

Outside of his feeler on arms, Grandi's speech was chiefly interesting as expressing almost line by line Washington's official viewpoint. The beard was the beard of Grandi, but the voice was the voice of Secretary of State Stimson, and with one exception—Grandi's unexpected support of the French thesis on the integrity of peace treaties—it might have been the American secretary of state speaking.

Result of Stimson Visit.

This is taken as one of the first tangible results of Mr. Stimson's visit with Premier Mussolini and seems to indicate an attempt on the part of Italy to assume moral leadership of the disarmament conference as the mouthpiece of Washington.

After paying glowing tribute to President Hoover for his moratorium on war debts, Grandi proceeded to point out that security, war debts and financial assistance to needy powers are all inextricably linked up with disarmament, although he carefully explained that the connection was only a moral one.

Security, he said, can only result from political rapprochement, complemented and preceded by a general reduction in arms. He denied the French thesis that security must precede disarmament. Customs barriers between countries, which he named as one of the chief causes of the present depression, he insisted were partly due to political insecurity resulting from the armaments race.

Grandi declared his country favored a debt revision, depending upon disarmament and the results of the moratorium.

The assembly unanimously voted this morning to send an invitation to Mexico to join the league.

Mexico Accepts Bid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 8.—Foreign Minister Estrada announced tonight that Mexico will accept an invitation received today to join the league of nations. The acceptance will be cabled to Geneva tomorrow. It is understood that the senate is in full accord with this move. The approval of the senate is necessary. It is considered here by the chamber of deputies and the senate that her position in the league will give Mexico prestige in the eyes of other Latin-American nations.

EDISON "IS SLOWLY, DEFINITELY FAILING," PHYSICIAN DECLARES

West Orange, N. J., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The condition of Thomas A. Edison, who has been suffering for the last few months from Bright's disease and a stomach disorder, took a turn for the worse today and his personal physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, admitted that his patient was seriously but not critically ill.

Charles Edison, the inventor's son, issued a statement at their Llewellyn Park home here in which he denied that his father's illness afforded cause for concern.

Dr. Howe said tonight that Mr. Edison was "slowly and definitely failing in health," but insisted that this statement did not mean that he might not recover. Chronic Bright's disease is the main cause of his present ill health, Dr. Howe said.

HOOVER, MELLON AND STIMSON AT DINNER PARLEY

Two Cabinet Men Guests at White House.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—European financial problems and the financial phases of the approaching Geneva world arms conference were discussed over the White House dinner table tonight by President Hoover and two of his cabinet members—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon. Mr. Stimson's conference with the President tonight gave the ranking cabinet member his first extended opportunity to discuss his European trip with President Hoover.

It is understood that Mr. Stimson advised the President at today's cabinet meeting that a majority of the European powers favored holding the Geneva conference on schedule time.

Washington officials declined to comment today on the suggestion of Dino Grandi, Italy's foreign minister, that an immediate truce in the building of armaments be entered into pending the outcome of the arms conference. Naval officials are opposed to such a step, however, because it would work out to the advantage of Great Britain and Japan, powers which are well up to date in naval building.

3 HIGH SCHOOL YOUTHS HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Four youths, three of them students at John Marshall High school, were booked at the Fillmore avenue police station on a charge of robbery yesterday. They will appear in Felony court today. The four, Harold Perlman, 21 years old, 3946 West 14th street; Arnold Brador, 18 years old, 632 North Homan avenue; Maurice Blumsock, 17 years old, 1315 South Kildare avenue, and Philip Gerstein, 17 years old, 1419 West 15th street, the last three high school boys, were identified by Mrs. Rose Hoffman, 1459 South Harding avenue, as the youths who robbed her in her grocery at that address on Sunday.

DOG BITES MASTER; KILLED.

A small poodle dog suddenly turned on its master, Egon Berg, 30 years old, 331 Plum street, Aurora, yesterday in Grant park and bit him severely on the hands and arms. The dog was shot and killed by Policeman John Flannigan.

AUSTRALIA BANK REFUSES MONEY TO PROVIDE JOBS

MELBOURNE, Australia, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The conference of Australian premiers apparently reached a deadlock today, pending a reply from the board of the Commonwealth bank to a request for advances on account of unemployment relief work and for help of wheat growers.

It is understood the bank is willing to provide $10,000,000 towards relief for wheat growers, but refuses to advance money for further public works to relieve unemployment.

The conference has learned that severe deficits are to be expected and the banks have already tentatively undertaken to carry a proportion of the deficit. The total government deficit—state and federal—is expected to be $100,000,000 greater than the estimated figure, for which tentative provision has been made.

Senator Neely's Son, 17, Elopes; Bride Is 16

Fairmont, W. Va., Sept. 8.—(AP)—John Camp Neely, 17, youngest son of M. M. Neely, United States senator from West Virginia, and Mary Kathryn Faust, 16, eloped to Cumberland, Md., and were married Aug. 31, it was made known tonight. The marriage was over the objection of the parents of both, due to their youth.

68 INJURED WHEN SPEEDING STREET CAR TURNS OVER

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Sixty-eight persons were injured here tonight when a street car overturned after hitting an open switch. Witnesses said there were about 100 passengers on the car which was traveling at high speed.

The passengers were riding to a public dance at Devonshire race track on the outskirts of the city.

Most of them were able to extricate themselves from the wrecked car, but police and firemen had to use chisels, sledge hammers and torches to break through and rescue some. One woman was pinned beneath the car. She could not be reached until jacks were used to lift the car.

INDIAN FINED FOR LEADING DANCING BEAR IN PARK

Steve Paris, whose 500 pound dancing bear defied all efforts of police to put it into a cell, was found guilty of violating two park ordinances yesterday by Municipal Judge Samuel H. Trude. Fined $12, Paris was saved from a trip to the bridewell when a friend, Miller Stevens of Lyons, paid the fine.

The bear had already been taken back to Paris' home in Berwyn.

UNION STATION SPEEDS WORK ON $1,000,000 PLANT

Contracts for a $1,000,000 power and heating plant for the Union Station company will be let soon, according to Joshua D'Esposito, consulting engineer for the company. The new plant will be located on the west bank of the river, midway between Taylor street and Roosevelt road. The present power plant must be removed because it is on the site of the new postoffice at Canal and Harrison streets. To clear the way for the new postoffice building the Union Station company already has begun preparatory work. The present power and heating plant will not be dismantled, however, until the new plant is in operation.

GIVES UP CHANCE AT AIR RECORD TO ASSIST HURT AIDS

Bayles Calls Off Trials After Accident.

BULLETIN.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Lowell R. Bayles, sensational speed pilot and winner of the Thompson trophy race, arrived tonight from Cleveland on his errand of mercy. The trip from Cleveland was made in 1 hour, 20 minutes.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—In an attempt to forestall the amputation of the leg of one of his mechanics, who was critically injured along with another mechanic in the collision of a motorcycle and two automobiles early this morning, Lowell R. Bayles, winner of yesterday's Thompson trophy race, this afternoon threw away the chance to break the world and American land plane speed records over an official course.

Bayles took off in his small Gee Bee monoplane, which he has flown faster than both records, at 3:46 o'clock this afternoon for Springfield, Mass., planning to return tomorrow morning in a Ford trimotor to carry the two injured mechanics back to Springfield, where they will be treated by a specialist at a Shriners' hospital there.

The two mechanics who were injured are Harry Jones and Nelson Lodgren, both working for the Granville Brothers Aircraft corporation at Springfield. They had been working day and night during the air races on the Gee Bee plane Bayles flew to victory in the Thompson trophy race yesterday and started back to Springfield last night by motorcycle.

Injured in Motorcycle Crash.

According to reports the two youths, neither of whom is more than 20 years of age, were riding their motorcycle along the highway near Ashtabula, O., early this morning when the motorcycle was caught between two automobiles.

The left legs of both were crushed, as of them suffering seven compound fractures. Their conditions were pronounced critical. Physicians at the Ashtabula hospital recommended amputation of the leg with seven compound fractures.

Bayles had completed arrangements to make four dashes over a three kilometer course this afternoon in an effort to break both the world and American speed records, and twenty officials of the National Aeronautical association were at their posts. He learned of the accident early this morning, but still hoped to make the record attempt, until he got a telegram from the Springfield specialist in time at once in order to leave there at dawn in the tri-motor.

"To hell with the record, I'm going to try to save that boy's leg," Bayles told reporters just before he took off in the little yellow and black racer that has done 286 miles an hour, and won the trophy race yesterday at an average speed of 236 miles an hour.

Will Try for Doolittle's Record.

Backers of Bayles announced tonight, however, that his attempt to shatter the speed record was only postponed and added that he also would attempt to better the transcontinental record of 11 hours 15 minutes set by Maj. James H. Doolittle last week as an adjunct to winning the Bendix trophy race.

They base their confidence in Bayles' ability to break Doolittle's record on the comparative performance of the two flyers' planes in the Thompson trophy which Bayles won. Bayles' Gee Bee racer, powered by a Wasp Jr., showed more speed than did Maj. James H. Doolittle's Laird racer, also powered by a Wasp Jr., before Doolittle was forced out of the race on the seventh lap by a blown cylinder.

Out After Several Records.

C. D. Granville, president of the Granville Brothers Aircraft corporation of Springfield, Mass., which manufactures the Gee Bee monoplane, announced the postponed attempt for a new world speed record will be run off at either Washington or New York within two weeks by Bayles, who will fly the same yellow and black low wing racer. He flew in the trophy race and previously flew faster than both records in an unofficial qualifying dash at 286 miles an hour.

Following the record speed attempt, Bayles will attempt to break Doolittle's record transcontinental time, and after that, Granville said, many other speed records will be tried for by Bayles, although which ones and when have not been decided.

Capt. Frank M. Hawks, whose coast to coast record of 12 hours 25 minutes Maj. Doolittle broke, is planning to regain the record as well.

Before trying for the coast to coast mark, the plane will be overhauled and navigating instruments installed.

Miss Maude Irving Tait, society girl of Springfield, Mass., who won the Aerol trophy race for women pilots Sunday at an average speed of 187 miles an hour, late this afternoon failed by a narrow margin to break the world speed record for land planes piloted by women set by Ruth Nichols last April 13, of 210.64 miles an hour. Miss Tait's average speed in four dashes over the three kilometer course was timed at 209.12 miles or 388.157 kilometers per hour.

Miss Tait, who has been flying for only three years and had never participated in national air races before this year, flew the Gee Bee plane she flew in the Aerol trophy race. It is powered by a Wasp motor, which has more horsepower but has considerably larger frontal area than the Wasp, Jr. motor in the Gee Bee flown by Bayles, nor is it otherwise as well stream lined.

In order to beat Miss Nichol's record Miss Tait would have to have made at least 275.61 miles an hour, or 8 kilometers faster than the existing record.

Wedell Also Fails.

James R. Wedell, who flew his Wedell-Williams red low wing racer to finish in second place in the Thompson trophy race yesterday, late this afternoon failed to break either the world or American land plane speed records in four dashes over the official three kilometer course. Wedell made an average speed of 243.29 miles an hour, more than twenty miles an hour slower than Lieut. Alford J. Williams' American land plane speed record of 266.59 miles an hour, established Nov. 4, 1923.

The world land plane speed record, at which Wedell was shooting, is 278.48 miles an hour, established by the late Adjt. Bonnet of France on Dec. 11, 1924. The world record for speed in all types was made by Squadron Leader Orlebar of Great Britain following the Schneider trophy race, on Sept. 12, 1929, in a seaplane.

THESE AIR RACERS CAME BACK WITH MORE THAN A RIDE

Cleveland, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The sport of air racing has its material return as well as its thrills. Here is how some of the leading money winners of the 1931 national air races fared in the ten day meeting:

Maj. James H. Doolittle, $10,000.
Lowell Bayles, Springfield, Mass., $9,300.
Mrs. Mae Haizlip, St. Louis, $7,750.
W. J. Wedell, Patterson, La., $5,800.
Mrs. Phoebe Omlie, Memphis, Tenn., $4,250 and an automobile worth $2,500.
John Livingston, Aurora, Ill., $6,280.
Harold S. Johnson, Chicago, $4,500.
Miss Florence Klingensmith, Minneapolis, $4,300.
Maud Irving Tait, Springfield, Mass., $4,250.
Robert Hall, Springfield, Mass., $3,150.
D. C. Warren, San Francisco; Beeler Blevins, Atlanta; Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, Cal.; Dale Jackson, St. Louis, $3,000.
Ray Moore, San Francisco, $2,750.
James Haizlip, St. Louis, $1,860.

The value of many of the trophies swells the winnings of the various pilots. Livingston carried home six trophies, while Bayles' silver and bronze Thompson trophy is valued at $10,000.

PERMITS CAPONE TO WITHDRAW DRY LAW GUILTY PLEA

Court Sets Income Tax Trial for Oct. 6.

Alphonse Capone, through his counsel, was permitted to withdraw his plea of guilty to 5,000 crimes against the prohibition laws by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday. At the same time the court set Capone's income tax evasion case for trial on Oct. 6.

AL CAPONE.
[Tribune Photo.]

Capone's plea of guilty to income tax dodging was withdrawn with the court's permission after Judge Wilkerson on July 30 informed counsel that he would not be bound by any agreement between the prosecution and the defense as to punishment.

Tells U. S. Recommendation.

A memorandum filed by the court yesterday stated:

"The commissioner of internal revenue has power with the advice and consent of the secretary of the treasury and the recommendation of the attorney general to compromise criminal liability under the internal revenue laws after suit has been commenced.

"The compromise, however, must be made in the manner prescribed by the statute.

"The recommendation to be made to the court in these cases contemplated that the sentence to be imposed in the conspiracy case, while an independent sentence in form, was really to run concurrently with the sentence in the income tax case.

Conditional Pleas Rejected.

"The court has ruled that the pleas of guilty must be unconditional, and that, in a hearing thereon, there can be no understanding which precludes the court from ascertaining the facts and entering, at the conclusion of the hearing, the judgment which is proper under the facts."

The court's memorandum was the first official disclosure that the recommendation agreed to by United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, with the consent of the attorney general, called for concurrent sentences on the two cases.

The memorandum also stated that the "exceptional character of the averments" in the conspiracy indictment would have required careful scrutiny before determining what punishment to impose. This apparently referred to the charge in the booze conspiracy indictment that Capone and the other defendants committed 5,000 offenses against the prohibition laws.

Jury to Report Tomorrow.

Judge Wilkerson remarked about the language at the time Capone was to have been sentenced, and ordered the grand jury to ascertain whether Capone and his 68 associates in an alleged $20,000,000 a year beer business could not be indicted under the Jones law, with heavier penalties than those provided under the conspiracy statute.

The grand jury is to report the results of its investigation tomorrow.

Attorney Michael Ahern, who represented Capone, moved to quash the booze conspiracy indictment and this motion was continued generally on five days' notice. No date was set for the conspiracy trial. Mr. Ahern did not move for a change of venue in the income tax case, although he had previously intimated to the court that he would.

Yesterday's action took place in Judge Wilkerson's chambers, and the government was represented by Assistant United States Attorney Dwight H. Green.

CHINESE PLEDGE TO OBEY LABOR LAW IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The Chinese chamber of commerce of Sinaloa today wired the interior department that Chinese in Sinaloa were willing to comply with the labor law and requested that in return they be given personal guarantees.

The message said they had been subjected to persecution in connection with an anti-Chinese campaign to deport them from Mexico.

The labor law requires that 80 per cent of the personnel of all business houses be Mexicans.

JUSTICE FISHER INSTRUCTS HIS FIRST GRAND JURY

Warns Against Damaging "Innocent Citizen."

With the admonition that publicity involving the name of a citizen in a grand jury investigation is "often an inexcusable and irreparable hurt to his reputation and character," Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher of the Criminal court yesterday warned the September grand jury to guard against sporadic and general investigations. It was his first formal charge to a grand jury. Judge Fisher was inducted into the office of chief justice on Monday.

JUSTICE FISHER.

Before giving his instructions to the jury, the new chief justice examined each of the twenty-three jurors as to any possible connection he might have with concerns doing work for the city, an unprecedented procedure.

May Give New Charge.

This, Judge Fisher explained, was done to determine whether any of the members had "axes to grind." "We want men of independent thought who can serve in any matter," the chief justice said.

After he had completed his charge, Judge Fisher said that it might be necessary to call the jurors before him again to give them further instructions. He pointed out that since he had just returned from a trip to Europe, some situation about which he had not been informed might warrant another charge.

Name Acting Chief Justice.

At a meeting of the judges it was decided that Judge John Prystalski would preside as acting chief justice. Judge Fisher announced that two of the seven judges would hear nonjury cases.

Germans Protest Proposed Visit by French Premier

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A protest against the projected visit to Berlin of Premier Laval and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France was filed with Chancellor Bruening today by the National Union of the Fatherland Societies of Germany, whose spokesman said the German people could not understand the purpose of such a visit "in view of recent French activities."

PROPERTY OF EICHER WIDOW WILL BE SOLD AT AUCTION FRIDAY

All of the property of Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher, Park Ridge widow who was murdered with her three children, will be sold Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her Park Ridge home, it was announced yesterday by Halbert O. Crews, public administrator.

The Eicher home, a two story frame house, will be sold along with the widow's household and personal effects. The property is mortgaged to the extent of $7,000, and it is not expected that a bid of more than $11,000 will be received.

A small amount of clothing and some silverware which was left behind by Harry F. Powers, murderer of the Eicher family, when he looted the home will be offered to the highest bidder.

TIPSY MOTORIST IS FINED $225 BY EVANSTON JUDGE

Justice of the Peace Max Borchardt of Evanston last night imposed fines totaling $225 on Howard C. Wolcott, 36 years old, a landscape gardener of 2041 Hawthorne lane, Evanston, who stood off police twice when they tried to arrest him earlier in the day, but was finally put in a cell. Justice Borchardt found Wolcott guilty of reckless driving, driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest, and recommended to the secretary of state that his automobile license be revoked for a year.

Wallace A. Reid, 833 Sheridan road, Evanston, a companion of Wolcott, was fined $125 on charges of resisting arrest and assault and battery. Special Policeman James Strom charged that Reid slugged him with an automobile crank after he stopped the automobile in which the two men were riding with Mrs. Wolcott and another woman. Wolcott, who admitted at his hearing that he had been drinking, narrowly missing striking several other automobiles and a group of pedestrians, the policeman charged.

Strom succeeded in arresting Reid, but Wolcott drove away. When Strom got reinforcements and went to his home, Wolcott drove the policemen away with a revolver, asserting they couldn't take him without a warrant. Justice Borchardt was aroused from bed to issue the warrant, which was then served on Wolcott.

RUSSIA DECREES BIG SHAKEUP IN STEEL INDUSTRY

MOSCOW, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Drawing a bleak picture of certain sections of the steel and iron industry, the presidium of the supreme economic council moved today to reorganize administration, transportation and labor conditions in factories, as remedies.

Immediate reorganization of factory administration to a single control and budget basis and institution of the piece work wage system were among provisions of a decree issued by the presidium.

Improvement of workers' living conditions and transfer of technicians and skilled workers from administrative positions to actual production work were other provisions.

ASKS HOOVER TO PROBE POWERS CASE 3D DEGREE

Bluebeard's Deposit Box Found Emptied.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Asking President Hoover to launch an investigation into methods used in obtaining a confession from Harry F. Powers, mail order Romeo, J. Ed Law, the slayer's attorney, today declared: "The case furnishes the most horrid example of third degree tactics that has ever come to my notice."

Law's appeal was made in a letter sent to Lawrence Richey, secretary to the President. The letter, which was sent on Sept. 4, was not made public until today.

Charges Powers Was Beaten.

"Within the walls of the county jail on last Friday night, Aug. 28, the prisoner was beaten with rubber hose, chairs, hammers and knocked and beaten with the fists and tortured from about 8:30 o'clock in the evening until about 4:30 o'clock in the morning in order to obtain a confession from him, and while he was in the care, custody and protection of the sheriff and jailer of Harrison county," the letter said in part.

"There ought to be a governmental investigation of this case and I will render any assistance in my power. I have in my possession photographs of five different exposures of the prisoner showing such beatings and tortures. The matter is now fresh and it would be an excellent time to make an investigation."

Powers' safety deposit box in the Empire National bank was emptied by Law on Friday, Aug. 28, the same day the bodies of Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher and her three children of Park Ridge, Ill., were uncovered at the murder farm. This was revealed today when bank officials were served with a writ of attachment. Bank officials produced a blanket receipt showing that Law had withdrawn the contents of the box, after he had been given power of attorney. Both Powers and his wife had keys to the box.

Seek to Regain Valuables.

Frank Powell, attorney for the estate of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke of Boston, Mass., another victim, said probably the next step would be to appear in Circuit court and ask for an order directing Law to turn over the papers found in the safety deposit box to th eadministrator of Mrs. Lemke's estate, Sheriff W. H. Grimm. The sheriff qualified as administrator of the estate Saturday.

C. A. Duckworth, police chief, conferred with Will E. Morris, prosecuting attorney, today at police headquarters following the conference. Chief Duckworth said it had again been decided not to arrest Mrs. Powers or her sister, Eva Belle Strother.

Mrs. Powers today accompanied Chief Duckworth to the Empire National bank where an investigation was made of her bank account. Records showed that Aug. 27, she deposited $3,657.63 to her account. She admitted her husband gave her a check for that sum on Aug. 27, the day he was taken into custody.

Blamed for Morris Slaying.

Morris, Ill., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The picture of Harry Powers, West Virginia Bluebeard murderer, has positively been identified as that of a man who visited the store of F. F. Weber in Yorkville on or about Sept. 2, 1930, and inquired if there were any rich widows in town. This statement adds to the belief that he was responsible for the body of a nude woman found sewn in a sack and left on route 7 in Morris.

FARMER KILLED BY AUTO.

FAMOUS VICKS VAPORUB NOW OBTAINABLE IN STAINLESS FORM!

Same Tested Formula As Before — the Color-Stain Removed
That's the Only Difference

Can't Stain Garments...Sheets...Pillowcases...Anything

The action is the SAME as the familiar amber-color "Vicks" you now know.

The formula is the SAME, medically, as before.

The only difference is that this new form has the color stain removed.

Thus it cannot stain night garments. Can't stain pillow cases or sheets. Can't stain anything. It is something you will like.

Try it. You will be delighted. Just ask your druggist for Stainless Vicks VapoRub.

2 FORMS NOW AT STORES

If you prefer Vicks in the familiar amber-color you now know, you can get it—the same as ever—at your druggist's.

He has two forms of Vicks now for you. Regular amber-color Vicks. And this new stainless, colorless kind. Get the kind you prefer—the price is the same.

ATTACKS COLDS DIRECT NO DOSING

Largely with physicians' approval, the people of some 70 different nations use this SAFE and DIRECT way to speedy relief from colds and congestions.

For Vicks acts externally; direct to the affected area—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. And thus avoids the risk of constant dosing; of upsetting the system by the constant taking of internal medicines.

Millions of mothers know how true that is. Know the wisdom of following the oft-repeated Vicks advice: "Don't Dose Colds Except on Your Doctor's Orders."

YOU couldn't have a plainer message of warning than that touch of "pink" on your tooth brush.

It's a signal from your gums which ought not to go unheeded, if you want to keep your teeth sound and white and your gums firm and healthy!

It looks harmless, but it's not. It means that your gums—denied the exercise and stimulation of coarse foods by the modern preference for soft, tender foods—are growing flabby.

"Pink tooth brush," though not alarming in itself, may be the fore-runner of Vincent's disease, gingivitis, and other serious maladies of the gums. It may actually lead to pyorrhea, which is as serious as it is uncommon. It may even threaten your best teeth through infection at their roots.

Take it seriously now and you can forget about it later. Neglect it, and it may mean painful treatments by doctors and dentists.

For in its early stages "pink tooth brush" is easily checked. Simply start today with Ipana and massage. After you've cleaned your teeth with Ipana, squeeze out a little more Ipana on your brush or your finger-tip. Rub it gently into the gums. Start circulation and wake up the tissues!

Almost at once your teeth will look brighter, more sparkling. That's because, even if it were nothing more, Ipana is an excellent cleanser. But Ipana has ziratol in it, and that begins to tone and stimulate the gums the minute you start to massage them. Within three or four weeks, you'll see a marked improvement—your gums firmer, healthier, no longer flabby and soft.

Keep at it—and your gums will stop sending you that urgent warning, "pink tooth brush," for good and all!

FRIENDS GREET IGOE ON RETURN FROM OVERSEA

He Declares for Peace in State Democracy.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Welcomed home from Europe by several hundred friends proclaiming him their first and last choice for governor of Illinois, Michael L. Igoe yesterday declared himself for peace in the Democratic party.

"I am a member of the party and will be bound by its decision," he said in discussing the proposal of Mayor Cermak at the state fair two weeks ago that the state organization slate be selected this fall by means of conferences in which all state leaders will take part.

In other words, the national committeeman declined several opportunities to declare himself in the race to the finish, an assertion that at this early date might have marked the opening of hostilities between the Igoe group and a large part of the Cook county central committee that is following the leadership of Mayor Cermak.

Says He'll Go to See Cermak.

Anything approaching such a declaration of war seemed to be the last thing in Igoe's mind.

"I am told Mayor Cermak is out of the city," he said. "When he comes back I'm going over to see him."

At the state fair the mayor introduced Probate Judge Henry Horner as the principal speaker on the program of Democratic day, a fact which brought Judge Horner into the limelight as Cermak's possible favorite for the Democratic nomination for governor.

But since that time his position has been what it was at the fair, that the slate will be selected in a series of conferences, with unity and harmony as the purpose.

Expected to Accept Decision.

Igoe, it is believed now, is willing to participate in these meetings and to abide by the result even if he is not slated to head the ticket.

"The first question to be met," he said, "is whether we are to have a downstate man or a Cook county man for governor. It seems apparent that the candidate for United States senator this time should come from downstate. Therefore the candidate for governor should come from Chicago, but he should be a man who is widely acquainted and well known throughout the state."

Igoe's friends contends that, because of his activity as legislature minority leader and his national committee membership, he fits this situation better than any other Chicagoan.

Welcomed at the Station.

The welcome to Igoe took place at the La Salle street station when he and his wife stepped off the Twentieth Century. They had come back from Europe where Igoe had been studying prison systems as a member of a joint legislative commission. He announced before his departure, however, that all of his own and his wife's expenses would be paid out of his own pocket and not out of the commission's state appropriation.

In the front line at the station was his mother, Mrs. Catherine Igoe. A number of public officials were beside her. They included County Clerk Sweitzer, Sheriff Meyering, President Bowler of the sanitary district, Judge John R. Caverly, and State Representatives Frank Ryan and Michael Hennehry.

Others near the front were Rufus C. Dawes, W. B. Carlile, Patrick H. Joyce, Stuyvesant Peabody, W. J. Sinek, E. J. Fleming, Robert Boylan, George T. Donoghue, E. H. Bagley and F. S. Lewis.

SEES COMPLETION OF OUTER BRIDGE IN FALL OF 1932

Work on the $10,000,000 outer drive bridge project is progressing on schedule, with every assurance that it will be completed in the fall of 1932, Hugh E. Young, chief engineer for the Chicago Plan commission, said yesterday.

The northern approach, linking the bridge with Lake Shore drive, is virtually complete, according to Mr. Young. The filled approach between Ohio street and Grand avenue, and the viaduct section between Grand avenue and the Ogden slip have been completed. The substructure for the bridge over the slip has been completed, and the contract for the remaining viaduct section, connecting the slip with the bridge proper, will be let within a few weeks, Mr. Young said.

On the bridge proper the contractors have completed the subpiers to support the concrete counterweights and will begin work soon on the abutments.

Plans and specifications for the south approaches are being developed. These include a 900 foot extension of Wacker drive connecting the bridge with Field boulevard, and the extension of Field boulevard on a viaduct across the Illinois Central freight yard between the river and Randolph street.

SENATOR LEWIS REPORTS EUROPE FRIENDLY TO U. S.

Returning to Chicago from Europe last night, James Hamilton Lewis, United States senator, said that he found the attitude of Europe much more friendly toward this country than it was two years ago during his last visit abroad.

On business matters not connected with the affairs of government, Senator Lewis was in Italy, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, and Germany, and said that he had opportunities to confer with officials of those governments.

"Since my last visit," he said, "the people of European countries have passed from hatred of the United States to admiration and praise.

Some Still Make Charges.

Only some of the European political leaders, he said, continue to misrepresent the United States, and they only for local political advantage.

"The charge in France," he said, "is that we are increasing our navy to use it to force France to pay war money to us. Germany is told that her embarrassments are caused by the American banker and the American tariff. Italy is told that the United States exiles Italians because of jealousy of Mussolini and to punish Italy for not paying money due to the United States.

"England is told that the tariff wall and banking policy of the United States is adjusted to drive English trade off the seas."

German Trade Gaining.

The senator said he considered France and Czecho-Slovakia the most prosperous of European lands and that Germany is increasing her foreign trade rapidly.

"The United States," he continued, "is praised everywhere for aid given to the needy countries. Secretary of State Stimson was complimented by Germany and England as bringing plans that indorsed the schemes of England and Germany for financial aid from the United States.

"All Europe sees the United States rapidly assuming first place in shipping, manufacturing and finance. The officials are anxious to visit over here."

WOMAN NEIGHBORS LEARN THEY'RE WED TO SAME BUSY BIGAMIST

Glencoe, Minn., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Henry F. Rannow, 40, in a signed confession today said he had three wives in as many homes within a sixteen mile area and was sentenced to prison for ten years.

Two of the wives live in Biscay, Minn., their homes separated only by a roadway. The third is at Sumter, sixteen miles from there.

Rannow said he had to "juggle time" to keep up the appearance of a dutiful, though busy husband in each household. His reason for lengthy absences, he told the wives, was press of business as a salesman.

The second and third wives, living across the road from each other, said they often conversed. Each told the other her husband was gone a great deal. From time to time they remarked a meeting of the husbands should be arranged because they were neighbors.

BOARD OF REVIEW REJECTS LOAN OF MORE TAX CLERKS

The board of review, which has been besieging the county board for some weeks in an effort to get an emergency appropriation for the employment of extra help to handle tax complaints, yesterday rejected an offer of County Recorder Clayton F. Smith to lend them between 35 and 40 of his clerks, all experienced in tax matters.

CLAYTON SMITH. [Edward Fox Photo.]

Although he denied that the refusal to use the recorder's clerks was caused by an interest in pay roll patronage, Charles V. Barrett, chairman of the reviewers, said that the scheme would be all right if Recorder Smith would lay off some of his own people and substitute in their place some of the 75 pay-rollers whom the reviewers laid off last Friday.

Claim Urgent Need for Clerks.

Smith is a Democrat. Barrett and Edward R. Litsinger, who was not present at the meeting yesterday, constitute a Republican majority on the board of review.

The board of review has been seeking an emergency appropriation of $50,800 to hire extra help. Its members assert that if the money is not forthcoming they will be unable to continue their present schedule of hearing 1,200 complaints on the 1930 assessments daily. They must hear that many complaints, they estimate, to have the tax books ready before the delinquency date for tax payments, fixed at Jan. 1.

The county board voted the appropriation once, but it was vetoed by President Emmett Whealan on the ground that it was illegal.

County Commissioners Peter M. Kelly and Maurice Kavanagh, who is chairman of the county board finance committee, met with Reviewer Barrett and Thomas J. Hughes, the Democratic member of the board, and told them of the recorder's offer yesterday. The employés whose services Recorder Smith offered have been handling tax matters for years, they explained.

"Nothing doing," Barrett told them. "Why, we couldn't certify the assessment as correct if people who worked on it were not on our pay roll. Besides, those people in the recorder's office have not done the same sort of tax work as our employés."

✣ Feel Bad? ✣ If Your Tongue is Coated it Means . . . ✣ Trouble Here! ✣ Then Eat Yeast ✣

HEADACHY DAYS often indicate internal disorders. ▼ YOUR DOCTOR knows that your tongue is the best clue to what's ailing you. If it's white and coated it means that your system is not functioning properly. ▼ INTESTINAL FATIGUE is the cause! Poisons result . . . seep into the system. ▼ EATING YEAST keeps you internally clean —clears your tongue — brings real health!

"Let's see that TONGUE of yours!"

Your doctor knows that if it's coated you are suffering from INTESTINAL FATIGUE . . . a disorder that underlies 90% of our commonest ills!

WHEN you haven't been feeling well and visit your doctor, what is the very first thing he asks you to do?

It is to show him your tongue—so he can see if it is coated and white!

So go to the mirror and look at your own tongue, now! And if it isn't clean—look out! In all probability you are suffering from Intestinal Fatigue!

Now it's easy to understand why this commonplace evil underlies such a vast amount of present-day sickness and poor health.

For everything you eat must pass through that small coiled tube—the intestinal tract. When this organ grows stagnant and weak, food wastes are held too long in the body. Putrefaction sets in. Poisons spread through your system, bringing headaches, coated tongue, indigestion, loss of appetite and pep.

But Intestinal Fatigue is not hard to overcome if you will adopt the method world-famous physicians recommend.

Their advice is: "Eat fresh yeast. Eat it every day, just like any other food—a cake before each meal, or between meals and at bedtime. Keep it up, and your elimination will become normal, your blood will clear—coated tongue, bad breath, pimples, etc., will disappear."

The reason fresh yeast is so effective is that it actually "tones up" the weakened muscles of your intestines. And at the same time it moistens and loosens the clogging food masses so that they are gently and regularly expelled.

Thus poisons no longer seep into your blood and spread throughout your body. Your whole system is gently cleansed and purified.

And in addition Fleischmann's Yeast supplies elements indispensable to normal digestion and perfect health—vitamins B and G and the "sunshine" vitamin D so valuable for indoor workers. Most food is deficient in these three vitamins. Every cake of Fleischmann's Yeast now contains them in abundance.

Then don't be satisfied with half-health! Every day, regularly, eat three cakes of Fleischmann's fresh Yeast. Eat it any way you like—in milk, or milk shakes, in fruit juices, or just plain. Many prefer it dissolved in a third of a glass of water (hot or cold).

And be sure you insist on Fleischmann's Yeast—in the familiar foil-wrapped cakes with the yellow label. You can get it wherever food is sold—at grocers', restaurants or soda fountains. Add it to your diet today!

Fleischmann's Yeast is fresh yeast... the only kind that benefits you fully.

Eat 3 cakes a day!

Remember, it's important to ask your grocer for Fleischmann's fresh Yeast (with the yellow label) . . . the only yeast that contains the Sunshine Vitamin D! Every cake is "irradiated" to give it this added element so important for sun-starved indoor workers. It is rich in Vitamins B and G, too.

ASK INJUNCTION TO BLOCK ISSUE OF SCHOOL SCRIP

Teachers' Head Attacks Plan as Illegal.

Mayor Cermak and Lewis E. Myers, president of the board of education, were named yesterday, with five other city and school board officials, in a suit for an injunction to restrain them from issuing scrip instead of cash to 14,000 teachers in the public schools.

The action was filed on behalf of Miss Mary M. Abbe, 6819 Yale avenue, a teacher in the Marshall school and president of the Chicago Teachers' federation, and David Rosenheim, 5235 Roosevelt road, a taxpayer. James A. O'Gallaghan and I. T. Greenacre are the attorneys representing the complainants. The injunction is sought in the Circuit court.

Other Officials Named.

The bill, a sixty-five page document containing twenty-five counts, names City Treasurer James A. Kearns, City Controller M. S. Szymczak, Oscar Dubin, vice president of the school board; Charles E. Gilbert, secretary, and Harry H. Brackett, auditor of the board, as co-defendants.

It asks that the court enjoin the officials of the school board from issuing any more participation certificates and restrain the city officials from countersigning and delivering any tax anticipation warrants to the board.

A total of $7,780,803 is due regular and extra teachers for unpaid salaries for April, May, and June, the bill relates. So far less than three and one-third per cent of the teachers have availed themselves of the proffered scrip. Only $258,125 has been paid out in scrip, according to the bill.

The bill also charges that the three forms of scrip issued are "substantially different from the forms prescribed by resolution . . . were not issued under the authority of the resolution, and that such participation certificates are null and void."

Deny Resolution Is Legal.

At the meeting on June 29 when the board adopted a resolution directing the mayor and city comptroller to countersign tax anticipation warrants for $2,000,000 only six of the eleven members of the board were present, it is charged. The resolution received only five votes of yea, one member not voting, and therefor did not pass, it is contended.

The participation certificates, the bill continues, were printed on inferior paper by an ordinary printing process. In this the board was guilty of negligence, it is alleged, because the certificates were not properly safeguarded against counterfeiting. The bill states that the complainants fear forgeries may become so numerous that the board will repudiate the issue.

The bill charges that the tax anticipation warrants filed with the secretary of the board for public sale are of excessive denominations and adds that they were "made so with the intention unlawfully to confine the sale of such anticipation warrants to a particular class of purchasers who could and would take at least $250,000 at a time as an investment; and to prevent any warrants being sold to common taxpayers . . . numbering at least 95 per cent of all the taxpayers." The warrants, if purchased by "ordinary" taxpayers, could be used in paying their individual portions of the whole school taxes.

The bill asserts that no market for the scrip has been found.

PONDERS INQUIRY INTO CHARGES OF SCHOOL GRAFT

Swanson Scans Facts of Enright Killing.

Whether the state's attorney's office will investigate charges of graft in the letting of school board contracts as a result of the gang ride killing of Mortimer P. Enright, chief electrician for the board, will be decided by State's Attorney Swanson probably tomorrow.

This was announced yesterday after Mr. Swanson conferred with Charles E. Lounsbury, one of his assistants assigned to the racket bureau. The state's attorney desires to confer with State's Attorney Chauncey Reed of Du Page county, where the murder occurred last Thursday night, before undertaking an investigation.

Mr. Lounsbury said that one difficulty of an extensive school board investigation would be limited funds and men available.

Eye Board of Estimates.

The prosecutors are doubtful that Enright's murder grew out of the splitting of graft from school board contracts, but his death has brought to light alleged excessive bids for school electrical contracts. These were said to have been dictated by the board of estimates, a group declared by the prosecutors to be under control of Enright's union, local 134. The local is headed by Michael J. Boyle.

No light was thrown on the murder at the coroner's inquest yesterday at Hinsdale, where the body was found. The jury returned a verdict of "murder by persons unknown."

Matthew Ryan, an electrician for the school board, told of accompanying Enright from a union meeting at 47 North Ogden avenue to North avenue and Clark street on Thursday night. He said he left Enright there and saw him drive away toward his home.

Discuss Foreman's Dismissal.

Ryan said Enright had discussed union affairs with him and told of the necessity of fining school board electricians who became intoxicated and reported late for work. They discussed the recent dismissal of David Collins, an electrical foreman, he said.

"It was too bad about Collins, but he couldn't handle the men," Enright was quoted as saying.

Prosecutors assigned to the racket bureau were inclined to the view that Enright's murder grew out of union strife. Opposition to Boyle, who was supported by Enright, and dissension over the union's unemployment relief plan have been reported to them.

Assistant State's Attorney Edwin C. Dufficy, who has investigated affairs of the union, said the board of estimates had been virtually inactive in the last two years and had not attempted to enforce its minimum bid demands on contractors.

TAX RELIEF BODY TO HAVE REPORT READY ON OCT. 15

Joseph K. Brittain, directing head of Gov. Emmerson's revenue commission, announced last night that he believes the commission will have its recommendations ready by Oct. 15. This was the body appointed on July 2 to find a remedy for the financial difficulties of the Cook county local governments, and also of the state.

Whether the remedy is an increase or decrease in taxes Mr. Brittain declined to say. Three times Gov. Emmerson in his instructions has urged the commission to recommend steps to eliminate waste and extravagance.

The commission held one of its executive sessions at the Union league club last night. Later Mr. Brittain said that the commission was endeavoring to dovetail the reports of its various committees. He added that bills are being prepared to put the recommendations into definite shape.

William Davenport, arrested several times in the last six years on the charge of fleecing Charles W. Babcock, 2650 Lake View avenue, out of $25,000 in a fake stock deal, but never brought to trial, was taken prisoner again yesterday in New York. This time, Chicago police said, they believe they will be able to extradite him to Chicago and put him to trial.

Davenport, who is known by half a dozen aliases, was first arrested in New Orleans in 1927, two years after Babcock, the head of a motor truck company, was defrauded. Lieut. Frank Johnson went there and after a long fight in court, succeeded in having his prisoner extradited.

Subsequently Davenport was admitted to bail, which he forfeited, and fled from Chicago. He was arrested later in Philadelphia, but escaped extradition. Again, in 1929, he was arrested in Palm Beach, Fla., and later in West Palm Beach. On those occasions extradition was refused because Babcock was unable to go to Florida and identify Davenport.

Babcock, informed of the latest arrest last night by Lieut. Johnson, declared that he would go to New York, if necessary, to bring about the return of Davenport to Chicago.

ROTARY HONORS ROSENWALD FOR PUBLIC SERVICES

In recognition of his distinguished service to mankind Julius Rosenwald was accorded yesterday the national award, the first of the three annual Chicago merit awards sponsored by the Rotary club of Chicago. The award was made at a luncheon of that club in the Hotel Sherman. A thousand business leaders and others attended.

The illness of Mr. Rosenwald forbade his presence, but his appreciation of the honor was expressed through his son, Lessing J. Rosenwald, who accepted the scroll summarizing the achievements on which the award was based. This was presented by Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, chairman of the meeting. The second token, a bronze plaque, which is to hang in the Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park, was received by Leo F. Wormser, secretary of that institution. The museum which Mr. Rosenwald has endowed is to be house in the remodeled Fine Arts building of the World's Fair of 1893.

Hoover Praises Rosenwald.

From all over the United States came messages from admirers of the philanthropist. Some of those were read at the luncheon.

From President Hoover came this: "The merit awards sponsored by the Rotary club of Chicago for distinguished public service by residents of that community are not only appropriate recognition of usefulness but are an incentive to citizens to contribute to the common good through unselfish personal service.

"I shall appreciate it if you will express my cordial good wishes to those gathered for the occasion and my hearty congratulations to Mr. Julius Rosenwald, the recipient of the premier award."

Congratulations along similar lines came from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, W. R. Castle, assistant secretary of state, Gov. Emmerson, ex-Gov. Frank O. Lowden, and from presidents of railroads, steel and public utility companies, and others.

In part, the illuminated scroll declared: "Born in Springfield, Ill., during the presidency of Lincoln, Julius Rosenwald, like other typical midwestern American boys, was raised in a modest home and the public schools. For the past fifty years he has lived in Chicago.

Protects His Stockholders.

"In industry he personifies the integrity and the responsibility of power. By pledging his personal fortune to protect his stockholders in the business crisis that followed the world war he set new standards of fidelity to corporate trust and to labor.

"In municipal endeavors he has aided city planning, fostered efficiency in public offices, battled against waste."

By striking away from the beaten path in his methods of philanthropy Mr. Rosenwald succeeded in strengthening the effect of the millions he gave away, Mr. Wormser declared in the chief address of the luncheon.

"The leadership of Mr. Rosenwald takes its position on advance ground," he said. "The time honored mode of public giving has been through the creation of a trust, the income of which should be applied to a specific purpose, or general purposes of the recipient body, the principal to be held intact. Rosenwald questioned whether such trusts had not often become useless. He declared that gifts made in this generation should be used in this generation."

Rewards for Public Service.

The Chicago merit awards, it was pointed out, are in harmony with the ideals of Rotary and are "to be awarded to the American citizen of the metropolitan area of Chicago who shall have performed and brought to its culmination the best and largest interests of Chicago and the United States."

The jury of awards besides Mr. Sargent included W. Rufus Abbott, Sewell L. Avery, Clifford W. Barnes, Francis F. Broomell, Stanley Field, A. W. Harris, Edward N. Hurley, Robert Maynard Hutchins, Samuel Insull Jr., Alexander Legge, Clayton Mark, Col. Robert R. McCormick, Everett Millard, Potter Palmer, Col. Robert Isham Randolph, Guy A. Richardson, Walter Dill Scott, William P. Sidley, Col. A. A. Sprague, Elmer T. Stevens, Silas H. Strawn, Walter A. Strong [who died after the award was made], Graham Taylor, and Lucius Teter.

CENSUS FINDS FEWER MEN WORKING, BUT MORE WOMEN BUSY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—Special.]—Half of the 98,723,047 persons over 10 years of age in this country are employed at gainful occupations, the census bureau announced today. Statistics issued by the bureau disclosed that in 1930 there were 48,832,589 gainful workers, representing 49.5 per cent of the population 10 years of age and over, or 39.8 per cent of the total population of the country.

A material decrease in the number of gainfully employed males during the last decade was noted by the bureau. According to the figures, males over 10 years old gainfully employed in 1930 represented 76.2 per cent of the total population above the age limit, as compared with 78.2 per cent in 1920.

The number of females gainfully employed on the other hand was shown to have increased during the ten year period. In 1930, according to the statistics, 22.1 per cent of the than 10 years of age, 717,231 were refemale population over 10 years of age was gainfully employed, as compared with 21.1 per cent in 1920.

In Illinois, of the 3,214,016 men over 10 years of age, 2,467,644, or 76.8 per cent of the total, were reported as gainful workers in 1930. The largest percentage of the state's gainfully employed males was engaged in manufacturing industries.

COUNT your BLESSINGS

GOOD HEALTH is usually taken for granted. Rarely does anyone stop to consider what a great blessing good health is until it has been seriously threatened by an infectious disease. Not until then do we realize that good health is responsible for many of our other blessings.

A most serious menace to good health is a "social disease," syphilis or gonorrhea. These diseases are highly contagious and extremely dangerous—no one is immune from infection. Men, women and even little children from every walk of life are often helpless and innocent victims. No other diseases perhaps, leave such a long train of misery and untimely deaths in their wake.

Syphilis is frequently called The Great Imitator, for its symptoms may run the gamut of almost all physical ailments. It may mask as heart disease, rheumatism, arthritis or nervous breakdown. Also it may seem to be a form of skin, eye, throat, lung or kidney trouble. But most tragic of all it often attacks the brain and spinal cord which may result in blindness, deafness, locomotor ataxia, paralysis and insanity. Gonorrhea is especially dangerous to women — causing serious complications and dangerous operations. It also is responsible for most of the blindness in little babies at birth.

Social diseases can usually be cured by competent and experienced physicians if detected and treated in time, providing the patient faithfully and presistently follows the complete treatment prescribed. If the early or primary stages have been neglected cures are less certain, but proper medical care will relieve suffering and prevent further disability.

Because of fear and ignorance many victims have been exploited and imposed upon by quacks, charlatans and blackmailers pretending to practice medicine. Such men are dangerous.

Persons who have been exposed to a social disease should seek a complete medical examination from an experienced and reliable physician without delay. For a social disease, particularly syphilis, can be contracted without the knowledge of the individual and do much of its deadly work before it is discovered.

Good medical treatment for either gonorrhea or syphilis, including Wassermann and Kahn blood and other necessary laboratory tests, can be secured within your means from an experienced family physician, or from the Public Health Institute. Treatment also is available through many free clinics for those without funds. The Public Health Institute was organized more than ten years ago to combat "social diseases," syphilis and gonorrhea, in Chicago. Every facility necessary for competent and reliable medical service is provided. Members of its medical staff are experienced and are registered by the State. All treatment and advice are given by these men and women physicians. The fees are within the reach of all. The first examination is only $3.00 and includes Wassermann and Kahn blood and other laboratory tests. Six consecutive treatments in the Urological or Gynecological Department for $4.00. Examination and treatment are available to those without immediate funds.

More details of this subject will be found in Leaflets Nos. 1 and 2 sent free in plain envelope on request.

Announcement . . . This advertisement has been submitted to and been approved by the Medical Advisory Board which has been formed at the invitation of the Trustees. It is published by a health agency established for public service to inform the public of the dangers of "social diseases," of the importance of securing good medical care, and the facilities whereby this can be obtained.

CHILE MENACED BY NEW OUTBREAK OF COMMUNISM

Naval Revolt Quelled, but Unrest Seethes.

BY HAROLD TATAM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 8.—Dispatches received tonight from Santiago and Valparaiso indicate that the situation in Chile is by no means settled following the surrender yesterday of the mutinous fleet.

Communism, which is said to have taken a deep root in Chile, has apparently been only partially scotched by the present setback, and it is reported to be ready to rear its head again at the first favorable opportunity. For this reason it is widely believed that the government will be forced to distribute the fleet among the various ports in order to place obstacles in the way of further plotting, and it may have to take similar precautionary measures with the troops, many of whom have been inflamed by communist agitators.

Regiment is Split.

Communism apparently was the cause of the recent trouble which broke out in the Maipu regiment, half of which waged a pitched battle against the other half. The regiment has now been practically disbanded.

At the same time, the temper of the workers is reported to be dangerous at present, and is said to be likely to develop into open defiance, even though severe punishment is being meted out to the revolting sailors or to communist suspects now under arrest.

Of the 1,000 prisoners taken at Talcahuano naval base, scores were active communists and the government is faced with the difficult problem of determining whether rigorous measures are advisable at the present moment.

The man believed to be behind the naval split is said to be Guillermo Sterbecker, or Sternbeck, the son of a German sea captain and a Chilean mother.

Plan to Strengthen Air Force.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VALPARAISO, Chile, Sept. 8.—The small band of airmen who bombed the rebellious sailors into submission at Coquimbo are the happiest men in Chile today. The government has come to consider the air force as one of the strongest arms in national defense. It believes that important lessons were learned from the aerial attack and it is now keen to develop the force, as are the men themselves.

According to a local correspondent, the overhead attack on the fleet struck terror into the hearts of the mutineers, whose fearful shrieks were heard many miles inland.

American, British and German planes were employed. Six of them swept down on the fleet from a great height, and, passing low over the decks of the ships, dropped more than 150 bombs. The rebels replied briskly with anti-aircraft guns, but their shooting was inaccurate. Enormous masses of water swept the decks from the explosions of the bombs alongside.

Submarine is Hit.

The submarine H-4 was hit in the bow and several of the crew were killed or wounded. She made for shore and surrendered and the crew deserted to the loyal forces. Three bombs fell on the rebel flagship, but did no great damage.

Later, in the darkness, scouting planes assessed the damage and at the same time frightened the sailors on the destroyers into surrendering. The battleship Almirante La Torre, which housed the rebel headquarters, was the last to submit at 3 o'clock this morning. All the warships gave up unconditionally. The minister for war gave orders for the fleet to proceed to Valparaiso.

The Almirante La Torre entered the Quinteros naval base tonight. She was forced to put in by a shortage of fuel. As she steamed in a squadron of airplanes flew overhead as a precaution against a last minute demonstration by the crew.

Find Communists on Ship.

Among the mutineers on the La Torre was a group of communists who had boarded the ship at Coquimbo at the time the sailors arrested the officers and assumed command of the ships. These men, together with the known ringleaders among the sailors, were segregated and taken to the arsenal. Crowds of people watched as the mutineers were taken to the arsenal in a long string of lorries. They made no hostile demonstration, merely looking on in silence.

The present position of the other warships is as follows: The Blanco Encalada is in Port Tongoy, north of Coquimbo; the armored cruiser General O'Higgins is in Coquimbo and has received orders to disembark all marines on board. There are six destroyers in Valparaiso bay—the Serrano, Orella, Riquelme, Hyatt, Videla, and Aldea. These are all disarmed and at the disposition of the authorities. The Hyatt and the Riquelme were the first to appear in Valparaiso bay. They were brought to a standstill by a dozen shots from the naval forts when they failed to give the usual signals.

Five thousand more troops have been rushed into Valparaiso to land and disarm the sailors. The leaders of the rebellion will be tried in accordance with naval law, which demands the maximum penalty for mutiny. Valparaiso spent virtually the whole of last night in terror for fear of a raid by the sailors.

The tramwaymen, who were on strike, are back at their jobs, thus restoring peace in the labor situation.

PAUPER ENDS LIFE.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—One of the biggest real estate deals negotiated in Berlin in recent years was concluded today when the historic Bluecher palace formally passed into the possession of the United States government to become the future home of the American embassy. The transfer ceremonies took place at the American embassy at noon, where Ambassador Frederic M. Sackett handed over two United States treasury checks aggregating $1,702,906.93 to legal representatives of the former owners.

The property, one of the choicest locations in Berlin, occupies a plot of ground comprising 47,000 square feet and will immediately be taken over by the United States government, which will proceed to undertake the work of remodeling the building's interior.

Under the terms of Berlin's building laws, decreed by the former kaiser, the main façade of the old Bluecher palace, fronting Pariserplatz, will be conserved, as will also that facing the Tiergarten on the west. The palace, which was gutted by fire last April, will be reconstructed according to plans of American architects, who hope to have it ready for occupancy by the end of 1932.

Test it at our risk

Please don't take our word for these statements. All we ask is that you make the economy test yourself and be the exclusive judge.

Order a pound of Maxwell House at your grocer's. Prepare it in your usual way. Then if you and your family don't agree that it is the finest coffee you ever drank; if you don't find that it is real economy compared with weaker, Oxygen-robbed coffees, simply return the can with unused portion to the grocer from whom you bought it and he will return your money.

Oxygen can't hijack Maxwell House flavor

That's why the new VITA-FRESH Process is winning new friends for this famous coffee

ONCE you have tried your first can of Maxwell House packed by the new Vita-Fresh method, you will realize why you have never been quite sure about your coffee.

For Maxwell House, packed this new scientific way, is always uniform in strength and flavor. Because it is strictly fresh, not robbed of its precious fragrance and aroma by Oxygen, you can follow the simple directions on the package and get a superb cup of coffee every time.

Just read these amazing facts established in the laboratories of a leading Eastern University:

(1) Loose or bag coffee loses 65% of its flavor in nine days after roasting.

(2) Coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor in nine days after roasting.

All due to the attack of Oxygen.

Think of it! Forty-five to sixty-five per cent of the flavor gone from nine-day-old coffee. Even vacuum packing, a definite improvement over old-fashioned methods, removes only part of the air from the can, leaving sealed in enough Oxygen to cause flavor loss and deterioration.

The new Vita-Fresh Process removes the air so completely that the most rigid chemical analysis reveals no trace of Oxygen in the Vita-Fresh can after packing.

Remember—Oxygen is the destroyer of coffee freshness and flavor. The Vita-Fresh Process alone gives full protection to coffee goodness. Maxwell House and Maxwell House only gives you this guarantee of full flavor, full value in every pound.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

MURDER OF A SCHOOL OFFICIAL.

A number of theories have been brought forward to explain the murder of Mortimer P. Enright, chief electrician for the board of education. One of them is that Enright was killed because of something which he did or did not do as a member of the so-called board of estimate of his union. This agency, it has been charged, was able virtually to dictate the prices at which contracts were let for electrical installations in schools and other public buildings, and the contract prices were commonly excessive.

The state's attorney has announced his intention of questioning Lewis E. Myers, president, and some of the members of the school board. Mr. Myers has stated publicly that the schools could be operated at a saving of many millions of dollars each year if sound business methods could be employed. It is possible that Mr. Myers may be able to relate this failure to employ sound business practices to the electricians' board of estimate. If not, then the interrogation of Mr. Myers will at least give him the opportunity to explain his extraordinary statement. He and his associates are in control of the board's expenditures, and if the board's costs are millions of dollars in excess of what Mr. Myers and his associates think they might be, a good deal of explaining is called for. It is difficult to believe that the law requires Mr. Myers to approve of unsound business practices, and impossible to believe that the law requires him to approve of dishonest practices.

It is to be hoped that the state's attorney will not be awed in the presence of the president and members of the school board. A murder has been committed. It is the duty of the prosecutor to find the assassin. Any reluctance on the part of witnesses to tell what they know may lay them open to the charge of compounding a felony. With that weapon in his arsenal, the prosecutor ought not to have much trouble in inducing the trustees to unbosom themselves.

BRITISH LIBERALISM TODAY.

American publicity rather overlooked the fact that Bernard Shaw and Lady Astor had a not undistinguished companion on their visit to soviet Russia. Indeed the party was a coalition, Mr. Shaw representing the Socialist viewpoint, Lady Astor the Tory, and Lord Lothian, formerly as Mr. Philip Kerr private secretary to Lloyd George, the Liberal. Of Mr. Shaw's impressions and opinions we, of course, heard at once. Lady Astor seems to be holding her fire. Lord Lothian has reported through an address at the Liberal Summer school at Cambridge.

Some of his conclusions are interesting to us, not as information about the Russian experiment, but for the light they throw upon a representative mind of present day liberalism.

Lord Lothian suggests that some of the Russian experiment's "underlying ideas are going to transform the whole world. The notion that private property should function for everybody and not merely for those who own it is, in my view, a winning idea."

It is, but why call it an underlying idea of the Russian experiment? The underlying idea of the Russian experiment, we have been told by its managers, is the abolition of private property. There is considerable evidence of late that some of the underlying ideas of the experiment have not been working satisfactorily and may not survive the experiment. At any rate they have been put on the shelf for the present. But what interests us is the implication in the remarks of this leading Liberal of today that the notion of social responsibility of private ownership is a contribution of the Russian experiment. We had supposed it to be known and held not only by Liberals but by Tories in England as it certainly is in the United States.

Human nature, in which the instinct of self-preservation and self-betterment is fortunately strong, if not always judicious, has checked the altruistic functioning of private property and dimmed the sense of social responsibility among property owners to an extent which the idealist must deplore. Especially, it has appeared to our observation, in Europe, not excepting Lord Lothian's country. Selfishness and shortsightedness have permitted suffering which an enlightened self-interest, to say nothing of altruism, would have more efficiently and expeditiously relieved. But it may be said of American private ownership, at least, although it is held up by Russian propaganda as the most characteristic and incorrigible example of private ownership, that it has been marked by a conspicuous sense of social responsibility, and exhibits to the impartial mind a steady increase of this sense. American society, which is not stratified but is a real democracy, is not only favorable to this growth but makes it virtually inevitable, but as a natural and unforced product of the intelligence and moral sense of the free man. Lord Lothian's thought turns away from this progress, which is less sensational but deeper and more truly scientific than the "gigantic and heroic" communist experiment which has impressed him. He thinks that "somehow we have got to restrict the chaos of competitive economic life and introduce a considerable measure of state planning."

Perhaps economic and social conditions in England have been permitted to reach a situation in which further extension of state control is inevitable, but even Lord Lothian is aware of its drawbacks and ingenuously remarks the difficulty of pressing forward on that line without restricting the rights of private property. What Lord Lothian is up against is the problem of reconciling government with liberty, a very ancient problem, and one which, it is the American idea, cannot be satisfactorily solved by continually extending the activities and increasing the power of government.

Why men in England or America who profess a philosophy of liberalism should stand hat in hand before this "gigantic and heroic" Russian experiment in reconciling liberty with government by abolishing liberty is rather a revelation of the weakness of their faith and the superficiality of their professed philosophy.

A NEW PROBLEM OF CITY PLANNING.

Probably the father of city planning in America was L'Enfant, the French engineer who designed the plan for the national capital. In our time the great man was Daniel Burnham, author of the Chicago plan and other American city plans. Burnham was a man of vision who looked into the future and strove to provide for the conditions of orderly and beautiful growth. But he could not foresee the coming of the automobile or the later appearance of the airplane. The former gave us new problems with which we are still struggling, and the latter is adding others which we are only beginning to discern. It is no disrespect to the genius of Burnham and no disregard for his legacy to restudy our conditions, our needs and problems as they exist in our day and will develop in the future. He would have been the first to do this himself had he lived in our time.

The planning of highways for the swift moving automobile which brings people over long distances to the city is quite different from the planning of streets for the horse drawn vehicles of Burnham's day. The airplane has added another consideration, that of the proper location of airports and of proper access to them. Airports cannot be located in congested central districts, but must be placed well out where land in sufficient area is obtainable at not prohibitive prices. But as we would not place our railway terminals in the outskirts of the city we must make our air travel terminals as comfortably and quickly accessible as possible. This means highways designed for movement as fast and uninterrupted as practicable; in other words, either elevated or depressed thoroughfares.

The advantages of the depressed road are obvious; its disadvantages not so to the public. Where, for example, it has to pass, as it usually must, through settled districts, it is almost prohibitive in cost because of the essential utilities it disorganizes. The elevated highway, though it is an obstruction to the eye and reduces real estate values immediately adjacent, is less expensive. In the case of the proposed Austin-Kinzie elevated highway even these objections are not tenable, for it will follow the line of an already existing railroad embankment.

Apart from these special questions, however, the fact is clear that city planning must now envisage the development of air travel on a growing scale and must accept as one of its chief responsibilities proper provision for safe, commodious and readily accessible terminals for a rapidly increasing air transport.

A PETTY PROPOSAL.

The suggestion has been made that privileges heretofore granted clergymen in the way of reduced charges shall be revoked or surrendered as a contribution to our public economies. A blue pencil through that inspiration, we should say. Clergymen are on the short list of America's underpaid, and to propose depriving them of the very small savings on transportation, etc., these privileges represent seems to us not only unjust but trivial. The suggestion is a product of the prevailing semi-hysteria which is exaggerating our difficulties and dangers to a deplorable extent. Clergymen and teachers shared very meagerly in the profits of boom days, less than any other class, and they should be the last to be asked to make any unnecessary sacrifices at this time.

Editorial of the Day

JERSEY'S RAILROAD PASS SCANDAL.

[Brooklyn Daily Eagle.]

Ruth Cranmer, central figure in the Yates shooting investigation, held railroad pass No. 609. She was in distinguished company. There are one hundred and four committees of the New Jersey legislature. Five hundred of the passes, good on every railroad in the state, were credited to "clerks" or secretaries of legislative committees. Among the beneficiaries were a lot of influential politicians.

One was the secretary of the Republican national committee; also the Republican county chairmen of Essex and of Atlantic counties, the surrogate of Union county, the public prosecutor of Passaic, the woman vice chairman of the Republican state committee, and a former vice chairman of the same committee. Perhaps the passholders would control a New Jersey Republican state convention if they worked together. There are 988 of them in all.

For political discrimination the railroads are in no way to blame. The state picks its own passholders. Under original charters the railroads were compelled to carry free about a dozen specified officials. By legislative enactment the pass privilege has been extended to all "state officers." The passes under the interstate commerce law are not good outside the state borders.

However, the railroads are probably not interested in a change in the law. Even though they do not make their own selections of petty grafters, they know that the traveler carried free is a good will asset not by any means to be despised.

CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK.

A wealthy real estate operator had given his little girl a splendidly equipped doll's house. On his return after a week's absence he asked her how she liked it.

"It's very nice daddy," she said.

"But where is it?" he inquired, not seeing it anywhere around the nursery.

MAYBE YES; MAYBE NO!

"What became of that clerk you had here?"

"I had to fire him. A man came with his bride to buy a book for reading on his honeymoon, and the stupid assistant offered her 'Travels with a Donkey.'"—Das Kleine Witzblatt.

WHERE THEY KEEP TRACK OF CONTAGION.

THE United States census office is responsible for two types of what they call registration areas. The first of these is what is termed the registration area for deaths. If the state has an approved law for the registration of deaths and if, upon investigation, it is found that the enforcement of the law is more than 90 per cent perfect, they enter that state in this registration area.

The advantage of being in this area is that life insurance companies, business concerns, economists, and statisticians accept the vital statistics of the states in this area, while they reject as unproved the claim of healthfulness made by states outside the area. When this plan was adopted American vital statistics were in disrepute all over the world. This is not the case now. A few years later the same agency started a registration area for births. Thanks to this effort—at least, in great measure—birth registration approaches a satisfactory basis in most of the states of the Union. In Canada conditions are somewhat better.

The United States public health service is now set to apply a similar plan to communicable diseases, by establishing what they call a morbidity registration area. States which have good laws for the reporting of communicable diseases, such as smallpox, in which these laws are reasonably well carried out, are entitled to entry in the registration area.

They proposed this plan a few years ago and got the formal approval of the state health departments. They next began a survey of the states, to discover which had good laws and in which the enforcement was above a certain level of efficiency. As the result of several years' investigation they are arranging to establish a registration area which includes the following states: California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Illinois, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

The states rejected as below grade were: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, and West Virginia.

States that were rejected because of incomplete proof were: Georgia, Montana, Nevada, and New Mexico.

It was found that smallpox was well reported. On the other hand, not over one-half of the consumption is registered. Therefore, these diseases were rejected in the selection of standards by which to measure the different states. It was finally decided to accept in the registration area those states in which, for a term of years, more than 75 per cent of the cases of five diseases were registered. The diseases were: Diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, and whooping cough.

New York appears to lead all the states in meeting the standards set. Their record was 145 per cent of the expectancy, using a term of insurance actuaries. That of Maine was 96 per cent.

IT USUALLY IS SAFE.

H. A. writes: "Do you think it wise for second or third cousins to marry? On account of the relationship would there be any danger that children from this marriage would not be normal?

REPLY.

From the eurenics standpoint the marriage of second cousins and third cousins is safe. There is rarely an exception, and then only where an inheritable quality is thoroughly grounded in the stock.

NOISY LAUNDRY.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—[Friend of the People.]—Directly back of my house is a laundry. The noise from this laundry, caused mostly by the employés during the night, is simply unbearable. They used to run wide open until 1:30 a. m., but now close the machinery down around 10 p. m. From then on until 1 a. m. and later the noise caused by pushing hand trucks back and forth over cement floors and the squeak from the wheels, coupled with the constant shouting of the night help, makes sleep impossible. They have been asked to eliminate these noises, but to no avail. What can be done about this nuisance?

A. E.

A patrolman investigated and found that the engineer of the laundry in question takes a couple of small trucks loaded with scrap paper out into the alley to put down into basement to burn same up. The patrolman was there at 5 a. m. when he pushed these trucks out into the alley, and they did not make enough noise to disturb any one sleeping. The engineer stated that these were the only trucks he used and that he did not want any trouble and would hold up the paper until later so as not to disturb any one in the vicinity.

DISTURBS THEIR SLEEP.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—[Friend of the People.]—A laundry near our home works nights and annoys the people who try to sleep. Between 1:30 and 3 o'clock they shovel cinders in the alley, which keeps people awake. They have been asked to stop shoveling at this hour in the morning, but pay no attention. We got up a petition, which was also ignored. Please advise what can be done.

E. V.

A patrolman was assigned to investigate this complaint and interviewed the night superintendent of the laundry in question. He stated he would instruct his employés to eliminate the nuisance as much as possible.

Acting Commissioner of Police.

PEDDLER'S LICENSE.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Please advise if a license is necessary and what kind in order to sell soda pop at a prairie ball game. 2. If a license is necessary, what is the fee for same and where can it be obtained?

M. F. C.

1. If it is within the city limits you would need a peddler's license, for which you should apply to the city clerk.
2. Apply to the city clerk.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

KING GEORGE of England asks that his income from the nation be trimmed down fifty thousand pounds. ("And how much," pipes up Laura, "would that be in real money?" We were afraid you would pull that, Laura; all Americans do.) Which is two hundred and fifty thousand dollars as we would reckon it. We are naming no names, but we are watching other crowned or silk hatted heads with breathless interest to know how much of their pay they're going to kick in with to meet present conditions.

AND EDWARD DAVID, also celebrated as the w. k. Prince of Wales, gives the empire two hundred thousand berries out of his private income, as he receives no salary for princing of waling. All of which makes it easier to answer the question that Americans in England always ask: "What's the use of a royal family?"

AND FOLLOWING the lead of China, Germany says it might be able to use several million bushels of the wheat we bought and the Farm Board has soaked away here and there. And Czecho-Slovakia pipes up and says it might use some, too. And there's a whole lot of families in this country that are getting a little bit hungry, who say they also could make good use of quite a good deal of that wheat. Stand in line, friends, and wait your turn, but there's a lot of foreign countries in there ahead of you.

WE ARE WAITING expectantly for this letter to win the daily prize from the My Most Embarrassing Moments editor: "I was so embarrassed yesterday. I am a school teacher and I said to the arithmetic class, 'If a teacher earns two hundred and seventy-five smackers a month, how long will it take before she receives eleven hundred bucks?' And one of the boy pupils spoke up and said he knew the answer; that if the teacher was a Chicago teacher it would take her until hell froze entirely over and to a depth of three-quarters of a mile. My dear, I was so embarrassed! Honestly, you cudda knocked me down with a feather."

"WHO'LL PAY INCREASED FEDERAL TAXES if Passed?"—Trib's Washington news. We have a sneaking opinion who will. In fact, we know darned well who will pay 'em, but just to keep the game going we'll bite. WHO will pay the increased federal taxes if passed? A nonskid, shutter proof doughnut, silk lined, will be presented to the first one sending us the answer to this riddle.

"I'M NOT GOING to worry about where I can get a drink," said Alfalfa Bill Murray in his Labor day address in Chicago, "until I can get work to make enough money to buy a drink." But, governor, if we got beer back, then we would start breweries going again. And if you lost your job as governor and got one in a brewery by the time the beer was malted and bottled you would have enough money to rush the growler.

THE CENSUS BUREAU tells us how many illiterates we now have in these United States. We talked to a guide in Maine, who said he couldn't read or write, and asked him why he didn't get busy at the little Red School House. "'Cause I hain't no boob," said the guide promptly; "you don't have to read no more, you jest lissen in to the radio."

FASHIONS.

Strange fashions which attract the eyes of mortals,
Which lure the mind to lands beyond the seas,
A white burnoose at grim Sahara's portals,
A crimson pareu blowing in the breeze.

The lace mantilla of a Spanish dancer,
The gold brocade of some high mandarin,
Resplendent trappings of a Bengal lancer,
A gown upon a Paris mannequin.

I see amid the haze of time and distance,
Quaint fashions in a never-ending whirl,

IT IS AMAZING how happy New York is that Mayor Jimmie Walker is staying so long in France. Perhaps it is satisfaction in having Jimmie stay so long in one place, and perhaps things go along better in Gotham the farther Jimmie is away from it. Some people down there who do not care for James very much think it would be nice if he built a home in the Himalayan Alps. But it wouldn't make any difference when election time came around. They'd elect him mayor just the same. It's a habit.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

PETROGRAD.—Simultaneous with Emperor Nicholas' assuming command of the Russian armies, the war office announced a big German defeat in Galicia. Besides claiming that they inflicted enormous losses on the Germans, the Russians say they captured thirty guns and took 8,000 prisoners. The engagement took place near Tarnopol, according to the announcement, and resulted in the defeat of two enemy divisions.

LONDON.—The second air raid within 24 hours was made by German Zeppelins shortly after midnight. The official announcement admits that the raiders dropped bombs "in the district of London" and in the east coast counties.

BERLIN.—Germany's note to the United States concerning the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic by a German submarine was communicated to Ambassador James W. Gerard. The note ascribes the destruction of the liner to an act of self-defense, expresses the German government's deep regret that American lives were lost thereby, and offers to refer the questions of reparation and compensation to The Hague tribunal. The note is based on the report of the commander of the submarine, who declares it was engaged in destroying a freighter when the Arabic swung around and headed to the freighter as if to attack the submarine.

CHICAGO.—Thieves working in the millionaire fields of Chicago, Lake Forest, and Highland Park reaped a $200,000 jewel harvest this summer. Detective agencies say the biggest hauls on record in Chicago and its rich suburbs have been made this season. The robbery of Mrs. J. Ogden Armour in her home on South Michigan avenue was the climax of an exceedingly profitable year. Two new suspects were taken into custody in connection with the robbery of Mrs. Armour. She viewed Melville Reeves, the so-called "skyscraper burglar," and declared he was not one of the robbers.

SEPTEMBER 9, 1901.

BUFFALO.—News from President McKinley's bedside was good news throughout the day. A story of distinct improvement in the patient's condition was told. At 9 p. m. the physicians' bulletin said the President is resting comfortably with pulse 130, temperature 101.6, and respiration 30. However, tonight is included in the time fixed by the physicians as critical to the President. If he successfully passes it without loss of strength or the intervention of threatening conditions his ultimate chance of recovery will be increased. The doctors believed, however, that the crisis will not be passed for another 48 hours. The home of John G. Milburn, where the President was taken after he was shot, was quiet tonight and there were few callers. Among them were Senator Hanna and Capt. McWilliams of Chicago. The night is cold and the weather conditions are regarded as favorable to the President. Mrs. McKinley does not know that her husband has been shot.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 9, 1881.

LONG BRANCH, N. J.—Dr. D. W. Bliss stated that there is a great change for the better in the condition of President Garfield and that the change indicates convalescence.

CHICAGO.—The testimony against the Rev. Dr. Hiram W. Thomas at his trial in the Centenary Methodist church on charges of heresy is all in and Dr. Thomas' counsel will begin the introduction of evidence in his defense today. Some of the women witnesses who were members of the Centenary church during Dr. Thomas' pastorate were the chief witnesses against him. Mrs. Marilla E. Garrett said she was at a meeting at which Dr. Thomas' doctrinal teaching was discussed and that he said that he was not sure whether there was a probation after death for the wicked. Another witness said that the pastor doubted Joshua's sun and that he once said that "for Almfghty God to send a soul to eternal punishment was all bosh." Dr. Thomas denied he made the latter statement.

LONDON'S SUPREMACIES.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Some returning American tourists, and also newspaper correspondents, love to rush into print and describe London as a city of slums, enveloped for the greater part of the time in thick yellow fogs.

As a matter of fact, although hoary with age, London has a larger acreage of parks and recreation grounds than New York City and Chicago combined. Its sewerage system fifty years ago was superior to what Chicago's will be twenty years from now. It has more miles of underground railways and subways than there are in the whole of the U. S. A. The bright lights of Broadway, New York, or Michigan avenue, Chicago, are surpassed in a dozen locations in the West End of London.

There are more free hospitals in that city than in the whole U. S. A., and the same goes for free comfort stations. Every street in London is paved in some way and kept in continual repair, and they are swept or washed down at least once a day.

Its slum area is an admitted blot, but the authorities are gradually tearing it out and transplanting its inhabitants in new garden suburbs on the outskirts of the town. The slum area of London is mainly a heritage handed down from the centuries, but witness the slum area of a young city like Chicago. The district west of Wabash to Ashland avenue, from the loop to 63d street, is filthier than the worst slum of London ever knew how to be.

London, without doubt, is the world's greatest as well as the largest city, in spite of its lack of so-called skyscrapers.

THE SLUMS OF MANCHESTER.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—To one who remembers the slums of Manchester, England, as I knew them 50 years ago and the housing schemes adopted to take the place of these slums, particularly since the great war, the progress achieved is remarkable.

If visitors to England will travel a few miles outside the congested areas and examine the thousands of well-built modern bungalows, erected to government specifications on the healthiest sites obtainable, they will realize the remarkable progress England is making.

R. HILTON.

THE MOTHER OF WESTERN UNIVERSITIES.

Kenton, O., Sept. 2.—I wish to dispute the assertion made in your column by Mr. John J. Finlay "that St. Louis university is the oldest west of the Alleghenies." Any one acquainted with the history of Ohio or of the old Northwest Territory knows that Ohio university at Athens, founded in 1804 by an act of the Ohio legislature, and Miami university at Oxford, founded by the legislature in 1809, are the two oldest universities west of the Alleghenies.

The charter for Ohio university was duly passed by the territorial legislature and approved by Arthur St. Clair, the governor of Northwest Territory, Jan. 9, 1802. At that time Ohio was just entering statehood and the university was founded as a state institution Feb. 18, 1804. Ohio university first opened its doors on June 1, 1809, and the first commencement occurred March 3, 1815.

I could furnish more statistics if desired to show that Miami is the second university west of the Alleghenies.

A THREE STARRED SERIES.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—You have done a most praiseworthy act in assigning to James O'Donnell Bennett the task of writing up the salient features of Chicago and its environs.

Bennett's special articles which have been appearing in the Sunday edition of THE TRIBUNE for some months past have been exceptionally well written and factual to a high degree. This series, on completion, if collated in book or pamphlet form would place an ideal Chicago "Baedeker" at the disposal of the many visitors to our mighty and growing mightier city.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—This is the first time I have ever written to you, but I feel that I must tell you how much I appreciate and enjoy the articles written by "Cousin Eve" appearing in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. Having been in Italy a couple of times and seeing a good deal of the country, especially around Rome, Florence, and the watering place of Viareggio, she brings it all vividly back to me in her beautiful and true picture of the country and the people of the higher class in Italy. Her description of life as one of the beautiful Italian linars was also very good and made one wish they were with her.

Chicago District to Get 39.66 Miles, 6 Bridges.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Bids were opened by the highway department today for $7,170,000 worth of road work, and another letting, for $3,276,000 worth of construction, is scheduled for next Tuesday. The $10,446,000 contracts will furnish employment directly to approximately 6,500 men, on a pay roll totaling $4,275,000, and will furnish work for about the same number indirectly.

FRANK T. SHEETS.

Chief Highway Engineer Frank Sheets announced that the contracts would be awarded promptly and that the contractors would be required to start work immediately and to continue construction into the winter as much as possible so as to reduce unemployment.

In the Chicago District.

The metropolitan area projects, all in today's letting, consist of 39.66 miles of pavement and six bridge estimated to cost $3,353,000 and to employ 1,150 men with a pay roll of $1,600,000. The jobs include the much needed grade separation at North avenue and Lake street in Elmhurst and the huge span for Mannheim road over the Des Plaines river, the sanitary and I. and M. canals and railroad tracks near Justice, Ill.

The bids were opened without being blocked by any blanket protest under the prevailing wage act as was feared by Director Cleaveland of the department of public works since the act permits any ten taxpayers, responsible or otherwise, to obstruct public improvements with protests against minimum wage rates listed in the advertisements for bids. The $10,446,000 worth of road work has been delayed since July by protests brought by a group of union labor officials headed by R. G. Soderstrom, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

Other Metropolitan Projects.

Lake street—Gap at Ontarioville.

Employed Indirectly.

In addition to the 6,550 men to be employed on this delayed road building program, there will be approximately as many more engaged in the preparation and delivery of material and supplies, not to mention the indirect benefits of releasing pay rolls totaling $4,275,000. The Mannheim road span, for example, will require 4,041 tons of steel and 10,305 cubic yards of concrete.

In the relation between the volume of work in these September lettings in the metropolitan area to the projects downstate, the state gave the usual preponderance to the hinterland. Even with the Mannheim road job, which by itself will cost approximately $1,000,000 when completed, Chicagoland, which pays more than half the state's total road bill, will receive only about a third of the expenditures on improvements.

In the volume of improvements there is an even greater discrepancy, due mainly to the higher cost of labor in the metropolitan area. Downstate will receive 132 miles of pavement, 79.3 miles of grading, and 32 bridges.

The difference in wage rates also is the main reason for the fact that 5,400 men will be employed downstate on the September projects as compared with the 1,150 who will get jobs in the metropolitan area.

In the contractors' protest against the high wage scale in Madison and St. Clair counties, the Madison paving project is the same one cited by a taxpayers' injunction suit seeking to nullify the wage law. The suit, charging that the wage act is unconstitutional because, among other reasons, inflated wages on public construction cheat the taxpayers who pay the bill, is scheduled for trial in the Circuit court here on Sept. 16.

MEXICAN LABORER KILLS SHERIFF; DEFIES CROWD UNTIL SLAIN

Granada, Minn., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Nicolas Rodriguez was shot fatally today a few hours after he killed Sheriff Gust Jorgenson. The double shooting, which took place as the sheriff arrived at a farm near here to arrest Rodriguez after reports he was disturbing the peace.

Mrs. Rodriguez, members of the Roy Fygman family said, on whose farm her husband was a Mexican sugar beet worker, fled as the sheriff fell, victim of the only shot Rodriguez fired before he barricaded himself in the small hut in which he lived.

Rodriguez, from his shack, held at bay more than 300 persons. Finally tear gas was shot into the structure and, half blinded, he rushed out.

Physicians said he was struck by at least 30 shots, fired from the crowd, including national guard members summoned as private citizens.

PROPOSED DEAL FOR YANK WHEAT STIRS GERMANY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—Reports current in Berlin today that Germany had contracted to take 7,000,000 bushels of wheat from the American farm board have not yet been confirmed. The deal was criticised in agricultural circles here who assert that Canadian and Argentine wheat is more suitable for German requirements because it contains more glucose. The opportunity was also seized to emphasize the fact that Germany must make herself independent of foreign supplies.

Another Berlin dispatch said the wheat deal had been completed by the German central agricultural chamber, but farm board officials in Washington denied receipt of any German offer.

Los Angeles Poison Liquor Kills Four, Fells 8 Others

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Eight celebrants of Los Angeles fiesta week holiday were given emergency treatment for drinking poison liquor and denatured alcohol, according to records at police hospital yesterday. Three men died last Thursday and one woman Friday from poison liquor.

LEGISLATURE IN TEXAS MEETS TO RESCUE COTTON

Governor Leaves Problem with Lawmakers.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 8.—(AP)—With the eyes on the entire south upon them, the lawmakers of Texas met in extraordinary session today to attempt to put king cotton back on his throne.

ROSS S. STERLING.

Arbitrary reduction of cotton planting next year by statute, on a basis which could be followed by the other cotton growing states, was the formula presented by Gov. R. S. Sterling.

With prices down nearly a nickel a pound, and the government crop report forecasting a yield of 15,685,000 bales this year, the governor exhorted the legislators to "light the way for the southland out of the darkness that now engulfs it."

Massmeeting Tonight.

Other cotton states, except Louisiana, which has passed a bill to prevent any cotton planting in 1932 conditional upon similar action of other commonwealths, today awaited the outcome in Texas.

Thousands of farmers flocked into the state capital today to press for action by the legislators. A massmeeting is planned for tomorrow night.

The first cotton bill of the legislative calendar was the plan sponsored by Gov. Long of Louisiana embodied in a bill introduced by Representative Victor Gilbert of Cisco. Representative Gordon M. Burns of Huntsville introduced a bill calling for 50 per cent reduction in acreage. Several other bills were in preparation both in the house and senate, although the upper house spent the afternoon in organization.

Advocates of the acreage reduction plan predict immediate strengthening of the cotton market in anticipation of a reduction in the surplus when all the cotton states get together on a curtailment program. They advocate swift action while this year's crop is still in the hands of the growers, so that the producer will reap the expected profit.

Long "Can't Come."

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Gov. Huey P. Long tonight said he would be unable to attend a cotton relief massmeeting tomorrow night in Austin, Tex. The reason, he said, was Lieut. Gov. Paul Cyr's refusal to sign a promise that he would not attempt to act as governor or take the gubernatorial oath of office during Long's absence. Gov. Long said he would be personally represented by O. K. Allen, chairman of the Louisiana highway commission. The governor spoke here tonight on his plan for cotton legislation.

Owner of North Side Cafe Is Held on Liquor Charge

Carl Egartner, proprietor of the Edgecomb café, 4021 Broadway, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $1,000 by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. He was charged with violation of the national prohibition law. Detectives of the state's attorney's office reported that Capt. Hugh McCarthy of the Town Hall police station was in the café with a blond woman at the time a raid was made several weeks ago.

ADMITS KILLING STUDENT HIKER WHO ASKED RIDE

Denver, Col., Sept. 8.—(AP)—John Markham, 21 year old self-styled Illinois gangster, confessed to Chief of Police Albert T. Clark today he killed Stanley M. Moore, 21, student at the Michigan College of Mines, whom he had picked up as a hitch hiker.

Markham told Clark, Moore became suspicious the automobile in which they were riding had been stolen, and added:

"Why shouldn't I have killed him? He was going to turn me in."

Clark said Markham confessed he killed Moore on a lonely road near Holyoke, Col., but denied any knowledge of the slaying of Cecil Pruitt, alias Lyal Berry, in Kansas City. In today's statement Markham repudiated an earlier admission in which he asserted a Chicago gangster with whom he was traveling killed both the student and Pruitt.

Pruitt's body was discovered Sunday behind a Kansas City pool hall, located near a garage from which Markham admitted he stole a $4,000 automobile for his trip to Denver. Clark said he was convinced Markham was alone at the time Moore was slain, but believes he had two companions when he stole the automobile. Clark said he had been advised witnesses saw Markham drive out of the Kansas City garage with two companions.

Markham was arrested when he entered his hotel room early this morning. Clark said he attempted to draw a pistol on the officers who arrested him, but the revolver was taken away from him before he could use it.

In his statement Markham said that after stealing the car in Kansas City, Kas., Sunday morning, he drove to Omaha and from there to Lincoln, Neb. Near Lincoln he picked up Moore, and on the trip west Moore became suspicious that the car was stolen and threatened to "turn him in."

Clark said Markham told him he had driven cars for Chicago gangsters and had seen numerous slayings there.

a little at a time

. . . so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . a little at a time.

• • •

Roasting can make or spoil the flavor of coffee. You don't get a uniform taste, if all berries aren't done exactly alike. And such exactness is impossible, with ordinary, bulk-roasting methods.

Hills Bros. roast a little at a time. The wonderful, rare blend passes through the roasters evenly, continuously—under exact control. Time, temperature, and degree of roast do not vary! Naturally, the flavor never varies, either! You could never find any difference in tons of Hills Bros. Coffee.

Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh too. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of Hills Bros.' vacuum cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. comes to you in its full flavor, no matter when or where you buy it!

You must try a cup of Hills Bros. Coffee to appreciate the finer flavor Controlled Roasting makes. And with each savory sip, remember—Hills Bros. Coffee is always that good! Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

JUDGE HANDLES 400 AUTO CASES IN FIVE HOURS

Many Face Padden in New Traffic Court.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Speedy justice was dispensed to speeders yesterday as Judge Frank M. Padden inaugurated the reorganized Traffic court at Eleventh and State streets. The new court will hear all the traffic cases in the city, including those of various park districts.

At 9 o'clock the judge took the bench, sniffed appreciatively at the huge basket of flowers presented by attaches of the court, and dug into the lengthy call on the desk before him. At 2 o'clock, when he stopped for lunch, nearly 400 cases had been disposed of, either by dismissal, postponement for jury trials, fines or, in the failure of the defendants to appear, the order of arrest warrants.

A couple of hundred motorists are due to discover today that the prosecution of traffic violation charges is going to be different.

"Fix-Proof" Tickets Issued.

There is, primarily, the fact that tickets issued for traffic violations from now on will be as nearly "fix proof" as they can be made. Formerly it was merely a case of accepting a ticket from a patrolman and if you could manage to prevent the police station duplicate from appearing in court nothing ever came of it.

Now it isn't going to be so simple to "see a friend about it." For the slips are issued in triplicate. One goes to the offender. Two go to the court clerk, from which a record is made for the use of the judge. Each slip is plainly numbered, and each stub in the policemen's empty book will be compared with the court record, necessitating accounting for every slip.

This method will bring into court every person summoned, to have his case tried on its merits. It does not mean, Judge Padden explained, that every ticket issued will mean a fine, but it does insure respect for the summons.

75 Per Cent Ignore Tickets.

Yesterday nearly 75 per cent of the defendants were found to have ignored tickets received. Silence followed the calling of one name after another as bailiffs read down the lists. But if anybody has the idea that that ends it, he's mistaken.

Judge Padden grasped his pencil. He wrote "warrant" after each of those names of absent motorists. And every one of the laggards will be haled into court to show cause why he should not have appeared, and what the circumstances of the case really are.

"Naturally we don't mean to impose a fine just for neglect in answering these summons," Judge Padden commented, "but the fact that a warrant must be issued isn't going to help these folks, either. Maybe it won't increase their possible penalties. But you can be certain it isn't going to reduce them any."

Before long Chicagoans will begin to understand that the new system means business, Judge Padden believes, and it will not be necessary to issue many warrants.

Show City License Receipts.

Scores of motorists, called to answer for their lack of a city license sticker, proved by their receipts that they had been applied for, had been lost in the mails, or that they had been out of town with no opportunity to obtain them. These were freed after brief examination of their proofs.

Unexplained delays in applying for the stickers, however, usually ended in the culprit being fined for delay in applying for the stickers. Other fines were imposed in speeding cases, for ...gligence in the matter of loose brakes, running past traffic signals, and for similar offenses.

Concentrating the traffic cases in one court instead of scattering them over a number of courts is the only efficient method of systematizing the procedure, Judge Padden believes. He declared yesterday that when it gets into its stride, this court not only should reduce traffic accidents and the death toll, but should bring a revenue of about $100,000 in fines to the city annually.

"And if but one life is saved, it will be worth while," he said as he left the bench at the end of his initial day.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Moving Day

STRAY BULLETS OF POLICE STRIKE TWO BOYS AT HIGH SCHOOL

Two boys received flesh wounds in their legs yesterday from stray bullets as Detectives Thomas Nilo and Joseph Keating, attached to the state's attorney's office, pursued a car carrying three young bandits past McKinley High school, at 2040 West Adams street.

The wounded boys are Michael Natalie, 18 years old, 924 Sholto street, and Frank McBride, 16 years old, colored, 1932 Taylor street, a member of the high school football team. Natalie was graduated from the school in June, and had returned on the opening day to visit friends.

The bandits, a short time before the shooting, held up a newspaper agency at 2150 5th avenue and took a number of baseball bats, gloves and skates, intended for premiums for boy carriers, from Phillip Goldstein, the manager. The detectives later recognized the bandit car from a description furnished by Goldstein, and pursued it past the high school.

YOUNG DRIVER IS ACCUSED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Chicagoan Held in Appleton Crash.

Seaborn T. Whatley Jr., 18 years old, son of the general agent for the Aetna Life Insurance company, was charged with fourth degree manslaughter in Appleton, Wis., yesterday. The youth was the driver of an automobile which crashed into another car near there a week ago and four persons were killed.

The victims were three Wisconsin residents and William Marsh, 17 years old, son of John P. Marsh, an investment broker, who was riding with Whatley. The two boys, with Sheldon White of the Moraine hotel, Highland Park, who escaped with minor injuries, were driving from Chicago to the White summer home at Three Lakes when the accident occurred.

Killed as Auto Upsets.

Mrs. Mary Caponero, 36 years old, 2008 West Polk street, died in an Elgin hospital yesterday after an accident on route 61 near Crystal Lake earlier in the day. The car in which she was riding with her husband, Sam, their three children, and two other persons, overturned in a ditch. No one else was injured.

Fred Norman, 40 years old, 4414 Fulton street, was fatally injured yesterday when his automobile collided headon with a truck on Waukegan road west of Lake Forest. Witnesses said that he had headed into the truck rather than crash into the automobile of Miss Lucille Schuster, 18 years old, 1103 North Dearborn street, whose sedan was passing the truck.

Girl Driver Is Held.

After the crash the truck swerved against Miss Schuster's car, forcing it into the ditch. She was held by the Lake Forest police under $1,000 bail, charged with involuntary manslaughter.

Four auto deaths in Cook county yesterday increased the toll since Jan. 1 to 830. The victims:

Sarah Jane Huguenin, 7 years old, 905 Valley road, Glencoe. Died in the Evanston hospital. She was one of eleven persons injured in a quadruple automobile crash in Waukegan road north of Techny Monday night.

Dolores Dialos, 6 years old, 3744 Exchange avenue. Died in the South Chicago hospital from injuries suffered when struck at 81st and Exchange avenue. The driver, Dr. Carl Furness, 2537 East 75th street, was held.

An unidentified man about 75 years old. Killed at Randolph and Ada streets when run down by the auto of Thomas Olaridge, who was held. The victim was about five feet ten inches in height, with gray hair and mustache. He wore a brown coat, gray trousers, and a blue work shirt.

Mrs. Elizabeth Willis, 50 years old, of Chicago was killed, and two other Chicago women, relatives, were injured yesterday when the sedan in which they were riding overturned in a ditch near Coldwater, Mich. Mrs. Willis' address was not learned. The others were Miss Dawn Henley, who lived with Mrs. Willis and Miss Bertha Henley, 3543 Vincennes avenue.

U. S. CLOSNG IN ON $20,000,000 BAND OF ALIEN SMUGGLERS

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The existence of a country-wide federal drive against "notorious racketeers" accused of smuggling at least 8,000 aliens into the United States in recent years became known today following the arraignment of two men at the federal building.

Although officials here refused to name the men sought, it was learned that part of the government's investigation centers in the Chicago territory of Al Capone. New York authorities admitted the department of justice and the department of labor have been prosecuting the inquiry for six months, making nineteen arrests to date in the metropolitan area. From $200 to $5,000 was exacted from each alien smuggled, it was said, making a total of $20,800,000 collected from the 8,000 aliens at an average figure of $2,600.

CHICAGO FLYER INJURED IN OHIO ACCIDENT DIES

Edward Grayson Hall, 45 years old, 7943 Kedvale avenue, Niles Center, who was injured in an airplane crash at Youngstown, O., on Sunday as he was flying to the air races at Cleveland, died late last night at St. Elizabeth's hospital in Youngstown. His wife, Mrs. Margaref Gannon Hall, who went to Youngstown on receiving word of the accident, was with him when he died.

Mr. Hall was communication engineer for the Chicago Rapid Transit company, the North Shore line, and the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin line. He was born on Nov. 20, 1885, at Burke's Garden, Va., and was educated at Blacksburg Polytechnical institute at Blacksburg, Va. He was first employed by the elevated lines in 1908 as chief electrician in the electrical department and was made communication engineer in 1927.

Mr. Hall was flying alone on the way to the air races at Cleveland when his plane plunged to the ground in a cemetery near Youngstown.

Speaker Shanahan Guest at Office Building Party

INDICTED ON FRAUD CHARGE.

Charges against George J. Gusse, 2422 Greenleaf avenue, accused of defrauding real estate investors of $15,000, were nol prossed yesterday in Felony court when it was learned the grand jury had indicted him.

KIN OF ERBSTEIN STRICKEN WITH RARE DISEASE

Valentine B. King of Elgin, a brother-in-law of the late Charles E. Erbstein, Chicago lawyer, is in the Chicago General hospital suffering from agranulocytosis, it was learned last night.

The same comparatively rare ailment, characterized by the destruction of white corpuscles in the blood, within the last few months caused the death of Mrs. Lillian Caldwell, wife of School Trustee H. Wallace Caldwell, and Mrs. Nancy Hatton, wife of Prof. A. R. Hatton of Northwestern university.

King, since Erbstein's death, has been manager of the Purple Grackle café on the estate three miles from Elgin belonging to Mrs. Olivia Erbstein, widow of the lawyer, and his sister. He became ill two weeks ago. His case was first diagnosed as quinay, then as diphtheria, and finally after a conference of doctors at a clinic in Elgin, as agranulocytosis.

King was then removed to the Chicago General hospital, where he is under the care of Dr. Peter S. Clark and a group of specialists. In addition to the serum, which was used without avail in the attempt to save Mrs. Caldwell, radium treatments are being used. King was reported somewhat improved last night, although still in a serious condition.

Mrs. Andrew Nelson, 4103 North Overhill avenue, Norwood Park, mother of six children, faces almost certain death from Addison's disease, a rare malady, unless a special adrenal gland compound is procured for her soon, according to her physician, Dr. Richard Torpin. Mrs. Nelson was on the verge of death a week ago and barely survived, and the doctor last night said another relapse would probably prove fatal.

Dr. Torpin has appealed to the county hospital and the University of Chicago, but has been unable to obtain the needed gland compound to prolong the woman's life. He has broadcast an appeal to other cities.

DELAY INQUEST IN MYSTERIOUS SLAYING OF GIRL

The inquest into the fatal shooting of Evelyn Danielson, 22 years old, beauty operator found dead with three bullet wounds on Monday in the apartment of Patrick Gavin, 41 years old, 6251 Blackstone avenue, former city plumbing inspector and professional football player, was continued yesterday to Sept. 15 by Deputy Coroner Jacob Schewel.

Only two witnesses were heard, the slain girl's mother, Mrs. Minnie Danielson, 7305 Dorchester avenue, and Miss Evangeline Toscas, 4824 West Harrison street, a friend.

Gavin is being held without a formal charge. Police last night were seeking a man known only as "Harry" who was with Gavin and Miss Danielson Sunday night. Neither Gavin, Mrs. Danielson, or Miss Toscas could remember his name or give an accurate description. Attorneys for Gavin stated that several other witnesses would be called.

PROBE CASE OF CONVICTED HEAD OF DIPLOMA MILL

An investigation of the case of W. H. H. Miller, who was head of the state department of education and registration when Len Small was governor, was started by the state's attorney's office yesterday at the request of the Chicago crime commission. Miller was convicted of being the head of a diploma mill and so far as the Criminal court records disclose he has not given bail pending his appeal. Nevertheless, he is not held in jail.

Miller was indicted early in 1929 as the head of a ring which sold dentists' and physicians' diplomas to scores of men, not qualified to practice in either profession. He was tried and sentenced in December, 1929, to seven months in the county jail and fined $2,000.

The case was appealed and oral arguments are scheduled to be heard in the Appellate court at the October term. If the Appellate court should decide against Miller he could still appeal to the state Supreme court.

MARCUS—Evelyn Neuman Marcus. In memory of our beloved daughter, who passed away Sept. 9, 1928.
"Only to see your face again,
Or to hear you speak,
Only to see your smile again,
Only to kiss your cheek.
We think of you in silence,
No one can see us weep;
But many a silent tear we shed,
When others are asleep."
BROKENHEARTED MOTHER AND DAD.

Horatio Nelson Lover, Fighter Depicted Again

He's Contrasted with the "Iron Duke."

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Nelson," by Clennel Wilkinson [Longmans Green]. Published today.

THE second biography of Nelson to be published in America within four months comes off the press today. It is called merely "Nelson."

The one published in June was called "Nelson, Man and Admiral." It was a translation of the first book in German by Friedrich M. Kircheisen, dealing with the great English naval hero. There was much about Nelson the man in it, a great deal more than Mr. Wilkinson puts into his biography. Mr. Wilkinson rather takes for granted that the world knows too much about the Nelson-Lady Hamilton affair and he concentrates on the less widely published details of Nelson's career.

He begins his book with the popular comparison of Nelson and Wellington —"it seems quite impossible to discuss the character of Lord Nelson without comparing it at almost every point with that of the duke of Wellington. An essay on Nelson becomes almost before you are aware of it, as much an essay on Wellington. [Prof. Kircheisen in "Nelson, Man and Admiral" compared Nelson to Napoleon. Nelson was "the counterpart on the sea of the great general on land," he says, and points out their strange likeness.] "Modern critics seldom mention one without the other," Mr. Wilkinson goes on to say. And then he states with great clarity and without too much elaboration why that is so. It is because the contrast, not the likeness between them, is "curiously, almost humorously, complete," he says.

"We remember the feminine strain in Nelson's character, as compared with Wellington's uncompromising masculinity. Nelson always was delicate, but neglected his health; Wellington was robust, but was careful of his . . . Nelson loved medals and magnificence, but dressed very carelessly; Wellington despised medals, but dressed with scrupulous care. Small things, but significant. Nelson, as a young man, fell frequently in love, and he remained a romantic lover to the end. Wellington seems to have taken women as he found them. . . . the cynicism of Napoleon and the gallantries of Nelson were equally foreign to him. And as in love, so in war. Wellington the realist disliked the bloody business; Nelson saw it as a crusade. Nelson loved and idealized his men; Wellington despised his and all so. . . . And as the final and most striking contrast there is the well known difference in their methods of fighting. Nelson always attacked . . . Wellington preferred to stand on the defensive . . . they have stamped forever on England fighting services the impress of their strongly divergent temperaments.

Mr. Wilkinson goes further into the discussion of the differences between Wellington and the hero of his biography, during which he takes issue with something that George Bernard Shaw says about them in "John Bull's Other Island." "Mr. Shaw's weakness," he writes, "his typical Irish weakness is that he can appreciate only the more obvious kind of stage effect; which may be one explanation of his resounding success as a playwright."

The biography is concerned with the stage effects of Nelson's life, although to his biographer those stage effects were unconscious rather than ostentious. The author finds Nelson spectacular but not making an effort to be so. He sees Lady Hamilton as an adventuress, but of the love of Nelson and the beautiful Emma he writes, "It is plain that the love of these two people was a great and beautiful thing, dignifying them both by its depth and strength."

Mr. Wilkinson describes briefly the death of Nelson, an occasion which, once a couple of months ago, will never be the same to me. Before then it was an historic event. Since then it has become an intensely human experience. I was motoring in the south of England with Miss Clara Laughlin, author of "So You're Going to England" and other "So You're Going" books. We were near Portsmouth and we went over there to see the Victory, the last boat of which Nelson had command and the boat on which he died at the battle of Trafalgar. It has been restored and a bright little midshipman shows you around, warning you at every step to "watch the head." Sailors of the period were all stoop-shouldered from the low beams—you meet those stooped shoulders in the literature of the period.

It was the spot where Nelson died that will remain vivid forever in my memory, though. Down in the bowels of the ship, on a deck little higher than a boy's shoulders, he was carried to the spot where the wounded and dying were laid in rows on the rough boards of the floor. He was propped against the side of the boat and the ship's surgeon did his work in the light of a lamp so feeble that you shudder as you look at its waverings flame. (They turn out the electric lights and leave you in the semi-darkness in which all of the wounded were forced to live—or die.)

Nelson came so alive there as we stood beside his death-bed—Nelson and his whole period, with its lack of almost everything that, only a hundred and twenty-five years later, we feel are the bare necessities of human life. Stand on that uncomfortable spot, go to the George inn and see the room in which Nelson spent his last night on land, walk across the hall and look upon Emma's more elaborate bedroom—ghosts walk in Portsmouth, ghosts called up successfully by two biographers within four months.

Good morning!

A small boy crawling on all fours, peers around a beach umbrella that shelters an embracing couple. He surveys the two intently for a moment, rises, turns and shrieks to an unseen listener: "Maw-maw, it ain't Daddy!" —and brings down the house! Sure enough, it IS the little things that count!

The above mentioned incident is one of a number of clever interpolations which elevate above the level of the usual the old yarn of two pals whose friendship is almost split up forever by a fair, false woman. From his indifferent story material and able players the director has extracted every ounce of goodness.

The pals mentioned are divers. Employed by a salvage company. The younger's like a son to the elder who has saved the former's life and loved and guarded him like a daddy. Then, along comes this blonde!

But God, according to custom, works in a mysterious way and, eventually performs a wonder.

Richard Cromwell—the chap you all took such a liking to in "Tol'able David"—does a finely sensitive bit of acting as the younger buddy. Jack Holt plays true to his usual excellent form in the rôle of Tim Burke, the elder. Loretta Sayers impersonates the blonde Myra as one who knows her hussies and other parts are tidily taken care of.

"Fifty Fathoms Deep" is worth seeing—because acting and direction invest a timeworn plot with interest and make it seem almost new.

Negro Benefit Concert Is Set for Sept. 22 at Soldiers' Field

The Negro jubilee and concert for the benefit of the unemployed, to be held the evening of Sept. 22, has been transferred from the White Sox baseball park to Soldiers' field. This was announced yesterday by Congressman Oscar De Priest, chairman of the committee in charge of the affair. The cost of arranging adequate lighting at the ball park made it impossible to accept the offer of the park made by Charles A. Comiskey, its owner.

A chorus of a thousand voices, which will sing spirituals at the concert, is holding rehearsals three times a week. A number of Negro stage and radio artists have been invited to participate.

The proceeds of the concert will be turned over to the governor's commission for the relief of the unemployed.

BOTH FILM STARS

CONNIE LEWIS. LOIS WILSON.

MOVIE SISTERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Connie Lewis, second and youngest sister of Lois Wilson, is following the steps of her better known sisters, Lois and Diane Kane [Mrs. George Fitzmaurice] toward a film career.

Her identity hidden under the name of Lewis, she is playing a featured bit in one of the "Torchy" comedy series directed and produced by C. C. Burr. Miss Lewis didn't want to try to advance herself in pictures as a sister of Lois Wilson.

She was graduated from Hollywood High school several years ago and married George Lewis, a former Annapolis student. They were divorced about two years ago.

Her picture start is owed to Diane Kane, a sister, who formerly worked for Burr in the films in Florida. She phoned Burr from a Hollywood hospital, where she became a mother recently, and recommended her younger sister. Burr thereupon gave Miss Lewis [whose real name is Constance Wilson Lewis] a trial and made her a leading woman. She generally plays the part of a piquant, but somewhat tough, flapper. Her first film appearance was with Dorothy Mackaill and Milton Sills in "The Barker," that hit of the early talkie era two years ago.

World's Fair Stamps Ready for Use on the Chicagoan's Mail

Official stamps to publicize the 1933 World's Fair in Chicago were on sale by the millions yesterday at the cashier's office of A Century of Progress in the administration building at the replica of old Fort Dearborn. In the exposition colors of silver and blue, the official stamp bears the symbolical design of the world speeding along the ascending spiral of progress.

The stamps are to be used on envelopes and letterheads to herald the coming exposition. They are sold at a minimum price, just enough to pay the cost, according to the fair officials.

At the same time exposition officials declared that numerous complaints had been made that other stamps had been on sale by a concern which has no affiliation with the World's Fair. The complainants said that salesmen for the firm had represented that the money from these stamps would be used to aid the fair.

Concerning the silver and blue stamps, Attorney Thomas H. Slusser, counsel for the exposition, asserted: "These are the only official stamps of A Century of Progress and the exposition is not directly or indirectly interested, financially or otherwise, in the manufacture or distribution of any other form of stamps."

Ring Lardner Better; Writing Comedy as Part of His Cure

New York, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Unable to suppress his humor even in a hospital, Ring Lardner was busy working on a musical comedy today while convalescing from a nervous breakdown. Dr. Cornelius J. Tyson said today the humorist was winning his fight against "obstinate insomnia" and "lack of appetite," and he probably would be able to leave the hospital in a few weeks.

Dr. Tyson said Lardner had lost between thirty and forty pounds during his illness, but in the last week had regained six. He said he had permitted the author to use his typewriter intermittently "because he isn't happy unless he's working."

Back to Home, Lawyer Says to U. S. Women

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The current business depression may result in woman's return to domesticity, and if so, women will not regret the slump, Miss Mary Lathrop predicted on a short stop in Chicago last night. Miss Lathrop, a pioneer among women in law, and first of her sex to be a member of the American Bar association, was on her way from her home in Denver to Atlantic City to attend a convention of the association.

"Women went to work, because of economic necessity," Miss Lathrop said in her room in the Stevens hotel. "I remember my mother telling about how dreadful it was during the civil war to see women having to be thrust into the business world—selling goods in stores and working in restaurants. Of course, in the last war there was even greater need for women's work.

"Now that need no longer exists, if there are thousands of men out of jobs. It is not unlikely jobs will be taken from women and given to men. In that instance, women can go back to the homes—where they would have been all the time if they had had their way about it.

"There is a natural homing instinct in women," Miss Lathrop added. "Why shouldn't there be, when it's been built up for generations?

"The successful woman executive has her apartment, and she has servants. But she sees that they do things as she wants them done. She herself rearranges the placing of a vase or picture. And the girl who makes $18 a week goes home at night and sews on curtains for her room.

"Women will be much happier if the system will revert to old standards and they will be taken care of. Men will like it better, too. A man cannot be the head of his family when his wife works. The children certainly will be better off. The woman who lives this high tension keyed up life, who is a success in her work, becomes a nervous wreck, and then, when she does take the time to have children, they're little nervous wrecks."

Miss Lathrop, who engages in active practice in Denver, seeing from 30 to 50 persons a day, gives an annual dinner for the most distinguished members of the American Bar association, who are her friends. Her white hair piled high, her brown eyes snapping, she is known as a match for the wittiest of the men lawyers.

Her first job she obtained when she was 19, five years after her father died, and at the time she and her mother lost $350,000 in a bank failure.

"I never had turned down a bed until that time," she said. "But I didn't know how little I knew, and I went to the editor of the Philadelphia Press, and asked him for a job. He told me to get married, I remember. But he gave me a job.

"In a year I went to New York with S. S. McClure's syndicate and then I traveled throughout the west. Women journalists in the west were unknown and women were surprised when they found I was respectable."

As a child, Miss Lathrop said, she used to visit a great-aunt and uncle in Hartford, Conn., each summer, her most prized friend being Mark Twain.

"Harriet Beecher Stowe," she said, "and Charles Dudley Warner also were there. I did not take to either of them then, though I afterwards knew Mr. Warner as a charming man. We children used to go over to Mr. Clemens' home when we were asked and he talked to us very seriously, as if we were his comrades, while he stroked one of his two kittens.

"Mrs. Clemens I remember as a domestic woman, very pretty, with beautiful eyes. She was most cheerful, and she bubbled affectionately with us children. He didn't. He was reserved—but so kind and interesting, that we knew he was really a friend."

THE STAGE

THE theater managers have shaken off their summer lethargy, and announcements of new plays and musical shows for the Chicago stage are popping like firecrackers at a Chinese funeral. For example:

The Dramatic League of Chicago sends word that its third subscription season will begin at the Harris theater, Oct. 5 with "The Venetian," which was written by Clifford Bax and had a season's run in London. The cast will include Wilfrid Walter, formerly leading man with the Stratford-upon-Avon Shakespeare company. Furthermore, the Dramatic League states that its subscribers will be "privileges" during the engagement of "The Silent Witness," with Lionel Atwill, which will begin at the Selwyn Sept. 28.

The Grand Opera house will open Sept. 27 with "You Said It," a musical comedy with Lou Holtz as star and Lyda Roberti as his chief assistant. The cast will also include Stanley Smith and June O'Dea.

Sunday night, Oct. 4, will bring two Broadway musical shows to Randolph street. They are "Girl Crazy," scheduled for the Garrick, and "Billy Rose's Revue," for the Apollo. The cast for the former will include Benny Rubin, Bernard Granville, Blossom Seeley, Benny Fields, Frances Upton, Flavia Vestoff, and Patricia Garrity. Mr. Rose's revue, which is a blend of the shows known in New York as "Crazy Quilt" and "Sweet and Low," will have Phil Baker, Fannie Brice and Ted Healy as its stars.

"In the Best of Families" is still another entry. It is a comedy, with Grace Filkins and Burford Hampden in the leading rôles. Its première has been fixed for Sept. 28 at one of the theaters under Shubert management.

Walker Whiteside has developed a habit of starting his tours in Chicago early in the fall and he sees no reason why he should swear off. He will begin an engagement at the Blackstone theater on either Sept. 28 or Oct. 5 with a play that has borne two titles—"Cape Forlorn" and "Three Men and a Woman."

Frank Harvey, an English playwright, is its author, and its story deals with a lighthouse tender on a lonely reef off the coast of New Zealand. Mr. Whiteside gave the play experimental staging in San Francisco about a month ago. His propagandist states that the reviewers compared the work to "Rain," "White Cargo," "Anna Christie" and "Desire Under the Elms." Which proves nothing except that the San Francisco journalists are rapid-fire comparers.

"Stepping Sisters," now in its twenty-sixth week at the Blackstone, will remain there until Mr. Whiteside arrives. Then it may be moved to another Chicago theater; if no empty stage can be found it will be sent on tour. Beverly Younger is now acting Joan Blair's role. C. C.

School for Newer Mothers Starts Friday at Lying-in Hospital

Expectant mothers will start going to school on Friday to learn the essentials of pre-natal and baby hygiene. Classes will be held at the Chicago Lying-In hospital at the University of Chicago. Miss Miriam Ames, executive director of the Hourly Nursing Service, will conduct the classes.

Miss Ames explained yesterday why the Hourly Nursing service is instituting the classes at the hospital. She pointed out that by attending the classes mothers should secure the minimum of mental and physical discomfort and the maximum fitness for the birth of the child as well as the knowledge of how to care for the baby.

"It is known that many deaths of both mothers and babies are due to preventable causes and it is thought that instruction given to the patient by her physician, and supplemented by these classes will materially aid in holding down the mortality rate," Miss Ames said.

"Some time ago one of our nurses was called to a patient's home to bathe a baby," Miss Ames continued. "The mother and the new baby had been home from the hospital for three days. The baby had not had a bath because the mother lacked the strength and courage for the undertaking. The nurse was able in three visits to give the mother the confidence she needed to care for the baby herself."

GERMANS NAME ROSE FOR MRS. SACKETT, AMBASSADOR'S WIFE

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—The newest rose German flower magicians have given to the world will commemorate the German affection for Ambassador and Mrs. Sackett. It will be known as the Mrs. Olive Sackett rose. That rose is a cross between pink and vermilion, with delicate curling petals, hardy and easily grown.

Schools Open; Teachers Still Paid in Scrip

But Registry Work Is Quickly Done.

Exceeding all expectations for first day attendance, 441,258 children trooped into Chicago's 330 public schools yesterday. Despite its size, the registration was accomplished with unusual dispatch, according to Supt. Bogan. He characterized it the "smoothest" opening day in his experience. Additional registrations during the remainder of the week are expected to boost the total attendance to more than 500,000 students.

Figures compiled by the school principals following yesterday's work show the following distribution of enrollment: Elementary schools, 312,793; junior high schools, 87,591; senior high schools, 37,784; normal college, 1,127; Crane college, 850; prevocational schools, 1,113.

The junior high schools and the senior high schools showed gains of 8,000 and 10,000, respectively, over the first day figures for last year.

An additional 200,000 students returned to their desks in the parochial schools.

In contrast to the increase in attendance was the noticeable decrease in applications for permits to attend school on a part time schedule in order to work. Scarcity of jobs was the cause assigned by the superintendent.

Financial stringency did not depress the spirit of Chicago's 14,000 teachers. Although they have not been paid, except by scrip, since April, district superintendents reported them everywhere enthusiastic for their work.

A minimum of complaints and minor irritations in the registration of the school throngs was the reward of hard work and careful planning by school officials through the summer, Supt. Bogan said. He took no vacation and was at his desk every day, except during his attendance at a convention of the National Education association in Los Angeles?

Seat shortage is serious. With the additional registrations expected during the remainder of the week, more than 62,000 children will be confronted with irregular and inadequate accommodations. Some relief had been expected through the opening of the addition to the Senn High school, the new Steinmetz Senior High school, and the Smyser Elementary school, but lack of funds prevented their completion in time for the opening of the school year.

For the present free lunches will not be served in the schools, according to Miss Frances L. Swain, director of home economics. An effort is being made to coördinate the efforts at free lunch service with the regularly organized relief agencies, she said.

Late afternoon saw a stampede for scrip at the office of the board of education in the Steuben building. The rush, as he explained by some of the teachers who crowded the 17th floor office of Charles E. Gilbert, secretary of the board of education, followed their learning from other teachers at school where and how the scrip could be used. President Lewis E. Myers of the school board said that approximately 7 million dollars' worth of scrip has been applied for.

Business Manager Ernest Withall returned to his office yesterday following an absence of three weeks occasioned by illness. The school board will meet this afternoon.

The schools in Morton Grove and Niles Center opened yesterday, but those in some other suburbs will not begin sessions until later this month. The Glencoe date is next Monday, as is that for Winnetka, with the exception of the Congregational school there, opening on Sept. 20. The Kenilworth and Wilmette schools open Sept. 14, as will those of Evanston. The Marywood school for girls in Evanston, however, will start its year Sept. 16 and the following day has been set for the Roycemore school.

Northwestern university will register its students on Sept. 17.

Bryan's Daughter Tells His Struggle to Become an Orator

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Representative Ruth Bryan Owen dedicated her book, "Elements of Public Speaking," to be published this month, to her father, the late William Jennings Bryan.

A foreword by William Lyon Phelps, Yale university orator, compares Mrs. Owen to the person mentioned in St. Matthew who, given five talents, "increased the sum to ten and won the approbation of his Lord."

She contrasts the apparent magic of the person able to sway an audience with his past of "interminable lecture tours, tired, ill-paid, discouraged, and, above all, perplexed and harassed by the problem of satisfying the audience."

Of the "resonant" voice she says: "It gives no hint of the time when it evaporated completely on its first journey into the open air, returned startlingly in echoing halls, became entangled in the rafters and bunting of a medieval auditorium."

The orator's "poise," she confides, has on occasions been shaken by little front-seat boys in Chautauqua tents who sneak up and untie speakers' shoestrings and do stunts of balance and contortion, by vagrant cats able completely to absorb the attention of an audience, by cries of fire, by tents collapsing in rainstorms, by sheriffs making arrests in the audience and hospital authorities capturing there an escaped inmate.

She narrates early struggles of many orators, including her own father, to prove her contention that oratory is not a "gift."

Playing With Fire

By WILLIAM MAC LEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Lee Reynolds is the owner of a ranch which drought has almost ruined. She leases a Mexican rancho and moves her starving herd there. She is barely settled when a revolution breaks out. Megares, bossy man of the border, is the leader. Hanse Brennan, a former foreman of Lee's, is his right hand man. Brennan was discharged by Lee and swore revenge. Lee hires a new hand, who is recognized by Dune Daggett, an old ranch helper, as Jack Hadley, a millionaire oil man of California, whose father owned a mine near Lee's ranch and was murdered by outlaws. Hadley is searching for the murderer of his father. Hadley and Lee call on Megares, who is, apparently, friendly to them. Megares calls at the ranch for dinner and is infatuated with Lee's guest, Mrs. Doris Silver. Next day while out driving Lee and her ranchers are attacked by a band of soldiers. Megares comes to live at the rancho, to protect them, he says, though they really are his prisoners. Doris Silver's husband arrives at the rancho in an airplane.

INSTALLMENT XXI.

LEE IS OBSTINATE.

"Harold must have come here to get Doris," said Lee, to Hadley.

"Perhaps he can take both of you. We'll have to get you out of the house somehow," Hadley replied.

"The point is to get her away, not me," Lee said.

"Her an' you too," Dune insisted stoutly. "What kind of birds do you reckon we are, Miss Lee? You come first with us. Now we got a chance to send you home you can bet yore boots you're going."

"We won't waste time arguing now. How can we get to the pasture?" Lee asked. She knew she must appear to give way.

"Why can't you and Doris dress up as Mexican girls?" Hadley wanted to know. "There are three or four of them around the hacienda. The guard would probably let you pass, unless he stopped you to flirt with him and recognized you. You'd have to do the talking, Lee, and the less you say the better."

"We could do it, and get by with it, I think," Lee assented at once. "Yaela will give us clothes. Doris would have to play shy and not talk, keeping most of her face covered with a shawl."

Swiftly Lee departed. Daggett left for the stables. Jack waited in the living room. He was glad that Lee had consented to go, though he was a little surprised that she had yielded so readily. As soon as the plane got into the air he meant to make a break for the corral. They would round up the other Lazy R riders and strike into the hills. The odds were against them, but at least they would have a run for their money.

Jack looked at his watch impatiently every few minutes. He wished they would hurry. At any moment the Mexican troops might discover the concealed plane and wreck the chance of escape. The young man smiled grimly. He was in love, for the first time in his life. This girl, so direct, so honest, had stepped into his life and filled it with gladness as no other woman had ever done. That she was a perfect comrade he knew, and no less certainly that she would be a perfect lover.

Two Mexican girls came into the room. One was shy and retiring. The other smiled and flung a provocative tag of Spanish at him.

"You'll do," he prophesied. "Adios, my dears."

Doris came up and kissed him good-by. It was her habit to scatter casual kisses as she did smiles. But Lee offered only her hand in farewell. His heart registered a little pang. She might have kissed him once . . . just once.

But she did not. She smiled at him and said, "I'm going to see you again—soon."

Lee and Doris went out by the servants' gate. A soldier was doing sentry duty there. He stopped them.

"Where did you girls come from?" he asked in Spanish.

In the same tongue Lee answered. "From the house, you stupid donkey. We spent the night with Yaela."

"Oh! I hadn't seen you go in. Are you sure it was with Yaela?" He chucked Lee under the chin. Come. A kiss, and I'll let you pass."

Lee offered her cheek pertly, and as he leaned forward for his reward swung the palm of her hand smartly against his face. She laughed, merrily, and fled, Doris at her heels.

Other soldiers were in sight, five or six of them at the stable, two or three at the corral, others in front of the house. None of them paid any attention to the girls. They moved into the orchard, passed through it, and slipped between two strands of a barbed wire fence into the pasture. After a time they clambered up the bank, wound through a thicket of mesquite on the shoulder of a hill, and dropped into the valley below. It was a small saucer-shaped park, level at the base. Into it the plane had dropped for a safe landing.

Two men were tinkering with the machinery. At sight of the women one of the men moved toward them, at first uncertainly.

Doris gave a little cry of joy and ran forward. He dropped the monkey wrench in his hand and came swiftly to meet her. She went straight into his arms. Hungrily he kissed her.

Lee waited for recognition, smiling at their ardor. Harold had rowed on his college crew many years before. But he was developing avoirdupois. He was getting quite bald. He was not exactly a figure of romance, yet there was a sturdy manliness about him quite attractive.

He came up and shook hands with Lee.

"I've got a good pilot here," he said, after the greetings were over. "You girls will be quite safe with him. He'll have you back in Arizona in a couple of hours."

Lee made no comment on that. Instead, she asked a question. "How many will the plane hold?"

"Three."

"You mean you'll stay here?"

"Of course. Jackson will come back for me."

"O, no, Harold," Doris cried. "You crowd in too. He's a terrible man, this Megares. You don't understand."

"Sorry, sweetheart. Can't be done. The plane will carry only three. Don't worry. He won't hurt me."

"He happens to have fallen in love with Doris," Lee said quietly. "We've been worried, all of us. You haven't come any too soon."

"He wouldn't have dared touch her," Silver said.

Lee corrected him. "He'd dare anything. One of his officers called him a wolf the other day. That's a good word for him. He's a murderous ruffian, without the least sense of morality."

"We'll see about that. The United States government would have him by the throat if he hurt me."

"Provided it could catch him," Lee explained. "You don't understand, Harold. If he's defeated—and we think he will be—he'll be an outlaw anyhow. What does he care about our government? What did Villa care when we hunted him?"

"Then I'll have to hide in these hills till Jackson comes back for me. After all, since I've got to stay there isn't any argument."

"But I'm not going," Lee told him.

"Of course you're going. Do you think I mean to leave you here after I've come for you?"

"You're not leaving me here. I'm staying of my own accord. The riders I brought with me are here, and so is Jack Hadley who is a friend of ours. If I go, Megares will kill some of them. I can't desert them. Don't you see that? As long as I stay, my presence here is a kind of protection for them."

"I don't see it, Lee. The simple fact is that I'm a man and you're a woman. If one of us has to stick it—and one of us has—it has got to be the man. I couldn't hold my head up afterward in case anything happened to you."

"Not if you intended to desert me. But you could get a bigger plane and come back for us all. I'm not going now, Harold. I brought my friends down here and I won't leave them to that tiger Megares. As long as I stay they have a chance. When I go their chance goes too."

He argued, pleaded, threatened, and got nowhere. She was firm and in the end she had her way. He was to go with Doris back to Arizona, pick up a large plane at Tucson or Los Angeles, and make a try to rescue the Lazy R party.

"Dearest, dearest, I hate to leave you here," she wailed.

"I'll be back," Silver promised. "Have your party all ready when you see me coming. I'll circle around in the air before we land to give you time. Come on the run and pile in. I'll have a machine gun and we'll try to stand off the Megares crowd till we take off again. Where had I better land?"

"On the mesa in front of the house. There's a flat place along the road about a mile from the main rancho. You'll know our party because I'll wear a red dress. If we don't show up within half an hour you'll know there's no chance and you must take off before the soldiers get to you."

"Goodby—and good luck."

Lee watched the plane rise from the ground, sweep around in a half circle, and go droning into the north. She walked quickly back. As she neared the house, she realized that the aeroplane had stirred up a lot of excitement among the soldiers.

She found Jack in the living room. He was looking out of the window. Hearing some one come into the room, he turned toward the door. At sight of her he gave a cry of astonishment.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Collar and Cuffs Needed.

"I need new collar and cuffs on my winter coat, but I cannot afford to buy them. The coat is brown, with a large shawl collar of muskrat which has been patched over and over again until there is no place left to hold the stitches. I came to Chicago to work my way through school but had to discontinue because of ill health. I can earn only enough to pay for my room and board and so I can't possibly buy a new coat. L. R."

The winter coat you are discarding because it is outmoded may have fairly good collar and cuffs on it. If so, won't you rip them off and send them to this girl?

Attention to Diet Produces Rounded Slimness for Fall

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Now for that rounded slimness that you'll need for the new dress! You simply must add on a few pounds if you wish endorsement as a good figure type for the new style frock. Of course, we're talking to the girls with the lean and hungry look, not the sisters who'd just like once to wear that look.

Rounded slimness. That's what you must have. A neat waistline—a good bust line, and a curved hip line—and you're set to make a killing!

The world most of the time [my world, I mean] seems so occupied with women of reducing need that we forget about the poor girls who'd give much for a few pounds spread neatly over arms, shoulders, legs, etc. I find myself neglecting them every now and then.

The system is, in attempting weight regaining, to eat not more but to eat more wisely. I sat beside a scrawny girl at noontime the other day. Her plate was heaped with food. She ordered pie and cheese for dessert. She ate much bread and butter while awaiting her lunch's appearance. According to her noonday plate, she should be at least of a rounded slimness. But a pale sickliness overspread her countenance, and a wan eye looked out upon the food. Her weight gaining course would require that she get a good health examination before she ate another bite. There's something wrong inside when one eats so heavily—and looks so ill.

The plump ones, I've discovered of late, have certainly conquered calorie knowledge. They've learned much about energy foods, and about proteins, carbohydrates, and vitamins. The things are away behind on this food knowledge score. Not their fault perhaps so much as ours who have been talking almost exclusively of food values in relation to fat figures. But the leans could pick up more than they obviously do. They could know, for instance, that they don't need more starches and sweets and fats necessarily but that they need vegetables, salads, and what we call light foods just as much as the plump ones—to regulate their systems.

They should know that milk is not a drink, but a food, and it should be partaken of heartily as food, as substitute for heavier things. They should know that butter plastered on everything, in huge portions, is a quick fat-maker and is at the some time the most easily digested fat there is. And olive oil is something, too, that they may take with hearty gusto and be assured of good flesh effects on bony structure.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

C. S.: EXERCISE IS NECESSARY to reduce the bust, furthermore, it must be done systematically and strenuously to be effective. Rowing, bag punching, and swinging Indian clubs are effective.

T. S. T.: BRUSH YOUR HAIR until you feel your scalp tingling. Brush upward to lift the hair free of the scalp. Part it in small sections and brush up and down. The bristles of the brush should be long enough to penetrate to the scalp and should be of reasonable stiffness.

Knowledge Acquired When Sought for Is Quickly Assimilated

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

There are many parents who are intelligent enough and who care enough to answer their children's questions. They don't think of them as nonsense. They know they're not asked from idle curiosity. They enjoy the unfolding picture that those questions depict of a growing mind. They are amazed at the spiritual vistas that some especially probing query will reveal. So it is with many parents.

But there are others who do not feel and intuitively understand these things. To them it may be interesting to hear something from the lips of an educator—a man whose name is linked with the most scientific examples of intelligence testing. There is nothing sentimental about his approach. To the practical parent it may present a better reason for answering children's questions than some of the arguments frequently advanced. The quotation follows:

"The gifted child is usually impatient to know the why and wherefore of things and will not rest until his curiosity has been satisfied. This is the opportunity of parents.

"Knowledge acquired when it is wanted is like food eaten when one is hungry. It is quickly assimilated and becomes a part of the mental structure.

"Parents who take the innumerable questions of the child seriously and answer them as fully and truthfully as his intelligence will justify, or as their own information will permit, are satisfying the most important of the child's educational needs in the pre-school period."

R. J. Thornes Return Soon from Abroad

BY THALIA.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT THORNE, who have been away from Chicago for nearly a year, are coming back soon. They're to sail for this country on the Ile de France on Sept. 16. Their daughters, Laura and Narcissa, who went abroad with them last winter, are remaining in Europe to study.

Narcissa, the younger of the two, is to study in Switzerland, and Laura, who probably will be a débutante the season after this, is to go to school in Paris. For a greater part of their length, aside from Europe the Thornes occupied an apartment in Paris. At Easter time the James Ward Thornes, on their way back from a trip to Algiers and northern Africa, visited them there. Mr. Thorne made a short trip to Chicago in the spring.

Junior League Dental Clinic Is Opened in Evanston.

The Evanston Junior League's progress when it took over the management of the Maisonette tea room in Evanston some months ago was to raise funds for a children's dental clinic. They've achieved the first step in their enterprise, and the clinic has been opened. It is located at 1 Dempster street, and it's to be open on Monday afternoons and Wednesday mornings. Children sent from various social agencies will be treated. Mrs. John F. Herdic of Winnetka is chairman of the organizing committee and Mrs. Stanley K. Peirce is in charge of the management. Eight of the league members attended Northwestern dental school lectures in order to be of practical assistance as workers in the clinic. Proceeds from the Maisonette will continue to support the work.

The Junior leaguers had a busy time yesterday, moving from the former office in the Drake to the Maisonette in the Italian court. The new draperies—they're to be red and white in two layers, I think—aren't up yet, but many of the new things haven't come so they're not quite ready to receive callers.

The marriage of Miss Elinor Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stanley Parker of Winnetka, to Leonard Bridges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Bridges of 472 Dean place, is to take place on Oct. 17. The service is to be read at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the gardens of the Parker residence, if it doesn't rain, otherwise, indoors.

Lake Forest Day School Will Reopen on Sept. 21.

The Lake Forest day school will open in its new building on Sept. 21. The new schoolhouse is particularly good looking. My recollection of it from passing by on Green Bay road is that it is red brick with lots of white woodwork, and that it has a framework cupolas on top. It also has a sort of idealization of the old country schoolhouse and is most pleasing to the eye. The building is open for inspection, and visitors are invited.

Have you a little lipstick hanging from your purse? They have them in many of the stores now, little teeny pieces of scarlet material for wiping away the edges. These are more satisfactory than the ones with a red corner previously put on the market for the same purpose.

Returns, and so forth—Mrs. Charles Hill returned yesterday from Mackinac Island and the Hill children have been playing on until the 16th. . . . Mrs. Laverett Thompson has gone for a week and when she returns she and her daughter, Miss Laura Thompson, will make definite plans for the latter's marriage on Sept. 26 to Mr. Paul Magnuson. . . . Miss Marie Dawes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, will return to Lake Forest next week for her junior year. . . . Mr. Frederic Norcross has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Ramsey Walker at Fair Acres, Stockbridge, Mass. . . . The Carroll Sudlers and James Waller Rogerses, the Prentiss Andrewses, Elizabeth Linn, Kenneth Smith, Jack Rutter, and one or two others made up a week-end party that went up to Fish Creek, Wis., for the holiday. . . . The William Haas's are giving up their town apartment and when they close their summer place at Lake Villa they plan to live in Lake Forest. . . . The John Drakes Jr. are to name their baby son, born on Sept. 1, George Mitchman Drake after his late grandfather.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Secretary of State and Mrs. H. L. Stimson returned this morning to Woodley, their home on Cathedral avenue. Mrs. Stimson will remain here through the week and then go to Woodley for the winter and spring. Mr. Stimson, their summer home is in Highhold, their summer home on Long Island for the autumn and winter. The chief of naval operations, Admiral William V. Pratt, has gone west on an inspection tour and will not return until the first of October.

This delicately fragrant powder stays on longer, spreads smoothly and evenly. Its amazingly fine particles are sifted through close-meshed silk. Blends with any complexion and banishes all ugly "shine." Subdues tiny lines and wrinkles. Enlarged pores will be hidden completely.

No purer, gentler powder could be made. There is not a trace of lead or any other element that will irritate the most sensitive skin. The purest face powder known. Give Mello-glo just one trial. One Dollar at all stores.

3 Palestine Doctors Called to England to Extend Researches

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, Sept. 8. — Three young physicians, noted at an early age for their success in medicinal research, have been called to England to carry on in their work.

A short while ago Prof. Saul Adler of the Hebrew university in Jerusalem was invited by the Royal Society of England body, to study on its behalf, malaria and the kindred, equally dangerous disease, Kala-azal. Then Dr. Geiger, also of the Hebrew university, was invited over by the University of Cambridge, to demonstrate and to do further research in his important discoveries in the composition of blood. Now Dr. Wolfgang von Weisl, also of Jerusalem, has been invited by the University of Edinburgh, to assist them in organizing their new department of dietetics. All three are in their early thirties.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

More than 2,200 exhibits comprise the largest and best collection of flowers ever staged by the Utility Employés Home Garden association now on exhibit in the Edison building, according to judges who completed their work late yesterday. The best gladiolus of the show was grown by William Scheuler, Chicago. The best dahlia was entered by Harper Bronwell, Riverside.

Weather conditions this summer proved a severe test for gardeners, the utility employés reported. Their show will be open to the public again today, but closing at 5 p. m.

One of the chief educational exhibits is that of the west parks system which is showing some of its new hybrid water lilies. Other parts of this same collection include perennials which the parks indicate are suitable for gardens in the Chicago area.

Jellicoe's Son Has Tonsils Removed While in Canada

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 8. — Ill health has pursued Earl Jellicoe and the members of his household since their arrival in Canada.

This morning Viscount Brocas, 13 year old heir of the former commander of the British naval forces, had his tonsils removed in the Royal Victoria hospital. He has joined as a patient there his sister, Lady Gwendolyn, who underwent an operation a week ago.

It is possible that Earl Jellicoe himself may enter the hospital. It is understood that the continuous traveling of the last few days has given him a bad cold, with a touch of bronchitis.

His illness is not severe, and he plans to sail for England on next Saturday, leaving Lady Jellicoe in residence with friends in Montreal until the son and daughter are recovered.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMEN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

A pastel sheer red worsted dress is made with a youthful looking Peter Pan collar. The collar and cuffs are of the lingerie type in white faille crêpe silk with plaited ruffled edge. It is an ideal design for the college or school girl. Dull black sheer worsted with white for the contrast is stunning, and so is dark blue Canton faille silk crêpe with an eggshell shade for the contrast.

The pattern, 3325, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36 and 38 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material, with ¾ yard of 35 inch contrasting and 1¾ yards of binding.

MANY substitutes look like Kotex. But few offer anything like the strict, hygienic purity of Kotex . . . the pad that's bought by hospitals in enormous quantities.

This health protection should be your first concern in selecting a sanitary pad. You have it in Kotex. But how about those unknown substitutes, of whose makers you know nothing? How are they made? Where? Would hospitals sanction them? Would you, if you knew their origin?

Fur Is Applied in New Ways to Coats

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The way in which fur in applied to the fall coat is going to decide its status in fashion this season. Many Paris dressmakers, looking over the coat with an eye to some new place on which to stick fur, have lit upon the sleeves, and there are quantities of French coats with fur trimmings concentrated here. The application of long-haired fur to the elbows is not so new, but Paris is putting it there.

More novel are Vionnet's all-fur sleeves, which are also attached to fur shoulder yokes. They have been little worn even in Paris, and they look good for fall and winter. Note the sketch at the bottom to see how she does it. If you have a worn fur jacket, you can't find better use for it than to make it the upper part of a cloth coat in this way. A separate fur scarf keeps the collarless neckline comfortable in cold weather.

When Paris applies fur to the collar of the fall coat she likes to do it in such a way that the fur stands away from the neck and makes a sort of halo. This is practical, for it saves wear and tear on the fur and is ultimately flattering. At the top of our sketch is the wide draped fur collar that many Paris houses are adding to their cloth coats this autumn. This one is made of golden Alaskan seal. The coat has not, nor needs, other fur trimming.

In the center is Schiaparelli's silver fox necklace, the big hit of the Paris season, and a fine way to add fur to a furless coat or jacket. It has the advantage of being detached and wearable with different wraps.

An Engagement Ring or a New Automobile, Which Shall She Take?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I have my choice of an automobile or an engagement ring. Which would you take? BROWN EYES."

That IS a sticker.

Dame Grundy might inject: "But what's this I hear about a girl accepting an automobile from her beau?" Only the dear polite old lady isn't so opinionated of late years on this matter of gift receiving. She's been known to unbend considerably in the face of practical advantages. And a car has plenty of them.

It's assumed Brown Eyes and fiancé are heading for matrimony. That they have that all planned out. In which event the car has its advantages for the young man, too. On moonlight nights, for Sunday outings, and—getting around to the practical again—taxi fare savings an automobile has it over the ring.

But there is an element of danger with the automobile that will never be encountered with the ring. As witness the pair of newlyweds known to me. The young husband won a car at a fair. He presented it to his adored one. She learned to drive. They've had their first scrap, their second, and a recent one that lasted for a day's pout over which one could drive and which couldn't. Not over the use of the car, understand. The quarreling is over the actual manipulation of it. And, so I understand, a car can come between a gentleman and his fair one.

That may apply only to the wedded, however. Girls and men are more prone to be sweet and generous in praise of each other's driving before the big event. Why they change later I don't know. But so the case stands, as wives and husbands themselves will testify.

But you ask me which would I take? Now, I have to go and ask some one myself. I don't know. You tell us, readers, which would you take?

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Wrong Car.

I am a salesman for a vacuum cleaner concern. One day I was out in the territory canvassing. After I got through I was supposed to meet a fellow that I worked with at a certain corner. I arrived there, and seeing a car [which I thought was his] I sat down in it. I was warm, so I decided to take my coat off.

A woman came out and asked me if I was waiting for her husband. I told her I was not. Then she told me it was all right to sit there. I looked at her as if she had no right telling me where I could sit. She then walked into the house.

Imagine my embarrassment when the car came along that I was waiting for, and I found that I was sitting in the woman's car. N. H.

Food Talk.

Before taking up any more letters this week I want to thank you all for your coöperation in sending the mango pie recipes requested last week. In the event that some of you survive the depression and find yourselves in the sunny south this next winter, I want to give several of them. They sound perfectly scrumptious!

Mrs. F. S. R. writes: "I saw the request for a mango pie recipe and I am sending you one I used in Sierra Leone, West Africa. There I learned to stew, bake, and fry the mango, as well as to use it in ice cream. It is a delicious fruit.

MANGO PIE.

"Peel the mangoes and slice across the grain. Use 2 packed cups of mangoes, ½ cup of sugar, 1 rounded tablespoon of flour, 1 tablespoon of butter, and 1 tablespoon of lime or lemon juice.

"I use both the ripe and unripe fruit; but when I used fruit that was mature, though not ripe, I added 1 teaspoon of cinnamon.

"The ripe fruit mango pie bakes as quickly as peach. The unripe fruit takes a little longer. I used two crusts, but I believe the ripe fruit would make a nice open-faced pie. How I would love to try it!"

And so would we, Mrs. F. S. R.!

Two other suggestions come to our column from Mrs. A. H. P., who signs herself [lucky woman!] as a resident of Illinois and Florida. She writes:

"Take mangoes that are just turning ripe; slice thin, and stew until tender. Add 1 teaspoon of butter; line a deep pie plate with pie crust and put the mangoes in it. Add the sugar and juice of half a lemon or lime; grate nutmeg over the top and cover the top with a crust cut in narrow strips. Bake in a hot oven.

"Another good way to make mango pie is to boil the mangoes, run them through a sieve, and make them similar to an egg custard."

O, I am just green with envy! I hope the time does arrive when I will have the fun of making and tasting a mango pie!

SWEET MILK PANCAKES.

2 cups of flour
2 tbsp. of melted butter
2 cups of milk

Beat the eggs until they are very light; add the milk and then the flour which has been sifted with the baking powder. Add the melted butter, mix well, and drop from a spoon onto a hot greased griddle.

IT IS A REAL ECONOMY TO PURCHASE CHARIS

TRUE economy is seldom just a matter of price. A foundation garment which fails to correct your figure properly, which fits poorly, or which soon stretches out of shape is an extravagance at any price.

The economy of CHARIS is due to its superiority. It quickly corrects your figure wherever correction is desirable because it is adjustable to your individual needs. It retains its shape through long use by employing a minimum amount of elastic, and that just to permit freedom of movement. The dainty, exquisite materials successfully withstand repeated launderings.

An unusual, additional service is the individual fitting you receive by figure specialists in our attractive fitting rooms, without extra charge.

With its many exclusive features, you would expect CHARIS to be expensive. The reasonable prices are a pleasant surprise. Prove for yourself the real economy of a genuine CHARIS. Without obligating yourself in any way, phone the address below for a representative to give you a private showing in your home.

You may purchase a Charis from $6.95 up. The garment illustrated is priced at $9.50.

Tune in next week—Dorothy Chase and the CHARIS Morning Musicale, WBBM, Thursday, 10.00 A. M.

ARMY STARTS JOB OF JUNKING USELESS POSTS

8th Corps Area First to Be Abandoned.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Radical changes in the distribution of regular units of the American army have been ordered by the war department as a part of its program for abandoning certain needless military posts.

Larger concentrations of troops are to be maintained in the more thickly settled areas of the country where they will be available for training C. M. T. C. and R. O. T. C. civilian units. The traditional policy of maintaining strong forces along the Mexican border is being modified. Attempts also are being made to curtail the number of enlisted men and officers maintained in old forts in the areas where Indian wars once were fought and in harbor defenses.

As a first move two regiments in the 8th corps area, which includes the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, and New Mexico as well as one big Wyoming post, Fort Francis E. Warren, are to be transferred.

Five Posts Being Scrapped.

Of ten occupied military posts and camps which the war department set out to abandon last May five are now in process of being depopulated of troops. Political pressure thus far has staved off the abandonment of the other five, although war department officials expressed confidence today that all ten would be shut down by this winter.

The five posts from which troops have been transferred or where preparatory steps leading toward evacuation of troops are going forward are Fort Eustis, Va.; Fort Hunt, Va.; Camp Harry J. Jones, Ariz.; Camp Stephen D. Little, Ariz., and Miller Field, N. Y.

These five posts, which housed 3,500 men, will shortly be removed from the regular army list and either transferred to other departments or sold.

North Dakota Keeps Fort.

Constituents of Senator Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.], one of the radical Republican group in the senate, thus far have blocked abandonment of Fort Lincoln, N. D. This is one of the most flagrant examples of surplus posts which are worthless from a military point of view. Other posts which the army has listed for abandonment, but which are still tenaciously clinging to the public pay roll are Fort Missoula, Mont.; Fort Brown, Tex., and Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo. Action on another post, that of Chanute Field, Ill., has been postponed pending a decision by the army air service as to whether it is needed.

TWO MEN ARE FOUND BEATEN TO DEATH IN NEW JERSEY HOME

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The deaths of two New York men whose bodies were found in a bungalow near Red Bank, N. J., this morning, under circumstances indicating they had died of poisoning, developed into a murder case this afternoon as autopsies and laboratory examinations disclosed they both had been beaten to death.

The men were identified as Patrick Finn, 49, and Philip Sarcher, 50. The bodies were found by Finn's sister, Mrs. Thomas Corzoran, who resided with her brother at the Market street address.

Mrs. Finn motored to the bungalow after a mysterious telephone call from a man who said there appeared to be "something wrong at the bungalow" which Finn and Sarcher had been occupying during their vacations. The skull of each man had been fractured, probably with a sandbag or blackjack.

ATTORNEY FOR MRS. GROSS GETS COURT REBUKE

Attorney T. H. Fisher, who represents Mrs. Virginia Harrison Gross in the litigation with her ex-husband, Capt. Christian C. Gross, of the American legation in Canada, over the parentage of her daughter Anna, 3 years old, was summoned into chambers by Judge Joseph B. David yesterday and reprimanded.

Fisher, it was learned, sent to Judge David, at the latter's residence, some documents setting forth "Mrs. Gross' side of the case." Judge David is reported to have threatened to cite the lawyer for contempt for attempting to influence the court in a pending matter.

Attorney Robert Cantwell Jr. presented an order on behalf of Capt. Gross, holding him to be the father of Anna. Judge David found a technical flaw in the order, which is an amendment to Capt. Gross' divorce decree, and postponed action on it until today.

MACHADO BARES PLAN TO REFORM CUBAN BASIC LAW

Will Change Constitution to Give More Freedom.

BY DEAN SANBORN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Sept. 8.—President Machado, in an address before representatives of political, social, financial, economic, banking and legislative interests, today announced plans for constitutional reforms intended to solve Cuba's political and economic problems. He said that a joint committee of the house and the senate had already agreed upon all the important points of his plan and that he has sent a message to congress urging the immediate adoption of the reforms.

Among the changes in the present constitution recommended by President Machado are: Guarantees of personal liberty; participation of the state in education; labor rights and just wage scales; recognition of all political parties; prohibition of reelection of a president for ten years after leaving office; creation of the office of vice president and the appointment by the Supreme court of a vice president to hold office until it is filled by the coming elections, and restriction of parliamentary immunity.

Tells of Cuba's Woes.

"During the last few weeks the republic has passed through one of the most critical moments in its history. For six years we have suffered the effects of a low price on sugar products, on which the prosperity of our country principally depends. During the last two years the unprecedented depression of world business, and especially in the United States, which consumes eighty per cent of our exports, has been a decisive factor which has impeded our return to prosperity.

"During this period, economic, political and financial catastrophes have taken place in all parts of the earth, with its inevitable results of social instability, revolutions and collapse of governments in many countries. In Cuba we have tried to anticipate these happenings and guard against them, and although we have not been entirely successful, Cuba is today in a better financial position and with better economic prospects than any of her sister republics in Latin America and many countries in other continents.

Face Bitter Times."

"We are, nevertheless, facing hard and bitter times. There are many unemployed. As a result there exists a feeling of discontent among a certain part of the Cuban people, owing in large part to propaganda by government enemies.

"Owing to the influence of such a situation on national politics I have for some time dedicated all my efforts to developing a program of constitutional reform. The establishment of these reforms was ready to be carried out when an attempt was made to throw our country into a civil war. Before the blood of many families could be shed by their own members the armed forces of the republic put a rapid end to the violence. Thus Cuba has taken her place among the nations of the world whose governments are changed by votes and not by force.

"It is precisely with these ideas in mind that constructional reforms have been planned, their aim being to guarantee the republic an expression of their will. The moment has arrived to put these reforms into force."

YOUTH SHOT AS BURGLAR.

Louis McCorky, 15 years old, 248 East 37th street, a Negro, was shot and seriously wounded, and Thurman Thompson, 15 years old, 3339 Indiana avenue, also a Negro, surrendered early yesterday when a watchman surprised them breaking into Max Raffeld's clothing store at 310 East Pershing road.

CUBS BATTLE SOX TODAY; CHARITY TO WIN

POLOISTS CLASH TODAY IN U. S. TITLE TOURNEY

Hurricanes to Meet Sands Point.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 8.—The first game of the open polo championship will be played at Meadow Brook club on Long Island tomorrow afternoon. The match will be between Stephen Sanford's Hurricanes and the Sands Point Four, an injury to John Miles, No. 1 on the Hurlingham team from South America, having caused a shift in the program.

The remainder of the schedule will go on as arranged. Santa Paula, the team which played in the international games at Chicago, will meet the aggressive Roslyn Riders Saturday. In the first semi-final next Tuesday, Hurlingham will play the winner of the Hurricane-Sands Point clash. On Sept. 16 the second semi-final will bring Jock Whitney's Greentrees, of which Tommy Hitchcock is a member, into action against the Santa Paula-Roslyn winner.

Picked Teams May Play.

The final is scheduled for the following Saturday. In event a South American team wins the open, there probably will be an international game between a picked United States four and the Argentine players. All games will be played on International field at Meadow Brook.

The array of noted players in the tournament has not been equaled in the twenty-two years that the open championship has been played in this country. The world's greatest polo stars will be riding—Louis Lacey of the Argentine; Capt. Pat Roark, England, and Thomas Hitchcock Jr., of the United States. These are rated at ten goals each, the highest rank in their respective countries. Roark will play with the Hurricanes and Lacey with the Hurlingham team.

Two Foreign Teams Win.

The American open championship has been won only twice since 1904 by a foreign team. The Ranelagh club of England won it in 1910 and in 1922 an Argentine team took the honors. This year there are two South American teams and four of the highest goal combinations in the United States competing.

The Santa Paula team, which lost to Old Aiken in the Chicago matches during the summer, looks like the best bet. The Santa Paulans have hit their stride, and their mounts, which suffered during the hot spell, are in the best of condition. The aggressive, long hitting back of the Santa Paula squad, Manuel Andrada, has been suffering from an injured hand, but hopes to get into the tournament. The spirited play of this team has bordered on recklessness at times, but it seems to win games. Alfredo Harrington, the two Reynal brothers and probably Andres Gazzotti will ride in Santa Paula's first game.

Miles Dislocates Shoulder.

The Hurlingham four of Buenos Aires, with one exception, is the same that won the open in 1922. Lacey, John and David Miles and Dan Kearney make up the team this year. John Miles dislocated his shoulder last week in a practice game, and Hurlingham was granted a postponement of its match until Tuesday, when Miles should be in condition to play.

The Hurricane team is the favorite among the United States entries. It is composed of Stephen [Laddie] Sanford, Winston Guest, Capt. C. T. I. [Pat] Roark and Terrence Preece.

On the Sands Point team are Seymour Knox, Jimmy Mills, Earle A. S. Sloping and A. Charles Schwartz. The Greentree team boasts of a lineup numbering John Hay Whitney, Pete Bostwick, Tommy Hitchcock and Stewart Iglehart. The Roslyn team has H. E. Talbott Jr., Cecil Smith, the Texas player; J. C. Rathborne and William Post.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

CUBS VS. SOX.

SELDOM has one game loomed as important to the opposing nines as this charity game between the Cubs and the White Sox for the unemployment fund this afternoon at Comiskey park. Ordinarily such statement might be accepted as just ballyhoo. But this particular contest does not need any kind of ballyhoo. From the start fans accepted it seriously. They have bought tickets, not only because they wished to aid a worthy cause, but also because they expect to see a ball game.

This contest, you see, stands out by itself as a single issue instead of one in a series. Partisans of the winning team will have opportunity until at least the city series of flinging taunts and jibes at the opposition, taunts and jibes which received an early start as soon as the suggestion for such game was broached by THE TRIBUNE sports department.

Moreover, the winner this afternoon will acquire morale for the city series contests, generally expected to follow the end of the pennant season in which neither Cubs nor White Sox have accumulated many garlands. That is one reason why Managers Hornsby and Bush will attempt to present their strongest available lineups instead of going through with makeshifts as often occurs in an ordinary exhibition.

We anticipate a partisan-mad gathering of rooters this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when umpires call the proverbial "play ball" after these umps, players, owners, reporters and all else have deposited their charity admission fees at the box office. This kind of a charity game is an event, friends—it's an event!

O'KELLY BATTLES KING LEVINSKY AT WHITE CITY

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Con O'Kelly, who made many friends on the south side when he stayed ten rounds recently with Tuffy Griffith, meets King Levinsky tonight at White City. The heavyweights offer entertainment as fighters and there is much speculation concerning the ability of either to stay perpendicular for ten rounds.

O'Kelly never has been knocked down. Levinsky has been down but never out. If either record should be broken it will be quite a night. The boys have met before, so each knows what to expect in the way of attack. Levinsky won a decision over O'Kelly at Boston, but the margin of victory was said to be close. Hence the return engagement.

O'Kelly made a surprisingly good performance against Griffith in that he absorbed nearly every punch Tuffy sent and kept asking for more. His own offense consisted of a hammering body attack in close. The King probably can stand as much punishment in the middle region as Tuffy, so his major problem is not defense but how he will fight.

Here's Levinsky's Chance.

He might outbox O'Kelly, but it would be more interesting and certainly would help Levinsky's stock if the King would slug as of yore. If he could wind up that right hand which once dropped Leo Lomski and smack down O'Kelly he well might start on a profitable winter campaign.

In any event, it seems that Mique Malloy, the official representative of the Irish South Town Athletic association, which promotes the White City

Wood Admits He Lured Don Into Making False Start

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Angered by Kaye Don's refusal yesterday afternoon to grant him a 45 minute postponement of the Harmsworth race to repair a cracked gasoline tank, Gar Wood today frankly and jubilantly admitted that he purposely beat the gun to lure the British challenger into a false start with Miss England II. As a result of the trickery the Harmsworth trophy remains in American possession.

"I asked for a postponement of the start of the race for 45 minutes because of a leaking gas tank in Miss America IX. My request was denied and it made me angry," Wood said.

Told Officials of Plan.

"When Eddie Edenburn, chairman of the race committee, told me Don would not agree to a 45 minute delay I told him if I could have the tank repaired in time I was coming down the river and make a false start purposely. I told him when I did Don likely would follow me. Don had intimated he figured I stood a good chance to beat him if I got across the starting line first. I knew he would be anxious to get the break on the start.

"If he did I knew it meant disqualification of both Miss America IX. and Miss England II., but there was still Miss America VIII. to finish the race. If Don wanted to play that way with me, all right. I figured I could outsmart him, and you know what happened. He followed me across the starting line ahead of time and then unfortunately had to overturn after making the first turn."

Wood was intensely pleased with the day's climax. He grinned and added:

Don Explains His Position.

"We were asked to postpone the start of the race. At the time we were tied up at the dock ready to begin the race at 5:30. Had we agreed to a postponement it would have meant that we would have had to return to the boathouse and take the oil out of the engine base.

"You know, it takes an hour and a quarter to get the oil heated to the proper temperature. It took us 20 minutes to tow across the river to the yacht club dock. When we were asked for a postponement for 45 minutes approximately 25 minutes had elapsed.

"If I had agreed to the postponement, you readily can see in another 45 minutes the oil would have been cooled to such an extent that I should have had to cruise along the first lap until it reached the right temperature before being able to gain my full speed. If I had to return to the boathouse, I should never have been ready in 45 minutes.

"If Mr. Gar Wood had had only one boat in the race I should have been

Chicago Yacht Racers Approve Wood's Strategy

Chicago yachtsmen were agreed yesterday that Gar Wood did not take unfair advantage of Kaye Don when he lured the English speed boat driver into disqualification in the Harmsworth cup race on the Detroit river Labor day. They commended Wood for his clever strategy, which enabled the United States to retain the international trophy.

Strategy, it was pointed out, is the decisive factor in football games and world series and why should it not be applied to motor boat racing? When Wood drove his Miss America IX. over the starting line, beating the starting gun, he was within the rules and it was no fault of his that Don followed him. This was the opinion of experienced power and sail boat racers.

Sheldon Clark, Chicago sportsman, who was a member of the committee of the Yachtsmen's Association of America, which conducted the race, yesterday defended Wood's method of achieving victory.

"Each country competing for the Harmsworth trophy is entitled to three boats," Mr. Clark explained. "Don had only one craft and Wood two, the Miss America IX., which was used to lure the English driver into beating the starter's gun, and the slower Miss America VIII, which hung back and went around the course to victory after the disqualification of the two offending racers.

"Wood carefully planned that outcome and he took a long chance. If Don delayed his start for a few seconds Wood's faster boat would have been eliminated, leaving the Englishman little opposition from the slower Miss America VIII., piloted by Wood's brother."

Even if the American boats had been entered by individual owners, they would have been considered as a team with a captain directing the maneuvers and the same result could have been possible, Mr. Clark said.

While recognizing Gar Wood's strategy, John P. O'Rourke, owner of the Intruder and a prominent yachtsman, thought the Harnsworth event would be fairer if conducted on the plan of the America's cup races in which the fastest American boat is matched against the English challenger. He also opposes disqualification for false starts.

In yacht racing, he pointed out, a boat which beats the gun circles back and starts over, meanwhile losing ground to the other craft.

"However, no one should complain of Wood's method of winning," O'Rourke said. "He followed the rules and employed strategy which enabled a slower boat to win."

THAT CARAWAY INFLUENCE, PAL! SOX LOSE TWICE

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 8.—Smead Jolley, at least, did all he could today to ballyhoo tomorrow's Sox-Cubs game even though the Comiskeys took another double licking from the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 7 and 6 to 3.

Smead's homer with two on was the high spot of a five-run rally in the fourth inning of the first game—a rally in which the Sox knocked six hits in a row after two were out. In the second game Jolley made two hits and furnished the fielding gem of the afternoon with an off-the-wall catch that resulted in a double play.

The first game was a loss because Ted Lyons failed as a relief pitcher. He entered the contest with two out in the seventh, the bases full and the Sox leading 6 to 5. Vosmik then singled to drive in two runs and put a runner on third. This could happen to anybody, but here comes the unbelievable part. Ted Lyons committed a balk and this balk resulted in the scoring of what proved to be the winning run.

The Super-Efficient Mr. Caraway.

The second game was strictly a no contest affair, Caraway being sent in for his 23d defeat of the year. Pat was masterful, allowing singles to the first six batsmen to face him before retiring with none out. Jim Moore, who succeeded Pat, allowed only one hit in five innings and it came after the side should have been retired in the fifth inning. Louis Garland, who was knocked out in the first inning of the first game, allowed only one hit in the last three innings of the second game and it immediately was nullified by a double play.

Despite the fact they took a two ply beating the Sox showed more signs of life than they have in many days and return to Chicago tonight confident that they are sufficiently revived to give the Cubs a sprightly battle behind the pitching of old Red Faber.

FIRST GAME

The first inning terminated with the White Sox in arrears by a count of 3 to 1. Blue walked to start the afternoon's entertainment, went to second on Sullivan's out and scored when Burnett kicked around Jolley's grounder. Fonseca singled to left Jolley stopping at second, but Norman fanned and Appling forced Fonseca.

In the Cleveland half, Garland stayed for one put out. Burnett filed to Fonseca, but Porter walked and scored on Averill's triple. Averill scored on Morgan's single. Vosmik doubled to right, sending Morgan to third and when Jolley made a wild

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

This is the day the Cubs plav the Sox in the most unusual baseball game ever scheduled. No matter what the result, the boys in the breadline will be the winners, for 100 per cent of the receipts go to Gov. Emmerson's unemployment fund.

All that was necessary to arrange the game was the suggestion. Three weeks ago this department wrote an open letter to William Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, and Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, inviting the two clubs to take an early and effective part in Chicago's great charity drive.

The last paper had been off the press only a few hours when both magnates announced their acceptance. That's the way it should be. In matters of charity either you respond with instinctive enthusiasm or you do not respond at all.

Had Mr. Wrigley and Mr. Comiskey been less charitably inclined they could have remained aloof, protected by barricades of red tape, rules and petty technicalities. There was the matter of precedent. Never before had a game been arranged for charity between American and National league clubs during the regular season. Then, too, it was necessary to ask the New York Yankees to postpone the opening of their series with the White Sox one day to enable the Chicago club to take part in the charity game. New York readily agreed.

Owners of both teams were insistent that all of the proceeds go to charity. They stood ready to pay expenses attached to playing the game. These items included the transportation of the White Sox club from Cleveland to Chicago and return, ticket printing, ushers, gatemen and caretakers. The ushers and gatemen immediately volunteered to work this afternoon for nothing.

The crowning feature of today's attraction is that it hasn't been necessary to stress the charity angle. Every baseball fan in Chicago has an interest in the game when the Cubs play the Sox. Chicago, with its millions of people, still is provincial in its sporting rivalries.

If sport events are to be played for charity they should be contests of importance. Otherwise there should be none at all. I don't believe the ticket buying public should be encouraged to accept makeshift programs.

The Cubs and Sox, from the owners all the way down through the ranks, have demonstrated sporting qualities that will not be quickly forgotten by the fans of Chicago.

Midget Wolgast Wins Decision Over Atherton

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Midget Wolgast of Philadelphia, recognized in many states as world's flyweight boxing champion, won a decision over Happy Atherton of Indianapolis in ten rounds here tonight. Wolgast scored two knockdowns, one in the second and one in the third, but the local veteran was up each time before the count could be started.

Charity usually begins at home but for today, at least, it will begin at Comiskey park when the gates are thrown open to the vast throng which is expected to respond to the spectacle of the White Sox and Cubs meeting in one of their old time arguments.

Given fair weather as promised, the game may attract as many as 50,000 or a gate of $65,000, every penny of which will be turned over to Gov. Emmerson's unemployment fund. The clubs will share all the expenses, even to the purchasing of admission tickets for the men who will play. Even the baseball writers will experience the sensation of buying their way into the premises. The pass gate will not be unlocked.

The game will start at 2:30 p. m., but the sale of the $1 grand stand seats, of which 30,000 will be available, will start at 9 o'clock this morning at the park ticket booths.

Hornsby to Bat Fourth.

Rogers Hornsby, the Cub manager, who has been resting himself for several weeks, has decided to get into today's affair. He is afraid the Cubs, judging by recent performances, might be in need of a little hitting strength. He hopes to supply some of that.

Hornsby will station himself at third base, English going back to his old job at short where Jim Adair, the Reading rookie, has been operating for two weeks. The Cub boss originally figured on using the same freshmen he had been employing in the regular National league games. Only a couple of them will appear.

Any booing by fans who still might think Hack Wilson a hero, despite exposure of a few of the things which culminated in his banishment, will be accepted by Boss Hornsby in the cause of charity.

Barton Expected Back.

Besides attempting to handle what little work might be necessary around third base, Hornsby will install himself in the cleanup position in the batting order. English, who had been there and couldn't deliver enough lengthy drives to warrant retention, will go back to the leadoff rôle.

Vin Barton, the young home run author, has promised to return from Toronto this morning so he'll take over right field and bat fifth. In the event he continues an absentee, Mike Kreevich will handle the job. Dan Taylor will be in left, batting sixth. This arrangement is to hold for today only. When the Cubs resume their league work tomorrow Kreevich

THEY'LL BATTLE IT OUT TODAY—FOR CHARITY'S SAKE

Back in the lineup for today. Manager Hornsby appoints himself third baseman to supply Cubs' batting punch.

Cubs' hope. Charley Root, the star righthander of the north siders, who will start the game on the mound.

The battle ground for today's charity game between the White Sox and the Cubs. This is how Comiskey park will look today, only a little more so, when 50,000 fans fill it to watch the two Chicago teams play for the benefit of Gov. Emmerson's unemployment fund. One hundred per cent of the proceeds will go to charity.

BY FRENCH LANE.

It looks more and more as if Brown Wisdom, the old rogue of the western turf, but many times a great hero, has folded up his tent and is about to move out of the select handicap circle.

He tried to keep step with a lot of younger rivals in the Morton Grove purse which featured the Lincoln Fields racing program yesterday. His army of backers refused to desert him and made him the favorite.

Then it was just a story of another defeat for old Brown Wisdom. He fought nobly until the field was a sixteenth of a mile from the line of finish. He was in front most of the way and at times by three lengths.

Chief John Wins.

Then 3 year old Chief John from John Marsch's stable of Chicago sailed on past him to claim the victory. And a second later the stretch running mare Sister Zoe also passed him. So Brown Wisdom, thoroughly beaten and with no excuses to offer except that old age might be creeping up on him, finished third. Jockey Knight, who rode him, had hustled him all the way.

At one stage of the race Chief John was last, eight lengths behind the flying Brown Wisdom. But he skimmed the rail coming into the stretch and finished out his mile in 1:36 3-5, one of the fastest of the season here. In the mutuels he paid $10.40 for a two dollar ticket.

It has been a long time since Lieut. Russell looked the judges in the eye. But he finally got home in front in the mile third race yesterday, and those who backed him collected at $59.78 to win, $34.80 to place, and $14.30 to show. Bill Looney, a recent winner here, paid $16.26 to place when he ran second.

Lieut. Russell Wins.

All the backing was for Finnic, which ran third, and for Albazano, which did not race in his usual brilliant style and finished far back.

Lieut. Russell was always near the lead, but had to win a game duel, which continued throughout the stretch run to trim Bill Looney. He finally triumphed by a neck amid the cheers of the long shot players.

A few minutes earlier the favorite players were made happy when Voltagreen, from the Nevada farm stable and ridden by Bobby Jones, scored in a hair lifting battle by a head from High Tom, which had just dropped in from New York.

High Tom took the track and threatened to make a runaway of it in the early stages. But Voltagreen was too good for him in the final drive, and he surrendered, much to the dismay of hundreds in the crowd who had engaged in a late plunge on him.

Peabody Leases Chatterton.

The noted stallion, Chatterton, is coming to Illinois to Stuyvesant Peabody's Arrow Brook thoroughbred breeding farm near Lamont.

Mr. Peabody, president of Lincoln Fields Jockey club, as well as of the Illinois Turf association, has leased Chatterton from Arthur B. Hancock and the famous sire will travel in Illinois in December to make the season here. It is expected his services will be in much demand by breeders in the vicinity of Chicago.

Folks who think Hygro was tiring at the end of the Joliet Stakes on Monday, when he beat every fashionable 2 year old in the west, should talk to Jockey Bobby Jones, who rode Hygro, about it.

"I didn't urge him at all during the last eighth of a mile," Jones said yesterday. "I took him up and had him under a snug hold all through the last sixteenth of a mile. If I had let him run he would have won by a much wider margin."

Jones, one of the great riders of the country, thinks Hygro is the best 2 year old he has ever ridden.

CAVALRY WINS NATIONAL PISTOL CHAMPIONSHIP

Camp Perry, O., Sept. 8.—(AP)—The United States cavalry pistol team today ended the four year reign of the United States marines as national pistol team champions by outscoring the Devil Dogs, 1,261 to 1,256.

Following the marines came the United States infantry with 1,253, the coast guard was fourth with 1,223, and the navy fifth with 1,221.

The next five teams finished in this order: United States field artillery, 1,200; Detroit police, 1,194; Portland, Ore., police, 1,194; New York police, 1,188, and American Legion, 1,188.

The match, one of a series of national pistol and rifle competitions sponsored annually by the federal war department, was fired at 50 yards slow fire, 25 yards timed fire, and 25 yards rapid fire, each contestant having 10 shots at each stage. Thirty-five teams of five men competed. The winning team took the gold cup trophy.

Postpone Polo Tourney Because of Crite's Injury

Because of the condition of T. L. [Tex] Crites, a star of the Oak Brook polo team who was seriously injured in an automobile accident Saturday, the Chicago and Central Circuit open championship tournament has been indefinitely postponed. The United States army, Oak Brook and Du Page County teams had entered.

Time, :23 1-5, :46, 1:11 3-5, 1:36 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Chief John, $10.60 straight, $5.58 place, $4.08 show; Sister Zoe, $12.16 place, $8.22 show; Brown Wisdom, $8.34 show. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 3:49½. At post 1 minute. Winner trained by P. Reuter.

CHIEF JOHN, slow to find his best stride and lucky, obtained room on inside when moving up after reaching the stretch, and, in the final three-eighths and, closing with a rush, quickly disposed of the leaders for an easy win. SISTER ZOE bettered her position fast on inside after reaching the turn, came to outside in stretch and weakened in final sixteenth, but outfinished BROWN WISDOM. Latter, in early speed, bore inward in stretch and weakened in the drive. STREET SINGER raced well. KARL EITEL, up close under energetic riding the opening five-eighths, dropped back suddenly at stretch turn, and was far out of it thereafter. THE COKAR quit.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse $1,200. Claiming. Three year olds. Net value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50.

PLAY BIRD, lacking speed and shuffled back, began working her way up after reaching final half mile, stood drive gamely and, heading the leaders, pulled away in final strides. MAJEL, improved and a forward factor throughout, held on stubbornly GREY KITTY, much used forced the pace, held the lead briefly and went gamely in the drive. ENGLEWOOD lost much ground at stretch turn and, racing wide thereafter, failed to get up. PHANTASIME quit. HILEE saved much ground and failed to respond when urged hard. AUSTERLITZ weakened.

SAN PRESTO began fast, forced the early pace under steadying restraint, easily disposed of KING PIN when ready and, drawing into safe command, won thereafter. KING PIN had speed, saved some ground and, holding on well, outstayed BLUE CLOUD. Latter, a keen factor from the start, lost some ground and held on fairly well. LOVELY saved much ground, could not improve her position when urged hard, yet went evenly in stretch run. SPUD and BROWN HILLS was in close quarters at first turn. CHAS. CLARKE and APT were outrun.

GRIFFIN lost much ground at the first turn, kept up close under restraint to final three-eighths where he easily wore down TORCH FIRE and, drawing into safe command held away thereafter. WIRT G. BOWMAN taken back at the start, raced wide while working his way up and closed gamely. ELLEN N. saved much ground, slipped through a small opening in stretch and closed with good courage. THE SOUTHERNER lost some ground in final half mile and failed to respond when urged hard. BROAD AXE had no mishap and weakened. TORCH FIRE was done after showing speed to stretch turn. MASTER ACE was always far back.

UNCANNY WINS WHEN WAYLAYER IS DISQUALIFIED

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The first disqualification of the meeting occurred today at Belmont Park in the featured Mineola claiming stakes when the stewards set back Walter J. Salmon's Waylayer which had finished first in favor of J. H. Louchheim's Uncanny, a 2 year old son of Master Charlie and Sweet Bun. The action followed the report of the judges that Waylayer had crossed his field well up the Widener chute and out of sight of most observers.

Waylayer ran and won as if much the best, coasting past the placing judges four lengths before Uncanny, which got up gamely to edge Trombone out of the second place by a nose. Jambalaya was fourth, and Renaissance and Villon, next in order, completed the field. Renaissance ran a dull race in the opinion of many after being backed into favoritism at 11 to 5.

The foul was not seen clearly from the stands by reason of the fact that when a field comes down the Widener chute it is more difficult to see infractions of the rules than on the main course. Jockey Tommy Malley, who has been in the saddle only a few days since an accident at Saratoga, was suspended for three days after the disqualification. Waylayer ran the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5.

He had 110 pounds up, level weight with Uncanny, and was 3 to 1 in the betting. Uncanny closed as good as 18 to 5 and ran a nice race under George Rose's handling.

There was a good deal of interest in the running of the Requital purse by reason of the fact that it marked the first appearance under silks of two highly thought of colts, Joseph E. Widener's Robinson Crusoe and the Greentree stable's Byzantine, the latter costing $25,000 as a yearling. They finished a head apart after a stern drive for five and a half furlongs down the Widener chute. Robinson Crusoe won.

O'Kelly Faces King Levinsky at White City

Four six round bouts and an opening match of four rounds complete the show tonight. George Neron, Greek heavyweight, who scowls more ferociously than any heavyweight in the business, is matched with Pete Wistort. Baxter Calmes and Nick Taft, another pair of heavies, will perform, while Young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., one of the most promising of local welterweights, will step six rounds with Al Wolgast. Jackie Davis and Dick Sisk complete the six round bouts. Kelly Kulak and Mickey O'Shea are the opening boxers.

Burns vs. Phelps.

Chuck Burns and Owen Phelps, light heavyweights, finish training today for their ten round match tomorrow night at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets. Phelps recently won an unpopular decision over Larry Johnson, long considered Chicago's best 175 pound fighter.

Burns will outweigh Phelps at least ten pounds. He is the more experienced, having met Young Stribling and Max Rosenbloom, the lightheavyweight champion, among others. Burns, however, will have trouble outscoring Phelps because of the latter's peculiar style of boxing.

Smiley Springer and Jose Fino will meet in the semi-windup match. Four four-rounders complete the card.

CANZONERI, BERG BOTH MAKE 135 FOR TITLE BOUT

New York, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Apparently neither Tony Canzoneri nor Jackie Kid Berg will have any trouble making the 135 pound weight limit for their 15 round lightweight title match at the Polo grounds Thursday night.

Canzoneri, who repulsed Berg's first title challenge in Chicago with a two round knockout, finished training today, weighing 133 pounds. He has been boxing two weeks at Summit, N. J., with Al Gomez, California lightweight, and several other sparring partners. Berg also completed training today, scaling about 135 pounds.

Hammond Amateur Team to Meet Chicago Boxers

A team of amateur fighters from Hammond will meet a selected team of Chicago fighters tonight at the Northwest stadium at 4848 Irving Park boulevard. The feature bout of the evening is between Willard Freeman of Hammond and Tony Delissio of Chicago, both undefeated in the amateur ranks this year. Seven other bouts complete the card.

HAINES' MUSCLE TORN; MAY BE LOST FOR SEASON

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Jess Haines, St. Louis Cardinal pitching star, has a torn muscle in his shoulder and may not be able to pitch again this season.

Dr. Robert F. Hyland, club physician, who examined Haines in Chicago yesterday, said today he wanted to make a more complete examination to determine extent of the injury "but right now it looks as if Haines will not be able to pitch any more this season."

Haines had been counted upon to start at least one of the world series games if the Cards win the National league pennant.

Dr. Hyland said Frankie Frisch, Cardinal second baseman, would be out of action for a few days because of a chipped bone in his thumb, but would be in condition for the series.

Operate on Al Wittmer, Tiger Coach

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Al Wittmer, head football coach of Princeton university, was operated on for appendicitis at Princeton hospital this afternoon. The operation was pronounced successful and his condition called "good." He arrived in Princeton shortly before noon and was taken immediately to the operating room. He had been brought from Hanover, N. H., where he was stricken while visiting Stanley Keck, an assistant coach.

Declining to be operated on at the Dartmouth hospital, Wittmer was returned to Princeton on the advice of Dr. Ralph J. Bedford, consulting physician at Princeton, who said an operation was imperative.

REFEREE HINTS BOUT IS FIXED; BOXER WALKS OUT

Englewood, N. J., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—More than 3,000 persons, who had turned out to see Henry Perlick, Kalamazoo, Mich., welterweight, battle Jimmy Phillips of Bernardsville, N. J., in the feature ten round bout here tonight left in disappointment, amid jeers and howls, when the main bout failed to go on.

The referee, Harry McCoy, while giving the boxers final instructions just before the opening bell, told them that he had heard rumors of the fight being fixed and urged both to do their best. Perlick's manager took exception to this and ordered Perlick to leave the ring.

Jack Reynolds Tosses Walter Achiu Twice

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Jack Reynolds, recognized in some states as world welterweight wrestling champion, successfully defended his champion, successfully defended his title tonight by throwing Walter Achiu, Dayton, O., in straight falls. Reynolds won the first in 16 minutes and 41 seconds and the second in 55 seconds, both with a body split. Each scaled 147 pounds.

It's Just That Ol' Caraway Influence; Sox Lose Twice

Jolley Hits Homer.

The Sox had the bases full in the second inning but faded out. Kerr pushed off with a single, but Grube and Weiland furnished easy outs then Blue and Sullivan walked, filling the bases, after which Jolley sent a fly to Averill.

The Chicago fourth was most delightful, even if it did prove to be futile, Kerr led off with his second and the Sox third hit, a double to right center. He paused while Grube filed to Porter and went to third while Weiland was grounding out to Morgan. Blue singled, scoring Kerr and Sullivan doubled along the right field line, Blue stopping at third. Jolley then knocked his homer over the right field screen, scoring Blue and Sullivan ahead of him.

Jolley Goes to Sleep.

Only one of the first nine men to face Weiland was able to get the ball out of the infield, but the tenth, Hodapp, led off the fourth inning with a double to center. He stayed on second while Weiland fanned Myatt and Kamm and perished when Appling threw out Hildebrand.

The Sox might have done something in the sixth if Jolley hadn't wandered off base to reflect on the sterling qualities of his homer. With one down Smead was hit by a pitched ball. Fonseca also was hit by a pitched ball. Norman lifted a fly to short left and Smead forgot to go back to second after the catch, whereupon Vosmik flipped the ball to Hodapp for a double play.

Balk in Winning Run.

The seventh gave the Sox their first hit off Hildebrand. Kerr reached first with one out on Burnett's second error, but Grube filed to Averill, Weiland singled over third, Kerr stopping at second. Morgan fumbled Blue's grounder but recovered in time to toss to Hildebrand for a nice play to retire Blue.

The Indians took the lead in the seventh. Burnett singled with one out and Seeds walked. Averill supplied the second out with a foul to Sullivan, but Morgan walked after a count of three balls and two strikes, filling the bases. Lyons relieved Weiland and Vosmik greeted him with a single over second, Burnett and Seeds scoring and Morgan taking third. Lyons balked when Morgan and Vosmik started a double steal, causing Morgan to be waved home with the winning run and Vosmik trotted to second. Hodapp then popped to Appling.

Sox Get Back One.

The Sox made one run in the eighth but went down with the tying run on third. Sullivan singled and Jolley walked. Jeffries ran for Jolley and Hudlin relieved Hildebrand. Fonseca moved up the runners with a sacrifice and Sullivan scored and Jeffries went to third while Pinch Batter Fothergill was grounding out to Hodapp. Hudlin knocked down Appling's hot grounder and threw him out.

SECOND GAME

The Sox, who hadn't failed to score in the first inning in the previous three games of the series, kept their slate clean in the season's final with the Indians. Blue got around, after singling, on singles by Sullivan and Jolley.

So the score was 1 to 0 when Caraway went in for his 23d defeat of the season. The first six men to face Pat singled and activity was further stimulated when one of Pat's pitches to Averill almost went into the press box.

Pat retired with four runs home, runners on third and first and none out. Moore went in and though one more run came in on Sewell's fly, retired the side without further damage.

Moore walked to start the third and got around on singles by Sullivan and Watwood.

Jolley Hits Another.

The Indians made an unearned run in the fifth on the first hit off Moore, which came after the side should have been retired. Averill reached first on Kerr's error after two were out, stole second and came home on Morgan's double. Morgan reached third on a wild pitch, but Vosmik ended the inning with a fly to Fothergill.

Jolley opened the sixth with his second single, paused while Fothergill and Appling popped to Burnett and went to second on Kerr's single to right. The runners advanced on a wild pitch and Grube walked, filling the bases. Fonseca batted for Moore and walked, forcing in Jolley. Blue lined to Seeds for the third out.

SAMMY MANDELL RALLIES IN 10TH; WHIPS DUVERNAY

New Orleans, La., Sept. 8.—(AP)—A fast finish tonight gave Sammy Mandell, former lightweight champion, a close victory over Owens Duvernay, local welterweight, in a ten round bout.

In the last five rounds first Mandell and then Duvernay appeared the winner. Each had his foe apparently in bad shape at different times.

Duvernay had evened the fight by an aggressive, two handed attack in the ninth round, and seemed the victor. But Sammy, summoning his old-time spirit, gave Duvernay a thorough lacing in the final round and had Duvernay groggy at the bell. Referee Moran's verdict was popular. Mandell weighed 143¾; Duvernay, 150¼.

Coulon Club to Open Ring Season with Friday Show

The Johnny Coulon club, 1154 East 63d street, will open the fall season with a boxing show on Friday. Eight bouts are being arranged. They will be under Central A. A. U. and Illinois boxing commission supervision.

Rodak Beats Eliopoulos Again at Western Stadium

Leo Rodak again demonstrated his superiority over Jimmy Eliopoulos last night in the windup of the weekly amateur bouts at the Western stadium. Rodak defeated Jimmy in three rounds. Mike Kamis, 147 pound C. A. A. U. champion, defeated Val Pinko of Joliet in three rounds. Another intercity winner, Georgie Goodman, also was a victor. He defeated Julius Cohen in three rounds.

SOUTH AMERICAN AIR DERBY ON, BUT MARTINS LINGER

BY BOB BECKER.

Many purple martins are lingering here, although the South American Air Derby, which every fall sees thousands of these birds migrating to Brazil, has started.

A few days ago we reported some "stay behinds" that we saw near Lake Forest. Since then C. O. Reuss of Evanston has written that he observed about 18 martins near the Central street station of the North Western railroad, a small flock that did not move on when the majority of the martins left Chicagoland.

Youngsters Delay Flight.

Mr. Reuss' report is as follows: "Regarding your comment on martins which you saw with a flock of swallows, let me say that a few nights ago I found about 18 of these birds near the Central street station. It seemed to me that the reason for lingering on the part of these migrants was the presence of quite a few youngsters in the flock. Possibly the young martins needed more practice in flying.

"A week ago farther south in this city I noticed a few lingerers here and there. Years ago I had two boxes on my property and, of course, I became fairly well acquainted with the behavior of the birds. At one time I caught two sparrows hauling one of the martin fledglings out of the nesting box. The poor bird died from the fall to the ground.

Seen at Lake Geneva.

"Another thing that I have noticed is that while the martins will leave the north shore, they can be seen rather late in the fall near the Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay on Lake Geneva. Once while up there in the fall I counted the martins on the wires between telephone poles and there were hundreds of them assembled in one flock. Three hours later when back home my flocks had left and did not come back. Makes me sort of sad, if you know what I mean."

There must be several purple martin "assembly grounds" in the middle west, but so far we haven't been able to locate them. In the east, Washington is the meeting place for the birds and thousands of martins assemble there before migrating.

MORGAN GAINS ON AL SIMMONS AND BABE RUTH

Only one small gain was registered yesterday in the batting averages of baseball's Big Six. Eddie Morgan helped Cleveland along with three hits in seven times at bat and brought his mark one point closer to those of Al Simmons and Babe Ruth, who were idle. In the National league half all marks dropped with Bill Terry skidding into third place behind Chuck Klein. The standing:

BEN JEBY GETS DRAW WHEN SHADE TIRES

New York, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Dave Shade, veteran California middleweight, and Ben Jeby of New York fought ten rounds to a draw in the feature bout of the Queensboro stadium's boxing card tonight. Shade weighed 159, Jeby 160.

Shade made all the early action, hammering away at Jeby's body to win the first, second, fifth, sixth and seventh rounds. Jeby had an edge in the third and fourth rounds and the last three as well, as Shade tired.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 11,000; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 18,000.

Outlet for fresh meat over the week-end was broader than packers had anticipated and all interests were eager to replenish their holdings in the wholesale trading yesterday. All live stock markets held up well as a result, with cattle forging ahead on moderate supplies. The hog market slipped a little at the start, but the clearance was good and local houses slaughtered the largest number in recent weeks.

Producers in the west dumped 23,000 range lambs on the market, but buyers were able to save very little and some closing sales were stronger. The movement of cattle from range territory also reached full swing yesterday, 4,500 head, or 25 per cent of the total cattle receipts, being from the range.

Buyers Promptly on Hand.

The size of the available supply of hogs was all that blocked a rise in quotations. All buyers were on hand directly after the opening, some reporting that their houses were hardly in position to satisfy the immediate demand for fresh meat, due to the small amount of pork carried over the week-end.

Armour, Swift, and Wilson slaughtered a total of 15,000 head, while five smaller houses and about a dozen city butchers slaughtered 11,500. Outsiders met considerable competition, but obtained 8,000. Some of the 6,000 hogs left at the close were being held off the market in spite of the possibility of an increase in supplies in the next few days.

Bulk of sales were about in line with the low point of last Friday's market, but showed losses of 10@25c compared with the high point that day. The extreme top at $6.60 stands 15c above Saturday's top, but is 10c lower than last Friday. The general average shows a loss of 10c compared with Saturday and is 15c lower than Friday's average price. There were 40,000 hogs unloaded on the market yesterday. The eleven markets handled 95,000 against 64,000 the previous Tuesday and 84,000 a year ago.

Winter Hogs Offered at $5.25.

Contracts for winter hogs for delivery during the first half of next December could be bought as low as $5.25 on the futures market yesterday, but the highest bid at the close was $5.10. Heavy grades for the last half of the present month were bid $6.55 and medium grades for the same period were offered at $6.85 and bid $6.50. Lightweights for the first half of September were offered at $7.00.

Within 10c of the highest price of the season was paid for prime weighty beeves yesterday, indicating that the proportion of well finished steers is too small to allow buyers to slash quotations of top kinds. Total receipts are expected to gradually increase, but most reports indicate that the biggest share of good fat cattle has already been marketed and the trade looks for a shortage of the kinds of steers that are eligible to top quotations during the next few weeks. Prime 1,335 lb steers from Knox county, Ill., went to Swift yesterday at $10.25, which was 10c above the highest price paid for cattle during last week. Ten dollars was a popular price for 975@1,350 lb averages and $12 lb yearling heifers sold up to $9.25. Butcher stock was steady to weak and finished a shade lower.

Lambs Close Firm.

Bulk of the supply of fat lambs changed hands at about steady prices yesterday, weakness and slight losses at the start offsetting the strength and slight gains toward the finish when buyers realized that the large supply hardly equaled their immediate requirements. Top westerns finished 10c higher at $7.75, while bulk of sorted kinds went to packers and shippers at $7.00@7.65.

City butchers bought several hundred natives at $7.75, while packers took the rest at $7.00@7.50, getting buck lambs at $6.00@6.50 and culls at $4.50 and below. Aged sheep were scarce and held firm. Yearlings sold steady. Country buyers were eager for feeder lambs at $5.50@5.75, a steady basis.

BUSINESS SKIES BRIGHTENED BY RAIL, OIL NEWS

Car Loadings Make Third Advance.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Labor day traditionally is assigned the honor rôle of ending the slack summer season and inaugurating the autumn expansion in trade and industry. But in periods of depression this transition is not effective to the usual degree. The last two years have witnessed a disappointing volume of fall business and again this year the portents are not the most cheerful.

However, here and there, cheerful bits of news may be gleaned. For example, there has been some pickup in general business, judged by the movement of commodities by the railroads. The carriers reported the third successive increase in car loadings during the week ended Aug. 29. Revenue freight loadings totaled 763,764 cars, an increase of 15,053 over the previous week. However, the current total is 220,746 cars below a year ago, with miscellaneous freight representing nearly half of the decrease.

Petroleum Output Lower.

Also in a cheerful vein were the weekly figures on petroleum production. Data collected by the Oil and Gas Journal, Tulsa, Okla., showed a small decline in output in spite of the reopening of wells in the flush east Texas field on a pro-rata basis. The reopening of these wells had been expected to bring about an increase.

The average daily gross crude oil output for the whole country last week was placed at 1,736,007 barrels, a decline of 4,946 barrels a day from the preceding week. This decline was due chiefly to further curtailment in Oklahoma, whose output declined 9,180 barrels a day. Production in the mid-continent field, which includes Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas, receded 2,940 barrels a day. California increased its output by 1,000 barrels a day.

Auto Sales Drop.

Less favorable was news from the automobile industry. The August sales report of the General Motors corporation showed declines from July and also from August, 1930. Total sales of cars and trucks to dealers, including Canadian and overseas sales, were 76,078, compared with 87,449 in July and 85,610 in August, last year.

Sales to domestic dealers were 62,667 units, compared with 78,723 in July and 76,000 in August, last year. August sales to consumers totaled 69,876 units, compared with 85,054 in July and 86,426 in August, 1930. For the first eight months of this year, total sales to dealers were 881,724, against 928,805 in the like period of last year. Sales to consumers in the United States in the first eight months were 748,494, against 824,402 in like months of 1930.

See Steel Improvement.

Prediction that last week and this one will mark the low level of steel production is made by the American Metal Market. Ingot output last week is estimated at 29 per cent of capacity, but moderate improvement is forecast from now on.

Steel mill operations in August averaged 31.13 per cent of rated capacity, the lowest level recorded since records were started in 1917, according to the American Iron and Steel institute. The ratio compares with 34.15 per cent in July and 53.80 per cent in August, 1930. Production last month totaled 1,719,462 tons, compared with 1,886,153 in July and 3,060,763 in August last year.

New Haven Railway Lowers Dividend Rate to $4 Year

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 8.—Directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad today declared a quarterly dividend of $1 a share on the common stock, placing the issue on a $4 annual basis, compared with $6 paid previously.

New Haven earned $7.33 a share last year, compared with $11.72 in 1929. In the twelve months to June 30 this year the earnings were $6.15 a share. New Haven was placed on $6 dividend basis in January, 1930, after paying $4.25 a share in 1929 and $2 in 1928, when dividends were resumed after a lapse since 1915. Regular dividends were declared on the preferred stock.

Directors of the road announced that they had voted to reduce directors' fees by one-half, and the higher officers of the company have voluntarily reduced their salaries 10 per cent.

Omits Preferred Dividend.

The board of directors of B. F. Goodrich company made the following statement in explaining omission of the $1.75 dividend on the 7 per cent preferred stock.

"While for the past several months earnings after interest but before inventory write down have exceeded preferred dividend requirements, and while the company has held its portion of the total sales of the industry, the board, because of the uncertainty in the commodity markets and in general business, has decided to defer payment of the Oct. 1 preferred dividend."

Youngstown Sheet and Tube company has omitted the quarterly dividend on the common stock due at this time. Three months ago a quarterly dividend of 50 cents was paid. In April the quarterly payment was reduced to $1 from $1.25.

The American Brake Shoe and Foundry company has adjourned its dividend meeting to Sept. 15. American Car and Foundry's meeting, also scheduled for today, was adjourned until noon tomorrow. Western Electric postponed its meeting to Sept. 15. The Willys-Overland meeting was put over until the same date.

Empire Safe Deposit company declared a quarterly dividend of $2.50, placing the stock on a $10 annual basis, against $12 previously.

The Utah Copper company today declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on its stock, but the directors of the Nevada Consolidated Copper company, which is controlled by the Utah Copper company, cut its quarterly dividend from 25 cents a share to 20 cents. The Utah Copper company is almost 100 per cent owned by the Kennecott Copper corporation. Kennecott today declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents.

Pays $1 Extra.

The Homestake Mining company, which operates gold mines in the Black Hills district of Montana, declared the regular monthly dividend of 50 cents a share and also declared an extra dividend of $1 a share. The same company declared an extra dividend of $1 a share last April.

The Eastern Steamship company declared a quarterly dividend of 37½ cents on the common stock, placing that stock on a $1.50 basis against $2 previously. The regular quarterly dividends of $1.75 on the first preferred and 87½ cents on the no par preferred also were declared.

Group No. 1 Oil corporation, controlled by Texon Oil and Land company, has declared the regular quarterly dividend of $100, payable Sept. 30 to stock of record Sept. 15. June 30 last an extra dividend of $100 was paid.

IOWA DEALERS SPONSOR FARM "MORATORIUM"

Would Ban Grain Sales Until Prices Rise.

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

One of the first tangible "farm moratoriums" is being fostered in the United States by the Farmers Grain Dealers' Association of Iowa, which proposes that its 900 members by group action make no sales of corn or oats until the market price returns closer to the cost of production than the prices now prevailing.

Fifteen cent oats and 30 cent corn, the association's leaders assert, are not proper returns on the so-called coarse grains. In the words of the secretary, M. C. Thompson, "as long as the grain you now have on hand won't go far enough to meet the two main items of your expense, taxes, and interest, we feel that you might just as well defer payment on the same until it does, for if the time doesn't approach soon when it will the end of the road is upon us."

Will Call Meetings.

The president, secretary, and manager of each of the farmers' elevators in Iowa are being advised of the "moratorium" and are to call meetings and draw up resolutions including such items as grain sales and delay in payment of debts, to be presented at a meeting of representatives for a decision on policy.

"Farm loan companies are demanding their interest and also reductions of loans, especially on those desiring renewals, and to add insult to injury have raised the rates from 5 to 5½ per cent and the commission from 1 to 2 per cent," the secretary reports.

Seek to Pay Overhead.

"We are not asking for dollar corn, but do propose to hold the balance of the old crop and all the new crop on the farm until the price raises to such an extent that we can at least pay our fixed overhead and survive the coming winter."

Unless conditions change within the next six months, the association is predicting that 50 per cent of the farmers in Iowa will be "at the end of their rope" and that agricultural conditions in regard to foreclosures will be at the worst history has known.

Makes Tour of Country and Finds Leaders Confident

New York, Sept. 8.—(AP)—After touring the country, Gen. George S. Gibbs, vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, said today he felt "profoundly optimistic" over the general business outlook and the ability of communities to cope with unemployment in the coming winter.

The former army officer, a native of Harlan, Ia., who on July 1 retired from the service to take charge of all communications in the international system, visited thirty principal cities from coast to coast on an air and rail trip.

He said in nearly all places he found the local business leaders confident of the outlook, and in most towns the bankers, manufacturers, and merchants he interviewed seemed to feel that their position was strongly encouraging "as compared with other towns."

Some Unhurt by Slump.

"After I had been told this in half a dozen cities," Gen. Gibbs added, "I began to realize that in every community there were financial and industrial interests who were practically unaware they were being affected by a nation-wide economic slump.

"That was the viewpoint expressed to me in Omaha, Kansas City, Seattle, Dallas, Atlanta, and many other large centers. In some cases the reports of several towns would be almost identical in phraseology.

"Nobody could make the swing around the country which I have just completed without feeling encouraged over general business conditions.

"In Dallas particularly I found as much hustle and energy being displayed as in normally prosperous times. The man in the street seemed unmindful of hard times.

"Los Angeles business men told me they had only in the last few weeks begun to see a tapering off in business, but did not feel that it was going to be really serious.

"In every city where I inquired into unemployment relief plans I was assured that the local community would have ample means to meet existing or expected unemployment.

Has Busy Season.

"In the northwest the lumber and grain interests naturally are feeling the letup, as are the mining interests of Utah. I was delighted to find Charlotte, N. C., in the midst of a busy season despite the cotton surplus. In Atlanta, Clark Howell, publisher of the Atlanta Constitution, told me there was a better feeling all over the south.

"In Chicago we found bankers gloomy over low interest rates, with large surpluses of funds seeking profitable outlets, but the city generally gave no outward evidences of economic prostration.

"Nearly everywhere throughout the west business people took the attitude that the east must be very hard hit because of the extensive projects being undertaken there for relief of distress among the jobless. The viewpoint out there was that unemployment must be confined largely to New York and other eastern manufacturing centers."

Mr. Gibbs made an informal report of his tour to President Hoover at the White House last week, and he said the chief executive seemed greatly interested in his findings.

MERGE 448 BANKS IN FIRST HALF OF 1931; REPORT 684 CLOSINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 8.—As the result of merger and absorption, a total of 498 banks in the United States lost their individual identity during the first half of 1931, according to a survey of mergers reported to the American Banker from official sources.

To that number may be added the 684 closings during the same period, making a reduction of 1,182 in the number of banks in the country in the six months' period. The number of reopenings and new banks chartered during the period is estimated at about 200.

Of the total mergers 186 of the absorbed banks were national institutions, while the remainder, or 312, were state banks.

The only states in which no bank consolidations occurred during the half year were Mississippi, Delaware, Rhode Island, New Mexico, Nevada, and the District of Columbia.

The greatest number of bank consolidations were witnessed in Illinois, an aggregate of fifty, of which fifteen were national institutions and thirty-five state chartered. Chicago alone accounted for thirteen of the state total.

Texas witnessed the second largest number of consolidations during the first half of the year, with a total of forty-three, of which twenty-seven were national banks and sixteen state chartered. These mergers were scattered throughout the state, but particularly in the cotton area.

Michigan accounted for thirty of the total consolidations, of which only two were national banks.

SOUTHWESTERN ROADS SEEK CUT ON COTTON RATES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Southwestern railroads, acting in unison, today asked the interstate commerce commission for permission to reduce rates on cotton from points west of the Mississippi river to New Orleans without reducing rates to Mobile.

In its decision fixing cotton rates some months ago the commission required the railroads to preserve a direct relationship between rates to New Orleans and Mobile. If rates were reduced to New Orleans under this opinion they also would have to be reduced to Mobile.

The petition filed jointly by the carriers today said truck and barge competition to New Orleans seriously threatened their business of hauling cotton, and that immediate relief was necessary. It said no such competition existed to Mobile. The petition affects all southwestern territory and the state of Louisiana west of the Mississippi river.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 8.—A pall of gloom thick enough to cut with a knife overhung the financial district today. The average trader seemed to be looking for the sky to fall in any minute. The overplus of popular pessimism bore the stock list down rather sadly.

More than a hundred representative issues, including virtually the whole railroad group and some of the highest grade industrials on the market, crashed to new lows. United States Steel hit 80¾, against its previous low of 82⅝, and American Can sold at 87⅝, also a new bottom.

Losses of 1 to 3 points were numerous, with a scattering of the more vulnerable issues dropping as much as 5 points.

Helps Sentiment.

Declaration of the regular Western Union dividend late in the day helped sentiment somewhat in the later trading and final prices were slightly better than the worst as a rule. Sales approximated 2,000,000 shares, making it one of the two biggest turnovers since the middle of July.

News of the day was generally poor, but on the whole no worse than what it has been on some other recent days of the long bear market. The most unfavorable of the developments was the imposing list of dividend reductions or omissions, including a cut in the New Haven railroad rate, but these had been generally anticipated and seemingly pretty thoroughly discounted.

Reduction of the New Haven dividend to a $4 annual basis as compared with the previous rate of $6 was, of course, the big factor in the uneasiness over this group. Reports indicating a sharp falling off in traffic on the Santa Fé last week and of a shrinkage of a million dollars or so in the gross revenues of Southern railway in the last week of August suggested additional disappointing rail earnings yet in store for the community.

Join in Decline.

Leading oil issues joined in the decline. Losses in this group, which has been standing out so stubbornly against the tendency to give way, ran as high as 4 points. Coppers were weak, in spite of the maintenance of the Kennecott dividend, and a further

TELL GROCERS HOW TO APPEAL TO HOUSEWIFE

Merchandising methods were discussed yesterday at the northern regional convention of the Independent Grocers' alliance at the Sherman hotel. A feature of the morning meeting was an interior of a grocery store set up on the stage of the Apollo theater, where a practical demonstration concerning the latest retail methods was given by W. K. Hunter, national vice president.

Officials of the association explained the different forms of advertising and the varying appeals which should be made to housewives. Stress was laid on the grocer as a consulting dietitian for the housewife in the planning of her menu.

"The small grocer used to be a man who took orders over the counter and pushed merchandise back across it in return," Mr. Hunter said. "Being familiar with the different values of food to the human body, you should be able to advise her as to the correct menu for her to serve," he told the grocers.

The convention closed with a banquet last night, at which J. Frank Grimes, president and founder of the organization, was the principal speaker.

Walgreen Company Sales Gain 6.7 Pct. in August

Walgreen company sales for August, 1931, amounted to $4,626,563, against $4,336,328 in August, 1930, an increase of $290,235, or 6.7 per cent. Sales for the first eight months of 1931 amounted to $36,710,099, compared with sales of $34,604,404 in the first eight months of 1930, an increase of $2,105,695, or 6.1 per cent. The number of stores in operation as of Aug. 31, 1931, was 460.

Smithers New President of Booth Fisheries Co.

Perry L. Smithers was elected president of the Booth Fisheries company at the annual meeting yesterday. Mr. Smithers succeeds K. L. Ames, who was named chairman of the board of directors, a newly created position. Mr. Smithers has been vice president and general manager of the company for 15 years. Other officers were re-elected. At the meeting of stockholders Oscar F. Roemer and J. Stanford Otis were elected to the board.

Traylor Asks Membership on Board of Trade

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, has applied for membership on the Chicago Board of Trade. He is seeking to take over the membership of Harry A. Wheeler, vice president of the First National, who is engaged in civic work. The First National bank will have two memberships on the Board of Trade, the other being held by Charles V. Essroger, treasurer of the board.

Name F. R. Harrison Aid to Reserve Board Governor

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Floyd R. Harrison, who resigned last week as member of the federal farm loan bureau, today was appointed assistant to the governor of the federal reserve board. Harrison will take up his new duties on Sept. 16. Harrison's appointment fills the position for the first time since it became vacant with the change in administration in 1921.

Murray Corp. of America.

Would you kindly give me information on Murray Corporation of America, its business, etc.? Also, are the dividends still being paid in stock?—J. K. D.

Murray Corporation of America was incorporated in December, 1926, as a reorganization of Murray Body corporation. It manufactures automobile bodies, accessories and parts.

Earnings have been irregular. In 1930 net income of $217,361, or 29 cents per common share, was reported, against $1,290,798, or $1.69 per common share, for 1929. For 1928 net income was $1,794,802 and for 1927, $260,741.

Showing the results of poor business conditions net income for the first half of 1931 was $29,135, or 3 cents per share, against $734,042, or 94 cents per share, for the first half of 1930.

On June 30, 1931, current assets were $8,723,727, and current liabilities were $1,003,121. Working capital was $7,720,606, against $7,053,532 on Dec. 31, 1930, and $7,759,964 on June 30, 1930.

In the second half of 1929, two dividends of 75 cents per share and stock dividends totaling 1⅝ per cent were paid. In the first quarter of 1930 a 2 per cent stock dividend was paid. No further dividends have been reported.

On June 30, 1931, funded debt was $2,715,000. There were outstanding 761,491 shares of capital stock.

What information can you give me on Dallas Railway and Terminal 6s, due 1951?—Miss L. E.

Dallas Railway and Terminal company is controlled by Electric Power and Light corporation. It supplies street railway and feeder bus service in Dallas, Tex., and vicinity. It owns a terminal and eight-story office building in the business district of the city.

Charges were earned 2.03 times in 1930, 2.36 times in 1929, 2.10 times in 1928 and 1.99 times in 1927.

Morris & Co.

Kindly give me a report on Morris & Co. first 4½s, due 1939. How do you rate them?—Miss L. C. S.

Morris & Co. first sinking fund 4½s, due July 1, 1939, are secured by a first mortgage on the company's properties at Chicago, East St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Oklahoma City, and Omaha. The mortgage provides that the net quick assets of the company shall at all times equal the bonds outstanding. The bonds were assumed by North American Provision company, a subsidiary of Armour & Co. of Delaware. They are a business man's investment.
